ABE PICKS TIGERS AS CHAMPS AGAIN

Hot Stove League Leader Says Bengals Have Great Team

Abe Whippledippy, dean of the local Hot-Stove Winter Baseball League, tenderly folded his furlined ear-muffs away with the moth balls yesterday, April 8, and emerged from his long hibernation to make his predictions and comments on the 1936 pennant race public for the first time. "It looks like the Tigers are in," said Abe. "Now that Hankus-Pankus Greenberg has gotten around to signing up and the Schoolboy has come up with and recovered from his annual pre-season sore arm, there is nobody in the league to stand up with Mickey's mom. Tom Yawkey's aristocrats will probably offer the Bengals the most competition, but Mr. Yawkey's pitching staff is still an unknown quantity.

The addition of Johnny Marcum, the Kentucky Colonel, to this outfit will help, but the big question is, will Grove and Ferrell be as effective this year as they were last? Both boys have been around for some time, and they're both one year older than they were last year.

Abe carefully loaded both checks with AppleJack's Best Pipe Cut, shaped his sad-pants to a crease and continued. "Simmons is Detroit's big question mark. He loafed himself out of a job with Chicago last year. Al is the kind of player who plays best with a champion. If he comes through, as Mike thinks he will, Detroit will coast in. Cleveland, with the addition of Fireball Johnny Allen, will have an outside chance of beating out the Tigers and the Crimson Hose, but only an outside chance. The Yanks are just about washed up. The youngsters DiMaggio is expected to bolster the outfield, but the Ruppert Rubes are a gang of old men. Detroit, Cleveland, and the Red Sox will put on all the trade-talk they can. Keep your eye on those Browns, too. Rajah Hornsby is one of the smartest managers in the league, and he's brought the Browns a long way.

"I pick Greenberg to again be the outstanding batter in the circuit. I don't think Simmons will hit as he is supposed to do. Al Milnarged the Indians, will have a good year in the way this year. So will DiMaggio. But mark my words—the Tigers are in."

And bringing his sage observations to a close, Abe fell to diligently fondling the Hank Greenberg Signed over the left field wall on one of his good days last year, and which Abe caught on the fly as it came over.
