WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS... PEAT Warns Against Wars Of Future At Peace Meet... By BILL AVERILL... There has been quite a bit of talk about peace, lately and why school boys and girls should pledge themselves not to go to war. It is difficult to remember that a pledge, because boys and girls cannot do very good citizens of our noble country if they refuse to defend it against any and all invaders. But there appears to be a good solution to this question, which might be workable if enough support could be found to carry it out.

Unfair Competition... By RAYMOND FITZGERALD... National Chairman... Picture a storekeeper, a dairy farmer, or a small manufacturer who through years of industry has established a moderately successful business. Out of its returns it supports his family and pays taxes, insures his home and the costs that such enterprise entails. Then into his community enters a competitor. This rival is more fortunate than the first. He doesn't have to worry about making a living, he has no bills of accounts, a favorable balance at the end of the year, a cash uncle takes care of all that business.

DOG Tales... Dog Tale... THE Year Old Bull Terrier established his junior camp on the Big Onion river and had a great deal of trouble with rats and mice. They ate up the scraps of food left in his trough. Big Joe, his cap gun, made and grew to be as big as two-year old boys. No Bull went over to Michigan and got a pup that was part wolf and part elegant hound and began feeding him on bear milk. In a little while this pup, whom Paul named Sport, was big enough to clean up all the rats and mice around the camp. So Paul decided to send him after bigger game. He trained Sport to become a moose hunter and when Big Joe said "Sport, go out and get me a mess of moose," Sport would do it. One night Sport was playing around the horse barn when Paul mistook him for a mouse, quick as a flash he buried an ax at the animal and to his horror found that he had cut Sport in two. Quickly he picked up his axe and buried the two halves, stuck them together, and gave the dog first aid. The next morning Paul discovered that in his haste he had twisted the two halves so that the hind legs pointed straight up. But this proved to be an advantage for the dog learned to run on two legs a while, then flop over without loss of speed and run on the other two. Sport was a good trailer, too. Once when he was out in the woods with Paul they discovered the skeleton of a moose that had died of old age. Just out of curiosity Paul picked up the back tracks of the moose's trail, and before sunset he had led Paul clear back to the place where the moose was born.
