House Takes Festive Air In Holiday Competition

The spirit of Christmas filled the air at the Community House Monday afternoon, when the Birmingham Branch of the Women's National Branch and Garden Association held its annual Yuletide competition. Tables glistening with red and silver, bouquets of pine and fir, and other holiday decorations gave the rooms an atmosphere of festivity as if the stage were set for gay holiday affairs.
Mrs. Theodore F. W. Meyer was awarded first prize for her lovely table, laid with a cloth of beige crepe, and placed against the wall near a mirror, which reflected the silver tea service and a low bowl of grapes and dried fruits and nuts. Three silver candlesticks placed at one corner held red and white tapers, and beside them were reminders of crystallized candy.
The first prize for holiday centerpieces was awarded to Mrs. E. W. Seaborn of Kennesaw road, for a lovely arrangement. On the white satin cloth, a red velvet streamer extended through the center of the table over a bed of evergreens. At either end were tall candle holders, with burning white tapers, tied with tiny red bells. Small china choir boys marched down the center of the velvet streamer.
Mrs. Lawrence Howe of Aspen road won the first prize for holiday decorations, and Mrs. L. A. Farquhar was awarded the first prize for her attractively tied packages, which filled a child's sleigh.
Lovely indeed was the tea table overlaid with a silver cloth covered with red net. In the center was a tall silver candelabra holding red candles, placed on a bed of pine. On either side were silver branches tipped with cranberries.
During the first hour, Mrs. Donald G. Eade and Mrs. Walter E. Harich presided at the tea table, and the second hour, Mrs. Draper Allen and Mrs. Aaron H. Webster, presided.
