YOUNG MEN URGED TO ATTEND FORUM

Special Program Sunday With Advertising Man As Speaker

A program of special interest to young men will be given by the Men's Forum at the Community House, Sunday morning starting at 10 sharp. Harry C. Macdonald, president of the Macdonald Advertising Co. of Detroit, will discuss the question, "What Qualities Do Business Men Want in Young Men?" Following Mr. Macdonald's talk the question will be discussed in the open meeting, as is the custom of the forum.

Mr. Macdonald's many years as head of Detroit's largest outdoor advertising company and as an executive of the nation association of outdoor advertisers, have given him a wealth of experience with business men in all lines, will make his talk helpful and interesting for all young men regardless of their particular work.

Through William A. Dale, the Men's Forum is extending a special invitation to all students who will be home Friday for the holidays, to attend with their fathers.

Following this special meeting, the forum will continue topics relating directly to the question, "What is the Protestant Church's Objective?" The meetings also are held each Sunday morning, and the continuation of this question was decided by vote of the membership at last Sunday's meeting. All men are invited to attend.
