Ullian's Chances Dim but Serious Effort Deserves Attention

NAPANCOCH, N. Y.—Once the reporter put the proposition up to a fellow named Bar.

"That's easy," said the fellow named Bar. "I'll smash him in pieces." Again the reporter sought information from a man named Paulino. "It takes. Okay. He no hurt me," said the man called Paulino.

Since subsequent events had proved that his godson was more than a trifle mistaken the reporter had no confidence in the question now. Nevertheless, he decided to give it another workout.

"Max," he asked Schmeling, "how do you expect to beat Joe Louis?"

The tanned giant blinked those narrow eyes which peep out from under bushy eyebrows at the edge of a slanting forehead. Ordinarily he is quick on the pickup and fences with interviewers in English as easily as in German.

"Well stay away from him. We won't let him hit us. Well—" Max Machon, the former heavyweight champion's trainer, had rushed to the rescue.

"Sure, I know that," interrupted the reporter, "but you'll be on the other side of the ropes and a well-behaved beautifully tanned boy like Louis is not going to forget his manners to reach over and take a sock at you. Let's get down to business. Max's going to be the lamb being led to—I mean he's going to be the guy in on June 18. How's he going to be that?"

Thinks Movies Show Louis Can Be Hit

The narrow eyes no longer were blinking. The tanned giant was leaning forward eagerly. Ordinarily he is one of the coldest of men but he has a warming smile and now he turned it on. "That's right," he said. "I've seen the movies and I've seen him close up." He did not refer to Louis by name, indeed the Brown Bomber seldom is spoken of up here in Max Schmeling's training camp. "Certainly he can hit but he has to have something to hit, doesn't he? Well."

There was a moment of overblowing with embarrassing silence.

"Well," admitted the reporter then, "it's a good gag if you can get away with it."

Having watched the German giant in several workouts since then, though, the reporter is not yet ready to agree that Schmeling can get away with it. Plainly he has seen far more work before he will be ready for such an ambitious undertaking.

Judged solely on training exhibitions the Ullian would by no means be a good bet to gain a decision over his Yankee opponent. Working against Max Kahl, Max, Andy Wallace and such heavyweights of very minor importance, he has never seemed slow and easily hit. More over the punches that were conveyed by his own 14-ounce gloves lacked that authority they displayed several years ago.

Sparring Mates Are Guinea Pigs for Max

Nevertheless, it would be unfair to judge him solely from such a showing against partners. Such men usually are selected in the same manner that a surgeon picks out the best specimens in the guinea pig market. They are in camp for experimental, if not entirely for scientific purposes. If Max belted them out in one-two-three order each afternoon he would be achieving no more than has been done as well by numerous pugilists.

All that actually would be accomplished would be the ruination of three more guinea pigs. Similarly, it would get him nothing, save perhaps a few extra cheers from his loyal landmen, who flock up here, if he devoted his time to a soft snap of outboxing his laboratory specimens. So he seems to be concentrating upon special assignments.

There is, for instance, the experiment being conducted in uppercuts. This blow is a new one for him, but in view of his short, thick-muscled forearm and the fact that Louis fights in a half crouch with his arms extended in front of him, might become a very effective one.

Carnera's Latest Flop Was on the Up and Up

Probably it is just as well that Le Roy Haines' latest triumph over Primo Carnera was recorded in Brooklyn rather than in the Desert of Sahara. No matter how hard they tried to appreciate the thing, there and environment would have lacked the simple Arabs. Only a citizen who has taken his own share of belly-punches among the ships and microbes of a waterborne world could really understand that the whole business was not the old gag.

Primo must have been sorely distressed by this sudden seizure, in spite of some youthful practice as a shepherd, he is more than ham-thighed, and this display was worthy of Shirley Temple at her best. Furthermore, if it had been the phony bolimus, as they whisper in the Sahara Desert, there would have been far more surprise, pain, indignation and agonized lamentations.

So I definitely believe that the thing was on the up and up; that Haines probably couldn't even lick Max Baer.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

A Philadelphia fan has forwarded a newspaper clipping which reads: "Give us the breaks and well finish in the first division," says Connie Mack. Across this the fan has written "Yeah, and then you've peddled them to Tom Sawyer in October."

FOUR members of Fordham's all-conquering baseball team are said to be pledged to big-time clubs. It is whispered that First Backer Babe Young loves the Yankees, that Catcher Andy Patzu has a date with the Giants, that Catcher Tony DePhillips goes for the A's and that Outfielder Gene Coyle sees eye to eye with the Dodgers. As of these Patzu, who is a junior, will be graduated in June. . . . Incidentally, the Tigers are reported to be making shrewd eyes at Jimmy Sheehan, the Rams' sensational frosh receiver. He is 6 feet 11 inch tall, weighs 195 pounds and belted the ball all over before becoming Fordham's best prospect since the days of Frankie Frisch.

Fragel Albertson, the fast publicist who has taken to the Napanoch hills while building up the Louisa-Schmeling affair, is a diplomatic even when dealing with the weather. Although he retains his long underwear he gives spring a break by wearing white shorts. . . . Modern horse fanciers may better see another steppehead dead heat such as occurred recently between Rock Lad and Blister. They are so rare that even Louis Schmelings, the eminent Long Island horseman, bid to go back to 1894 before recollecting another timer-topping deadheat.

Terry Likes Fans' Boos but Only on the Road

Bill Terry likes to hear the fans boo when the Giants are on the road. Says it means that everybody is taking the club seriously. . . . Eddie Hodge, the St. Louis manager, will desert California for New York soon. . . . N. Fletcher, the Boxing Magazine editor, and Eddie Borden, his associate, are in the office first each day. The two citizens are philatelists (who'd have thought that about them?) and the gent who gets there first gets the best stamps off the morning's mail.

