THROUGH GOOD LIGHTING

Old eyes and young have one thing in common! Both need GOOD LIGHTING to see properly. A youngster has keen vision that must be kept! sharp and selear: A man has eves that are perhaps tring a bit, and need all the help that good lighting can give them. But proper lighting helps to protect eyes good and bad, young and old. Your home should not be without it.

should not be without it.

Good lighting is not hard to attain—nor is it expensive. Here are 5 - nple rules for good lighting that it will pay you to follow: (1) Use correct size lamp bulbs—"WATTS."

In table are floor lamps with three sockets, use 40 watts in each socket; with two sockets, (6) watts; with one socket, 100 watts. (2) Have at least pm-tenth as much fight in the rest of the room as you have on your book, newspaper, sewing, etc. (3) Use 'HADES' on all lamp bulbs to prevent GLARE. (4) Use shades with light-colored linings to get the most light. (5) Have enough lighting fixtures or portable lamps to insure the proper intensity of light throughout the room. In addition, have a periodic examination by your eyesight specialist.
