WOLF CLUBS NAME DATES OF OPENING

Women Are Prominent in Plans For Season At Oakland Hills

Now that the red, red robin is an every-day occurrence and the calendar denotes that spring is near at hand even if the weather contradicts, golf clubs in this locale are announcing opening dates and plans for the season.

Oakland Hills Country Club announces a bigger and better year in the campaign to encourage women golfers. At least three important events on the club's calendar are planned to glorify the woman in the game. The course will be open to women golfers on May 5, when the first weekly tournament of the Women's District meet will be held. This date is three days prior to the official opening, May 8, which will be also open to women golfers on Sept. 2.

Another red letter day for women golfers will be July 27, when they will be privileged to attend the Men's District Association, club managers, professionals and junior members.

A second tournament of the Women's District Association will be held at Oakland Hills on Sept. 2.

The Birmingham Golf Club will open the season Saturday, April 11, with a supper dance at the club, Mrs. Warren K. Lee of Southfield road as a member of the committee on arrangements.