Terry, the most eminent master thinkers occasionally miff one. Last winter J. E. Widener decided that Breyer was his ace three-year-old. So he took the 1935 St. Louis horseman, A. C. Tarn, offered him for Rushaway. Since then Rushaway has won the Louisiana, Illinois and Ontario Derbies. Breyer has—but why revive sad memories?

When Johnny Farrell was pro at Quaker Ridge he was a member of the National Democratic club. Now that he has moved to Baltusrol, he has given up such affiliations. The reason? The boys at Baltusrol are ardent Republicans. . . . Almond E. Allen is one of the most manly athletes of the field, ballplayers say that he is the most competent of all jockeys (not get) when the game is under way and an opponent needs to be riled. . . . Robert Hutchison, who won so many medals when he raced for the celebrated Louella Lyecum A. C., now is one of the best known soccer referees. Incidentally, he is the son of John Hutchison, who manages the Greenpoint F. C. Sheriff Pete McGuiness' favorite team.

One of the better jobs of spring cleaning (up) is being done by a firm in the Wall street neighborhood. The gents tell you that you cannot name three major league players who will achieve a total of six hits on any given baseball day. . . . Joe Jacobs, Max Schmeling's manager, started piloting prize fighters when he was in high school. . . . Frank Abraham, Eddie Toshi and Eddie Singer, who now star for the New York (soccer) Makoha, were members of the celebrated Hakean team of Vienna.

Around The Circuit — AMERICAN LEAGUE —

That pitching is what a club must possess to remain in the first division is demonstrated in the American League race up to June 9. New York, out in front, had had pitchers who averaged 1.50 in complete games. Boston, running second, came next with twenty-five starting pitchers going the limit. Detroit and Cleveland, practically tied for third place, also were tied with their pitchers working twenty-four games with out being relieved.

The theory, however, went haywire when it came to the second division. Chicago, whose pitchers hurled twenty-three complete contests, was trailing Washington of whose pitchers the derick had been used in all but nineteen games. Philadelphia, in seventh place, had gone through twenty games without a change of pitchers while St. Louis, in last place, had been able to rely upon only one pitcher in fourteen battles.

Lefty Grove and Wes Ferrell of Boston were the individual leaders, each having pitched nine entire games. In seventh place, however, were victories. Since he was yanked in his first two starts, Choney Busch has worked eight complete contests. Harry Kelley of the Athletics boasts of seven games in which he won the entire route, two of them being extra inning games. Pearson of the Yankees also has seven, followed by Gomez, Newsom, Lyons, Whitehead, Lloyd Brown, Harry E. Hildebrand, Bridges and Hodge with six apiece. Next came DeShong, Rowe and Kennedy with five apiece. Knott and Hirtle made St. Louis pitchers, each with three complete games.

It looks as if Lovell Dean, the boy that Connie Mack picked up from Duke University, is getting to be the American League pinch-hitting honors this season. Young Mr. Dean, a stocky built youngster, has about twenty-nine years, has been up to the plate as a pinch hitter twenty-three times. Once he walked. In his other efforts, he has made five singles and four doubles, scoring two runs and driving in nine on April 20, he batted for Turbeville singled the winning run across to beat New York 3 to 10. On May 16, he batted for Wilshire, drove in two runs with a double and beat Detroit 6 to 5. On June 6, he batted for Pitcher Fink, doubled with the bases filled and beat St. Louis 6 to 5. Two days later, he batted for Catcher Hayes in the ninth inning, doubled once more and drove in the run that beat Chicago 5 to 4. All of which is not so bad for a youngster who quit Duke University last February and hunted around for a job with a major league club.

Rogers Hornsby posed a puzzle, riddling the Browns to play cards, and his team took three straight from the Tigers 5, 0, 0. Lloyd Brown, southpaw veteran of the Indians, is the American League's toughest lunk hurler. He has lost four games up to June 9. In two of that games, Cleveland struck out the other two were lost by one run, errors behind Lloyd sending the winning country across.

Bill Dietrich has the best record of any American league pitcher, having won four games and lost none in that capacity for the Athletics. Oral Hildebrand of the White Sox, Ray Philadelphia of Chicago has won three and lost one as a replacement.

The club record for relief pitchers up to June 9 is Cleveland's fourth one, Chicago—six and three; Philadelphia—five and three; Boston—five and five; St. Louis—three and four; Washington—three and five; Detroit—four and six.

Third baseman Meener of Los Angeles, whom the Chicago White Sox have bought for delivery next year, is batting .317 after getting away to a very bad start. He has driven in forty-two runs. Outfielder Roy Weatherly of New Orleans, purchased by Cleveland for 1937 was batting .387 until he was injured two weeks ago.

A host of college boys have been reporting to American League clubs of late, working out meetings under the supervision of the coaches preparatory to being sent out to minor league clubs. Boston already has forwarded a few to clubs affiliated with the Red Sox. Third baseman Bill Hayden of the University of California, First baseman Mahan of Villa Nova and Catcher Lacey of the University of Richmond, go to Rocky Mount, N. C. Pitcher Dick Midkiff and Second baseman Alvey Johnson of the University of Texas are to be forwarded to Pittsburgh while Pitcher Bush of Richmond will go to the Carlton. It, either of these clubs is to be joining the Red Sox chain are Ted Olson, Dartmouth's star pitcher, Al Barabas, Columbia's football and baseball celebrity, and Pitcher Dwight Engert of the University of Wisconsin.

Since he was knocked out of his first two games, Charley Ruffing of the Yankees had been pitching great ball, hoisting a two-hitter two four-hit, a five-hitter and three nine-hitters and one ten-hit contest in five games.

Max Schmelings' training camp has been in session for several weeks.

His Bro Grove scored seven of his first nine victories against first division clubs.
