A YOUNG MAN ABOUT DOWN

By Kirk Martin

Word comes from "way up in the north woods" that Hoyt (Skip) Morris may soon become the pride of Birmingham. Hoyt is counseling at camp Main-Go-Tah-See, and the swimming director saw Hoyt swim in a race, and immediately started training him. Hoyt swam the 100 yard dash in about 72, having cut 15 seconds off his time in the last week. Hoyt is championship material, according to his coach and trainer.

Patsy Hawley, blonde terror of Cha and ex-Birminghamite, is spending a couple of weeks in town with Betty Ann Pease and Genevieve Gay. Rumor has it that the G-men are cleaning up the Windy City, so Pat's staying here. (Gee, men, what a break!)

Pussy Wygant just returned from a visit to Flo Brinkman's cottage. "Nice looking" gal, especially with the usual summer tan.

Doris Richards is taking herself better, and making tracks for the land where mosquitoes are tough and the nights are cool. Minnie Hart will betake herself to Adrian for a visit to her grandmother and then to Torch Lake to visit Marge Smith.

Dick Kindrough has moved to Grosse Pointe, according to local milk shake dealers, but Kimby revealed that an citizen will have to suffer for a while yet. "At least till school starts. I have to let the milk shake consumption drop slowly." A big crash in the business "as any patronage going elsewhere all at once would be a major catastrophe," quoth Mitter Kimby.

Oddities of Birmingham: The female golf ball.

It was good to see the red couple going along, wrapped around Art Brandt again. Arthur has just gotten back from his trip to California, and points therabouts.

Andy Hindash just returned from a Mississippi plantation, where he learned to pick cotton, plant "aters," and manufacture mountain dew.

Pun of the week: It's raining cats and dogs, isn't it? Yes, I just stepped on a puddle.

Palm Beach suits seem to be more popular this year than ever before. They come in all colors, from navy blue to brown plaid, and are cut so well that it is hard to distinguish between palm beach and other heavier materials. Cellulose cloth makes elegant swimming trunks, too.

Gal's sport shirts which make the men folks back covers look sick, plaid ties, and shorts are making headlines in the feminine book of fashions. The women shirt creators can find more and various places to put pleats at, and of course, the colors make the men's recent drive for colored shirts seem distinctly anemic.

Jawn Owens is visiting our fair city this week end. Johnny is spending the summer up in Canada at a cottage, but dropped down to stay at Royal's domicile for a few days. He's sporting a soup strainer that takes us back to the pre-safety razor days.

Glen Waggoner and Wilham Price are leaving for the Au Sable river for the purpose of makin' a canoe trip. "I said."

Harry Stark, Charlie Dean, Bob Savage and various other of adventurous element in town are getting up a party to go down the river with their moles. The destination is Bob-Lux. Butch Stark hinted that they were going to massacre the Hot Dog Man during the trip.

Bob Peedler is coming to Birmingham for a week or so ere long. He's going to stay at the home of Colonel James (Jimmie) Albion. Robert moved to New Jersey (or did he?) last year. Who says they never come back?

"Kid Rush" broke out against Charles Henry in the arena last night, but was caged in twelve rounds. Pontiac Press, October 23, 1932.

Maxie Matthews, the Etonian for Frankenstein, of Brown street, objected to being referred to a woman later in the last installment of this here thing. "I've had three dates with my cousin in the last week," said the palant Maxwell.

The song writer that wrote the ballad "And now you've got no more of it" must have foreseen the present "Handy" craze. By the way, Whatzit? "!!!!"

Aloneness looking postcard which came from the Noid of Winkleton, Bob Goode, reports that Goode and his brother explorer, Scottie Walker have couped near Grayling, that the enemy are subdued, the mosquitoes have landed, and the situation is well in hand.
