Discount for Delay
"Yes, it was a case of love at first sight."
"Why didn't you marry him?"
"I saw him several times afterward."
Q—What is meant by leaving a line?
A—Giving an alibi at mast.
An Easy One
"My son is a jack-of-all trades. What shall I do with him?"
"Buy him a doghouse."
Police Captain—You'll have to bring some one here to identify you. Have you no friends?
"No, sir, I'm a boss's mate."
The Year—I want to speak to you, Fisher, about the milk you have been delivering lately. You understand, we don't use it for christenings.
One In Every Family
He—They say there's one child in every family.
She—It's really too bad about you! Being the only child, Bernard.
Rastus—You ain't yourself no more? Sick in some way?
Mose—Got insomnia. Keep wakin' up every few days.
Gone
Proprietor—Didn't the water give you a meanin', sir?
Neglected Patron—Certain, but I ate it an hour ago.
A Small Matter
Clarence Lattleneck—Thinking of you all day has given me absence of mind.
Dolly Dill—Don't worry. You'll never miss it.
No Local Color
The Old One—Yes, this is a smut painted by my daughter. She studied abroad several years.
The Young One—Ah, yes. I understand now—can't remember having seen a sunset like that in our country.
Brilliant Idea
Ward Heeler—How did Senator Soughin swing all the medals at his boarding home?
Alderman—He started his speech by saying, "My heartful young constituent."
Economizing
He—I've told you often enough that we must save. Last month I paid $700 for your shoes and this month I have a bill of $300.
She—Well, don't you see I've saved $300 this month?
Guided by His Conscience
Mr. Goodparton—The a touch on the eye, you know. Do you consider it becoming in a dogman to have gold on his snout?
The Rev. Mr. Ligon—No, I don't. That's why I gave up on pulpit.

Positive

Some girls were following a steamer, and an Irishman said to his companion, "See, they're a nice flock of pigeons."
"They're not pigeons," said his companion. "They're gulls."
"Well," said the Irishman, "gulls in flocks they're a nice flock of pigeons."
Economy
At a meeting of an union district council the clerk announced that he wanted a supply of golf balls for the typewriter. Immediately a member protested against such extravagance.
"She is a very nice fat girl," he said, "but I don't see why she should be provided with three at a expense of the caterpillar."
Marking-Down Process
Patron—You've sold my report. How about it?
S—Well, you see, Dad, everything's so high nowadays. I thought it was time some items were marked down.—Baltimore Southern Methodist.

No Leisure

A farmer who went to a large city to see the sights engaged a room at a hotel and, before retiring, he asked the clerk about the house for meals.
"We have breakfast from 7 to 11, dinner from 12 to 2, and supper from 6 to 8," explained the clerk.
"Look here," replied the farmer in surprise, "what time am I trying to see the town?"
In the Wax
A Northern farm hand went to work for a contractor in the city. There had been an unusually long drought and even then, on the south side of the city, the water had begun to sink, and the farm hand, who showed his delight in the prospect of a job in the city, said:
"He's come out of the rain," the employer chuckled.
"Oh, I don't mind that a few days," replied the man.
"Who cares about that?" belittled the employer. "We want you the day of that rain to fall on Texas!"

Musty Deal

The top sergeant said he had just had a very good deal. "All these fish of mine step on my toes forward," he said. "I've got a fish in this tank that's a hand, but a dozen men couldn't lift it."
"How many men?"
"Well, then, you see, you got to be a fisherman to come on to the top floor of the officers' quarters."
Fishing Trip
Muttler—I saw Mr. Fall is all set for his fishing trip.
Inwell—How do you know?
Muttler—Last night I saw him buying an enlarging device for his kodak.
