

HIGHLIGHTS OF NEW YORK As Seen By Bill Averill

NEW YORK—This copy is being turned out as the din of the passing automobiles comes through...

Of course we cannot forget to mention the Empire State Building. It is the highest habitable building in the world; 102 stories or 1250 feet to the tip of the mooring mast.

There are many resident New Yorkers, let alone countless others, who have never been up in the Empire State Building...

Gramercy Park, located from 20th to East 21st streets, and 4th Avenue, is the only privately owned Park in the city of New York.

As one crosses the Manhattan bridge over to Brooklyn, he can see the St. George Hotel, the largest hotel in the world.

On returning over the Manhattan Bridge, to the right on the Manhattan side, is the Ghetto for the Poor of East Town.

When anyone goes through this Ghetto at night in a car, as we did, they are called "suburbans" in many different languages.

On Lafayette Avenue, just out of Canal Street, is the shoe parlor of "Silk Hat" Tony.

We were tempted to stop and see him some business, but you know how they are—they'll never stop and let you do the things you want to do most.

United States has a Bridge of the name as Venice, Italy. It is located between one of the downtown Manhattan courthouses and the old Tombs Prison.

The only building that the King of England owns in the United States is the Whitehall Building, just opposite the Aquarium.

Directly north from the Aquarium on West Avenue, on the street adjacent to the docks on the Hudson River, are quite a few wholesale vegetable and fruit warehouses.

The largest Gothic cathedral in the world is located in New York City, the Cathedral of St. John the Evangelist. Its construction is entirely of concrete and granite.
