school showed that the better the lighting, the better her grades will be. Periodic examinations by an eyesight specialist, too, are vital to protect good vision, And-a most important factor-her eyes should be guarded with good lighting in the home. This means crough light, with correct-size lamp builts in every fixture. (In table and floor lamps with three society, a 40-watt bulb should be used in each socket; with two a 40-vant bulb should be used in each socket; with two sockets, 60-want bulbs.) It means SHADES on all lamps to prevent CLARE. It means using shades with light-colored linings to get so most light, and it means having at least one-tenth as much light in the reit of the room as you have on your look, newspaper, seeing, etc. Does the Present limination in your home answer these desirable conditions?
