

FOOTBALL PROGRAMS READY

Cranbrook - Birmingham Game To Feature Attractive Booklets This Year

The football program for the Cranbrook-Birmingham game will have an orange background with a silhouette of a football player, designed by Bob York, on the cover. The staff is now complete, and is limited to juniors and seniors. The editorial staff consists of Hugh McHugh, Jim Allen, and Sherwin Davidson; advertising manager, Lloyd Forster; sales managers, Tim Walton and Tom Navin. The programs will go on sale Friday, October 25 at Cranbrook and Baldwin. They will also be sold at the game. There will be 1,000 copies issued. Come one, come all, get up and get your programs, and get them early!

The 9-B class was the sponsors of the junior high assembly program which was presented in the form of a travelogue. It represented a world tour starting on the decks of Quebec, and ending in sailing of the S. S. Brennan. The second scene was laid abroad in England, Ireland, Germany, France, Java, Singapore, and China, returning to the United States via the Panama canal, and sailing up the coast to the New York harbor.

Incentive for the story was based on the actual experiences of class members abroad. The committee in charge was: Martha Mellinger, chairman; Bob Meyers, Bob Freeman and Edward Kern were in charge of the stage and scenery. Bill Gail and his orchestra assisted with the musical numbers. "Anchors Aweigh" and "America The Beautiful."

Miss Hammond's 8-A civics class visited the Recorder's Court, and Police Headquarters in Detroit last Saturday and were given personal talks with Judge Brennan and Judge Stein. They witnessed a breaking and entering case and inspected the fingerprint department and the "rogues gallery." In the radio broadcasting room some samples of its efficiency were shown to them. Besides all that they were shown the jail, gymnasium, and storeroom of confiscated material ranging from machine guns to radios.

Three of the mothers drove those down who didn't drive themselves. The mothers are Mrs. J. P. Stables, Mrs. G. D. Barnes, and Mrs. J. Hill. The group was conducted through the buildings by Donald Martin, former chief inspector for Prosecutor Toy, now with General Motors.

Headache Faces Nation's Gridiron Coaches: Problem Of Finding Defense For Lateral Pass

will go through the Baldwin Public Library learning how to use the library to the best of their advantage.

Now that the field has been reconditioned the field-hall season is going in full swing for both senior and junior high 11 A. A. The inter-class will have been organized by tomorrow and the tournament will start next week. There will be inter-scholastic competition at the end of the tournament. An all-star team will be selected from all classes to play in the inter-school playoffs, in the junior high.

A dinner was held last Wednesday night in honor of the school. It was given by the Baldwin teachers, who presided at the Colonial dining room at Devon Gables. After the dinner there were mixed games and bridge. The teachers, wives and husbands attended the dinner.

When the bus company in Macula wished to quit recently the city council passed an ordinance ordering it to continue.

Special to N. E. A. and Birmingham. By PHILIP MARTIN

Using the Jordan rule was a simple chore compared with the problem facing grid mentors this year of finding an adequate defense for the much-discussed lateral pass.

Until recently the weapon was nothing more than a constant threat to keep the enemy from breaking away from the standard seven-man line defense.

But tactical changes, which now make passing on any down from all classes to play in the inter-school playoffs, in the junior high.

STUDENT CHATTER

By THE CHATTERBOX

Well folks, here I am again with some more dirt for you to savor. You remember in last week's column I asked for some mail (or female) to help me; well, where is it? I'll get some, even if I have to put something in about myself.

Say, Steve, who will win this year, Royal Oak or Birmingham?

By the by, what do you think of Royal Oak's chances, Mac?

I think somebody should give Paul Wayman a medal for his "case" it really is an honorable old bugger. (Flardon the word buggy, but I couldn't think of another word off-hand). It has been to all the out-of-town football games, it has been down to the World Series, but for crumpty sakes you should have seen it on its way back from St. Clements. It was a corker right along. In spite of its vintage the tiger-bedded leetle has many more miles to go, and believe you me if there is any left after that Paul sure will get 'em.

If anybody knows how to get to Hialeah would you kindly tell it to Tim Walton. You're welcome, Tim.

What 'ya you think of people who work on their premises? So do I, Well Biker, what about those boys that waited at the dance, so they could keep your promise? At least you know how they feel about it.

We would like to ask Hilda Brown in what pose she ate her Sunday dinner? Not that we are intimating that the horse-back riding had effect on said fair.

We wonder if it is religion or the fact that you can't be seen from the principal's office that keeps the students on the church steps.

Not that this column is turning to social briefs for news, but we would like to mention that Betty Minor Forsyth, Ann Caldwell, and Joan Baker spent the weekend at Metamora at the Hendrie's hideout. They rode, watched the boys they walk. And last but not least they had some company from dear old Birmingham (that is something that wasn't in social briefs).

Do you folks remember way back last year when Baldwin had a field day, do you remember how they acted on the said day? Well, forget it, because ya canna do that this year or ya'll get bounced.

Pronto, Da youse get me!

Geewh, Hooks, why is it you always do something so I have to put you in my column? Who is this kid "Billie" you and Louise had to put to bed last Saturday night?

Have you "peeples" noticed that Yvonne Gray is wearing both an A. O. pin and a Coronet pin. Why both Yvonne?

