BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

Miss Victoria Widemann, No. 1911 Riverton Road, has enrolled at Montefiore College, Godfrey, Ill. for the second semester.

Mr. R. P. Cole of Buckingham Road left last Sunday for Dayton, Ohio, to visit her mother, Mrs. L. B. Young.

Morris Haggerty, formerly assistant manager at the local Cunningham drugstore, has been recently transferred to Monroe as manager of his company's new store there.

Carolyn Beltrami, Sophomore at the University of Michigan, is one of a committee recently chosen to select members for the Stanley chorus, Women's Glee Club.

Two residents of Birmingham, George Fisham Otis, of 3229 Bingham Road, and William Berger Lynch, of 331 Forest Avenue, are among the students from Michigan who have won scholarships for the current academic year at Princeton University.

Four local men, L. J. Slusser, W. K. Bracker, Elmer J. Huston and Lynch K. Kelly, attended the opening of the 12th Annual Convention of the Michigan Agricultural Association, held in Detroit last week.

Pontiac Speaker Roger Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, will speak in the high school auditorium at Pontiac, Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock, February 13.

Announcement is made of the appointment of R. F. Tilloson as associate with Suburban Home, Inc., builders. Mr. Tilloson was formerly a builder himself, having constructed the Birmingham Golf Club and Matheson house in Bloomfield Hills.

Magnification Magnification depends on the bending of light in passing from one medium to another. In the near lens, the rays from a small object are so bent that they appear to be spread out and to come from a much larger object.

Hard Audience "How would you like to be a government-paid artist?" "Fine," said Mr. Stormington Barnes. "The only thing I'm afraid of is the fact that a public made up of taxpayers is always liable to be mercifully critical."
