

'I'm Witt out Maid' Local Matrons Complain--Girls Offer A Solution

By Marjorie Elaine Porter

One of the most frequent complaints heard among Birmingham matrons, seems to be, "I'm Witt out a maid." Many steps have been taken to solve the unavoidable inconveniences of life, and struggle through their household tasks until a maid can be found to fill the place of the late departed.

To mothers with small children depending on the services of a helper to keep the wheels of domestic machinery in operation, it is more than an inconvenience,

...woman, who was in charge of the employment bureau of the house up as the depression years, said Mrs. Chas. in voting cast a lead for girls in slumming.

"This is not the first time such a request has been made of the Community House," Mrs. McKinnon said, "in fact such a scheme was tried out several years ago. Girls met at the House on Thursdays but the idea did not meet with much success, and the plan was discontinued. But the fact that this question keeps coming up all the time, shows that there must be something back of it, and that girls are really interested."

"My suggestion would be that girls who have ideas as to what they would like to do in the way of recreation, write letters to the eccentric expressing themselves, let them be the ones to say what they would like to do for them through the Community House. If the right thing were offered, some girls would take advantage of it and that alone would make the plan worth while."

Mrs. Rockwood N. Bullard of Manor road, recalled that such a group met at the Community House six years ago, and suggested that a similar one be organized now to provide girls employed in housework here a place to find recreation.

Mrs. William E. Essery of Aspen road suggested the organizing of a "hobby and recreational group" to meet Thursday afternoons on the premises of the Community House for girls interested in joining.

"No Place To Go"

"So often do they have boy friends. They come home and must do their visiting in the car. Now a girl who doesn't get any real life is not a satisfied girl. There is no place, no room, where they could play or get a soda and sit long as they can. They go through the stores week after week, just to get some of the things they need, but they don't get a long way from town. They walk in town, they go out tired and come home tired, because there is no place for them to let down."
