CONTRACT BRIDGE

Written For Central Press and The Birmingham Eccentric

By E. V. SHEPARD

FAMOUS BRIDGE TEACHER

MASTERING BRIDGE (32)

NO BID should have two meanings. Avoid serious misunderstandings with partner by agreement upon the meaning of any call possible to understand in more than a single way. Unless better instructed, some players will bid two of a suit, merely because fulfillment of that contract will yield game. If this is done, how is partner to know when you expect a slam and want his co-operative bidding? Every experienced player knows that a part game score requires a better hand for an opening bid than needed to make the same call at love score. The reason is a simple one. Opponents will over-call a low bid which will yield game quicker than they will a low bid that cannot possibly yield game. Any efficient partner will keep bidding open at an advanced score, unless he has a worthless hand. The majority of good players will not make an opening bid of 2 at an advanced score unless the same call would be made at love score.

There is comparatively little procedure with which some players fail to disagree. Any statement here as to proper procedure therefore means current practice of the majority of our leading experts. An opening bid of two obligates partner's response. Lacking a minimum of one quick trick, respond with 2-No Trumps. If worth showing, bid your long suit next time. Do not immediately support partner's suit call without at least 4 trumps and a minimum of one quick trick. He will keep bidding alive. Immediately support may cause overbidding with many holdings.

Having at least one quick trick, there are three possible responses to the opening call of two:

1. Show a bidable suit.
2. Support upon 4 of partner's suit.
3. Lacking both a bidable suit and 4 cards of partner's suit, bid 2-No Trumps, to show the quick trick.

Partner may be bidding a 4-card suit. In that case he needs you to hold 4 trumps also. Three of partner's suit, even when headed by Ace, K or Q, may prove disappointing to partner. Prefer showing your own bidable suit to at once supporting upon only 3 trumps headed by a high honor. Unless you really have scattered no trump strength, it will be better to support partner on 3 of his suit headed by a high honor than to bid 3-No Trumps.

How should bidding go on the North and South hands, with the above holdings? In case North held East's cards or West's cards, how should bidding go?

The Old Order Changes

In the beginning, pharmacy was little else save a superficial knowledge of a few herbs and simples. It was in truth, an art encumbered with the dead weight of superstition and sorcery. Today, the profession of pharmacy, as typified by Schettler, is deeply rooted in scientific knowledge. The education and training of our pharmacists enable them to render an ethical service in close cooperation with your physician.
