Glorifying The Battlefield

Glorifying The Battlefield

For generation, we in this and other so-called Christian nations have viewed with borror the attitude of the Tark, the Arab, and other war-loving people, the Deep Seame to Heaven. From earliest impressionable youth, we are taught that such terrible people are the epitome of all that is barbaric and uncervilized.

From the perspective of real civilization, it is right and fitting that we should be so raught.

However, since ours and other so-called civilized nations have from time to time engaged in wire, since we have not yet recovered from the terrible people and the continuation of the world War—intee our school grounds and public parks are resting places for monuments and gun carriages, can we be far removed from the barbarion and lack of civility and characterize the Moslem nations?

No, we so-called "civilized" countries may condition.

Help First-Offenders

Attorney-General Harry S. Toy suggests that Michigan set aside one of its prisons for first offenders only. He would discontinue the practice of sending first offender carefully young men—to mingle with hardened criminals. This suggestion, if applied, would on more to curb crime than any single move the State might make at this time. The average first offender, sent to mingle with hardened criminals, is like sending a man with the measles to mingle with that to mingle with hardened criminals, is like sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles to mingle with the sending a man with the measles over a convenie attain his Utopian dream of business and industrial relationships.

President Roosevelt is shiowing a decided petulance because the United States Supreme Court refused to call all of his New Dela constitutional. We can sympathize with the President for feeling deeply because the legally dealered limitations of human nature (as partially set forth in the Constitution) prevent him from realizing the use of certain instruments to attain his Utopian dream of business and industrial relationships.

It's pretty tough to be wakened from your dreams, and find yourself in a world of practicalities. Just ered like a devout and devoted preacher who, in the frenzy of his crassade to make Christian converts of an average mixture of human beings aren't capable of accepting his code of idealism.

But Mr. Roosevelt is an experienced mun, and his previous and adaptarent resentment toward the limitations of the Constitution show poor sportsmanshipmended, they manifest a diagrous influence upon out traditional ideas of American freedom under Constitutional guarantees of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."
