CONCERT OPEN TO LOVERS OF MUSIC

Familiar Christmas Carols To Be Heard At Annual Preholiday Musical

Musical lovers in Birmingham and the Hills are cordially invited to attend the annual pre-Christmas concert sponsored by the chorus of the Birmingham Musicians. The concert will be held Thursday evening, Dec. 12, at Christ Church Cranbrook at 8:15. In addition to a program of choral numbers, there will be organ solos by Mildred Green Ritters, A. G. O., and a violin obligato to the "Bos Gloria" sung by the chorus, by Mrs. Marius E. Fossenkemper. Margaret Noff Glenn will be the piano accompanist. Frederick A. Protheroe is director of the chorus.

Preceding the concert, William Hall Miner will give a carillon recital of Christmas carols and other appropriate selections. The concert will open with the usual procession of the chorus singing a hymn of the season.

Assisting as ushers at the concert will be Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Farquhar, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Shuell, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Shuart, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mosher.

Players' Christmas To Be Party For Family

The Village Players will make their celebration of Christmas a family affair this year as they did a year ago, when they held their celebration at the Playhouse Dec. 14. G. Eason Olson is directing "A Christmas Carol," a Christmas pageant which will be presented with a large cast of children as part of the program.

Festivities will begin in the late afternoon, and will be followed by dinner, with a vaudeville show and dancing afterwards for the senior members of the family.

Bride-Elect Names Nuptial Attendants

Miss Virginia List and Mrs. Elliott Gordon of Chicago have been named as her attendants by Miss Ruth Plintermann, daughter of Mrs. Carl H. L. Plintermann, who "took" Miss Bloomfield Hills, whose marriage to John Graham Gurney, son of Edward B. Gurney of Detroit, will be an event of Dec. 28.

VOWS ARE SPOKEN THANKSGIVING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown Announce Marriage Of Couple

The marriage of Miss Irene Arndt and Lowell E. Olmsted, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Olmsted of Highland Park, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown of Southfield avenue, with whom Miss Arndt made her home.

The ceremony was performed on Thanksgiving Day at 2:30 o'clock, in Dearborn by the Rev. Harold McDonald. Miss Kathleen Brown was the bride's only attendant, and Roy Wood of Birmingham performed the duties of best man for Mr. Olmsted.

Miss Arndt was gowned in black velvet, trimmed in ermine, with matching hat. She wore a shower spray of green orchids. Miss Brown wore an afternoon frock of blue lace and silk and a shoulder spray of gardenias.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted left on a motor trip to Akron, O., on their return, they will make their home at the Fox and Hounds.

TOYS ARE TICKETS TO HOSPITAL DANCE

Crippled Children To Receive Gifts Which Admit Guests To Party

A toy to make some little boy or girl happy on Christmas Day will be the price of admission to guests attending the informal dance which will be held under auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, in the hospital auditorium this evening. The toys will later be distributed among the crippled children of the clinic.

Mrs. Joseph A. Braun and Mrs. John G. Wood are members of the committee in charge of arrangements, of which Mrs. Otto Lang of Pontiac is general chairman. The auxiliary will meet Monday afternoon at the hospital, when the Rev. W. H. Marbach of Pontiac will speak on "Christmas Giving," and Thomas Wade of Detroit will discuss subjects of current interest. Tea and social hour will follow the program.

Mrs. H. H. Corson was in charge of the recent membership drive conducted in Birmingham, and membership application will be received for a continued period by Mrs. Corson, Mrs. L. N. Pyle and Mrs. George T. Hendrix.

Club Women Hear Book Talk

The literary outlook for the winter from the publisher's viewpoint formed the subject of an interesting address by Mrs. C. Kenneth Bell before members of the Birmingham Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon, at Baldwin Public Library.

Mrs. Bell discussed trends in modern writing and subjects which have offered material to contemporary authors.

Mrs. Sam M. Garber of Bloomfield Village entertained members of her book group Tuesday at her home.

Christmas Time

The merriest day of 365. A glorious Holiday that will gladden all of us within a few weeks. Already the shopping crowds are searching—thoughtful gifts are prevailing and the outpouring of good feeling is increasing.

With the spirit of helpfulness, LaBelle's have created Christmas—home for you. The entire shop of gift and books is bristling with suggestions. Gifts of good taste—Gifts which were first carefully planned—then beautifully made by noteworthy artisans and finally presented with care and attention to wrapping that fine things deserve. It is in this way that suggestions which mean so much are created. It is hoped that this shop will be a convenient, exceedingly valuable to all Birmingham and nearby communities.