Oy, say, I almost forgot to elect or nominate the "Best Looking Girl in Baldwin" for this week. Remember I said almost. This week we nominate Alice Botsford.

Listen Pratt, I want you to stop claiming you wrote this column. And to the rest of you folks I am supposed to be anonymous!

That's all!

AMATEURS IN BARNUM SHOW

Junior High Students Hold First Pep Meeting; Class "Feasts"

On Wednesday, October 16, the Patriots' home-room of Barnum presented a most unusual type of assembly in the form of an amateur show.

The contest was open to all members of Barnum junior, but as those waiting auditions held a meeting Tuesday night.

As each student entered the auditorium, he was given a ballot upon which he might later vote.

The show was a big success, with Bill Baldwin acting as master of ceremonies. The Barnum students had a very interesting time in the near future.

Barnum junior high held its first "pep meeting" of the year last Monday. Everyone turned out in full force, with their "leather lungs" very much in evidence.

Norman Stone, cheer leader, was in charge of the meeting, but yielded his position part of the time to James O'Connor, for whom demands were loud and persistent.

From what we hear of the Barnum teams, the old victory yell may come in handy for the students of Barnum to know.

They seemed to realize it, for they just about took the roof off the school as they boomed out: "Stawberry Short-Cake, Huckleberry Pie."

Victory! Are we in it? Well, I guess.

Barnum, Barnum, YES, YES, YES!!!

Inter-Class Game Scores

Here are a few inter-class games of Barnum and Adams Junior High Schools that have mounted up on us in the past week:

Barnum: Boy's games (Speedball) 9-A vs. 9-B, score 12-2, in favor of the 9-B's; 7-B vs. 7-A, Score 6-0, in favor of the 7-B's; 9-B vs. 8-A, Score 10-0, favor of the 9-B's; 7-B vs. 8-B, Score 8-0, favor of the 8-B's.

Girls' games (Field-ball) 8-B vs. 7-A, Score 9-0, favor of the 8-B's; 9-A vs. 8-A, Score 6-1, favor of the 9-A's; 9-A vs. 9-B, Score 4-2, favor of the 9-A's; 9-B vs. 8-A, Score 8-2, favor of the 9-B's.

Adams: Girls' games (Field-ball) 2-B vs. 8-B, Score 9-0, favor of the 8-B's; 9-B vs. 8-A, Score 6-1, favor of the 9-B's.

The officers of the various clubs of Barnum junior high school were chosen recently. They are as follows:

Student Council: President—James Todd; Vice President—Bud Clark; Secretary—Marion Kirk; Girl Reserves—Lola Schwalbe.

Science: President—Bill Dine; Secretary—Shirley Smith; Home Economics: President—Persis Carter; Vice President—Lucas Peck; Secretary—Virginia Matthews.

Library: President—Bernice Thornton; Vice President—Nancy Fletcher; Secretary—Jane Fletcher; Treasurer—Laura Smith.

P. T. A. Member Contest: The students of Barnum junior high walked into their home-rooms last week and found posters, consisting of pictures of trees and discussion about these posters among the pupils until the teachers enquired them. It seems that the Barnum P. T. A. has developed a new and most interesting way of getting new members for their association. For every mother who joins the association, a tree apple is placed on the tree of the honor-roll to which her child belongs. As a father joins the association, a blue bird appears on the tree.

Enthusiasm is running high in the association, and the trees are fast filling with apples and blue birds.

The Barnum Alumni held the boys of the Barnum 9-B last Monday, October 14, in a speed-ball game, by the score of 3-0.

Line-ups for the two teams were as follows:

Alumni: Edward Bissell, Gerald Rawley, Jack Heit, Virgil Lameton, Owen Middlebrook, George Scott, Edward Gould, Fenwick Goggin, Richard Erwin, Charles Allen, James Conwell, 9-B; Francis Bedard, Warren Dalley, Donald Upward, Howard Hart, Edward Farrow, Royall Frye, Richard Brown, Billy Owen, Glen Hombberger, Arthur Estes, Nick Mitchell. Sub: Fred Luth.

An Eventful Day: On the eventful day of Wednesday, October 9, Miss McCormick, teacher of a 9-B English class at Barnum, announced to two young gentlemen pleading for "drinks" that—"No refreshments would be served in English class!"

"However," said she jokingly, "if you boys want to bring some cider and doughnuts to the court, around."

Much to her amazement, the boys "took her up."

So—on Monday, October 9, at the Court for the City of Oakland.

At any rate, it seems that there was a gallon of cider left over and a half dozen doughnuts.

They were all at school that afternoon, looking very pale or very flushed—as the case might be. But as for their feelings, I wonder—?

14, the College Preparatory 9-B English class of Barnum ate cider and doughnuts, through the courtesy of Mr. Frye, Mr. Dalley, and Mr. Slusser.

Miss Ellen Jane Gibbons, the "wit" of the class, proposed a toast to the boys, and everyone had just one joyful old time.

At any rate, it seems that there was a gallon of cider left over and a half dozen doughnuts.

They were all at school that afternoon, looking very pale or very flushed—as the case might be. But as for their feelings, I wonder—?

City Friend—How is the boy since he came back from college? Farmer John—Fine. Still treats us as equals.
