BUILDER DISPLAYS HOME EQUIPMENT Samples Of Many Kinds Of Materials Shown By Heimiller Displaying samples of many kinds of home construction equipment, Clarence G. Heimiller, local contractor, with offices in the Home Service Building, 615 Woodward Avenue, has established the new department of demonstrating to the potential home owner various stages in construction work and the types of equipment employed in building. Mr. Heimiller has initiated this service with the definite aim of providing those interested with concrete designs, colors and materials in order that a prospective home builder may be able to decide more accurately the merits of new materials.

Obituary SUSAN A. RAYNER Susan A. Rayner died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock at her residence, 2409 1/2 Mill Street, Franklin, Rayner, where she has resided the past 10 years. Mrs. Rayner was born in Leeville, Michigan, May 14, 1874. She moved here a year ago, living in this county all her life. On May 26, 1896, she married Charles Rayner, who died here in 1930. She was the mother of Mildred, wife of Grand Bank, Harry W. Rayner of Farmington and Arthur M. Rayner of Franklin, Virginia. There also survive one sister, Mrs. Mary Ennis of Birmingham and a brother, Otto Schieffer of Pontiac. A funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the S. O. Wylie Bell Funeral Home with Reverend Wilson, of the Franklin M. E. Church officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Rev. A. W. Beaven Preaches Sunday At Christ Church One of the outstanding speakers in America, Rev. A. W. Beaven, D. D., president of the College Board, will preach at Christ Church, Cranbrook, Sunday morning. Dr. Beaven is a former president of the national council of churches and has spoken in every large city throughout the country, in addition to many of the smaller ones. His occasion here is to deliver a main address at an international Rotary conference. A man of versatile ability, Dr. Beaven has written several noteworthy books. He has taken an interest in various phases of the M. C. A. work, in addition to his other activities. Obtaining the services of such a renowned speaker is a privilege with Christ Church's policy of securing representative men from other denominations to preach here from time to time.

Rambling Reverie By E. G. Whitney Pitter Patter: Dolly know the New Deal spends $222 per second... fact... never see a woman cry when she was winning an argument. That Horack and Gaffel get together Sunday night two weeks ago... party for nobody but them their "Tender"... "Tender"... "Tender"...

as one of the great unsolved mysteries. Dittory Judges: You know folks they beat a spelling bee over at the Adams School last Friday. Miss Adeline Cooke, Bob Lord and this humble writer, got themselves elected as judges... didn't understand a word, it fell to the judges to define the word... use in a sentence. Pretty cool along came the word, "Pomane"...

one worn by Virginia Bruce is made of white ostrich plumes, trailing a lizard train ten yards wide and it is reputed to be the most costly creation ever made for the stage or screen. The material alone required such items as 55 dozen pheasant tails, 50 pounds of live sequins, 25 dozen pure white ostrich plumes, 75 pounds of costume jewelry. All of the jeweling in the costume was done by hand. Ridiculous Rents: Let's chew a few nails on the local housing problem. You know, it wasn't so long ago that owners were offering low, very low, rent and in the first month free to induce us to move into their places. Many houses stood vacant, deteriorating. Now the picture has changed. Places to rent are at a premium and $50 per month is asked and given for very mediocre flat houses in neighborhoods that certainly don't anything to write home about.

Hunt, and one grandchild, Katherine Hunt of this city.

JEAN POTTER WINS SPELLING BEE Jean Alice Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Potter, 188 Oakland Street, won the spelling bee for private schools, held Friday morning at the Country Day School, Grosse Pointe, Little Miss Potter, who is 12 years old and in the seventh grade at Kingswood School, Cranbrook, won out over 115 other contestants. Competition between Jean Alice and Wylie was particularly keen both having established previous spelling records. Attending Adams High School last year, Jean Alice was runner-up in the district elimination contest. Wylie not only won the private school district spelling bee last year, but went on to being third in the metropolitan Detroit contest. Miss Potter will represent her district in the Detroit News Metropolitan Spelling Bee at the State Fair grounds. She will compete against Betty Fugate of Birmingham, who won this district's championship.

METHODIST PLAN LAYMAN'S CAMPAIGN During the week of April 27 to May 1, a Layman's Expansion Campaign is being conducted within the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church, under the leadership of Mr. E. O. Maple, of Detroit. Many families are being visited in the interest of membership in the church. At the Sunday morning service of May 3, one of the largest classes of adults ever to unite with the local church at one time will be received into membership. It is expected that upwards of fifty will be included in the class. A reception to all the new members is also planned for Wednesday evening, May 6.
