

Just as a dash of seasoning changes the entire taste of a particular food, so a dash of philosophy changes your whole day's thoughts. Being cheerful is so essential that it is almost a survival habit of every animal. The scientist who has not been able to eat his breakfast food producer hasn't named his product "De Cheerful."

FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR—NO. 49

THIS and THAT

By G. R. A.

It's about time that I make quite clear my attitude with regard to becoming a rival of Phi Kappa Psi on the radio. I like to hear good music—no thought of being a rival of Phi Kappa Psi on the radio. I like to hear good music—no thought of being a rival of Phi Kappa Psi on the radio.

Unknown to myself, news of my ambition to become a grand opera star began to trickle to the outside world. With breathless expectancy, the music loving public awaited my debut. One time, at a Rotary club meeting, several Rotarians secretly arranged to get the acrobats from my house to the Community House where, after a bit of deception, they "put me on the spot" in such a manner that I was obliged to appear.

Have found the acrobats a great benefit. Not only does it relieve the nerves, but also offers an opportunity to develop strength in the arms and shoulders. It opens and closes its pleats. Unlike a harmonica, it doesn't have any effect upon my family dog.

And so, continuing my policy of isolation, I occasionally play this lute—acrobats—always looking into the mirror. The lute will come from the Metropolitan Opera Co. of New York to appear in America on the radio. But so far no radio is concerned, NEV-ER. No, not all the Millionaires are in such a delectable mood as I by appearing before a mere microphone. And so, folks, I shall pursue my lonely way, and I should most of the time—especially in the winter when the windows are fogged and the sun is only a faint suggestion of a friend.

It is so wise to vision Utopia as a place to justify the spread of the whole human race to that Utopia will be attained in a life-time. It is a great mistake to produce a hundred rosebushes that bear the best roses; but one or more of the greatest, properly cared for, may grow beautiful roses, in spite of the backwardness of the others. It is so with humanity.

"In God We Trust" is the motto on our money. The money of the United States is a good thing. Though, that God's most democratic nations are the members of the U. S. Supreme Court.

Use of copper in your diet is claimed to banish silver threads from the hair. But the trouble with Well, it has been claimed for a long time that iron is good for the hair. It is a fact that iron is good for the hair. It is a fact that iron is good for the hair.
