SCHOOL HEADS VISITING HERE

Will Spend Three Days At Baldwin Working On Study Program

Three well known men, Dr. Frank C. Jenkins from the State Department of Education in Jackson, Michigan; John P. Lozo, formerly principal of Reading High School, Reading, Pennsylvania, and a representative from the University of Michigan whose name has not been made known, will spend the first part of this week at Baldwin High School as part of the National Cooperative Study Program. They are assigned to visit all the schools of the eastern Mississippi Valley. The day of the senior high assembly was changed from Thursday to yesterday for the benefit in assembly, it was also a football rally for the Thanksgiving game.

Splash Party Held
In the sea-green water of the Woman's City Club pool the G. A. P. Party Thursday. The girls had a grand time even if all of them did not participate. Mary Adams, Barbara Pratt swam away with first place in the free-style race, followed by about two lengths. Mary Sheridan was second, Dorothy Bull third and Jane Hyde fourth.

Etheridge came out with the red ribbon in the breast-stroke race. Doris Bickel won the blue ribbon. Mary Sheridan the white one, and Marian Porter placed fourth.

Again Barbara Pratt scored first in the back-stroke. Gertrude Allen placed second, Ted Williams third, and Elizabeth Olsen fourth.

Dorothy Taylor, of the ninth grade, side-stroke her way to victory in that race. Carol Clark, also of the ninth grade, came in second. Ellen Henderson and Katherine Haffner tied for third.

In the candle race, which was quite the most exciting of all, Jane Collins came out with a somewhat dimly lighted candle, but it was first. Carol Clark, whose candle burned brightly even at the end, came in second. Anna Mary Adams for third and Virginia Olsen was disqualified.

Ellen Anderson blew her way to fame in the balloon race, blowing her balloon on the water the whole length of the pool. Elizabeth McCarty captured second place in this event. Frances Stanley third, and Katherine Carr fourth.

Etheridge once more came to the front in the diving contest. Her form was good on the board as well as in the air. Ellen Anderson for second spot. Gertrude Allen for third and Barbara Pratt for fourth.

The final team results of the meet were Gertrude Allen's first, Barbara Pratt's second, Ruth Cowan's third, and Doris Bickel's fourth.

Bloomfield Hills High School Football Squad Of 35 Completes 1936 Schedule

Thursday last week closed the 1936 football season at the Bloomfield Hills school on Vaughan Road. The season was remarkable in many ways. Out of forty-eight boys enrolled in the Hills High School, thirty-five played football. The boys participated in fourteen interscholastic practice games and five intra-mural contests. The school had three teams, the white team, consisting of boys weighing about 100 pounds, the Blue and White team and the heavy or Blue team. Inter-scholastic competition was largely between Bloomfield Hills and Cranbrook. However, teams from other schools were also so met.

In spite of the fact that so many boys participated and so many games were played there were relatively few injuries, in fact, at the close of the season only one of the thirty-five boys was unable to participate. Another interesting feature of the fall football program was the intra-mural schedule in which the boys played eight games in all, an eighty yard field. Mr. Richard Spiess, faculty manager of athletics, and Mr. Carl Wood, Director of Physical Education, had charge of the training and supervision of the fall football program.

BALDWIN HIGH-LIGHTS

By ANN NONIMOUS

Scene I takes place in the school auditorium and then out. Annie now has seen an honest to goodness movie in the making. . . . Heard a Deaf and dumb outfit was in town and so took my curiosity and tripped down to the corner of Baldwin and Maple. . . . Tears really something to behold, but methinks after nearly freezing to death, the completed movie is much warmer and exciting to whistle at on Saturday AM.

"Here comes the bride" was the general theme of the Pageant of Brides at the Presbyterian Church, Wednesday night. . . . Annie thought she was at wedding itself as she sat there looking at the arch of spruce boughs, white tapers and baby buns at the front of the church.

Jane Ellen Ford came first in the procession. She looked very glamorous in black silk and the most scrumptious black shawl with the longest fringe she has even had on the low-heeled slippers and the white stockings customary in 1600.

I reckon I said something last week about ribbon-cutting under the chin. . . . Well, Joann Billings had the ribbons plus the sound which controlled rhythmically by a whole straw flower garland.

Helen Shaver made her way down the aisle in a cinnamon brown affair and hat—if it could be called one. . . . Her dress had puffed sleeves, a red velvet and real bustle. . . . Frances Chandler wore a swell black beaded dress, hat and parasol to match.

Diverted my attention from the sights that were passing by to see Margaret Shirley Smith down in front and Jean Wakefield and Billy Howell. . . . Helen Tippet and Dorothy Taylor were there too. Joan Murry and Sally Hunter, two of Kingswood's students, came down to see Kitty Mead and Jean McKinney model the gowns of our grandmothers. . . . So now I've seen "wedding" dresses in review from 1850 to 1936. . . . Strange but there is quite a decided variation. . . . Cheerio!

Neighbors later discovered Mrs. Ireland's body on fire. Mrs. Ireland burned to death in her kitchen, her sister badly burned and her brother unharmed.

Field Hockey

The girls field hockey team of the Bloomfield Hills School met defeat last Tuesday, November 17th, at the hands of the girls from Kingswood. The final score of the game was 4 to 0. The game was hard fought throughout and a much closer battle than the score would indicate. In fact both teams left the field quite well satisfied. After the game, tea was served at Kingswood for the visiting girls.

Scout Party

Sixty-four scouts and their friends attended the second annual fall party of Boy Scout troop B-4. The party consisted of a scavenger hunt followed by refreshments served in the dimly lighted and attractively decorated school auditorium. The most successful group of "scavengers" were led by Bob Hall. Members of his group who brought in everything from a pint of baked beans to a policeman's signature were Grubbs, Hugh Gollygoly and Barbara Smith; Bob Lutz and Jane Cronwell; Bradley Higbie and Betty Smith; Charles Clarke and Jacqueline Bell.

MRS. SHAIN LEADS PANEL DISCUSSION AT BALDWIN HIGH

Air Clippers and War In Spain Are Subjects Students Review

A student panel discussion conducted by Mrs. Charles J. Shain was held Wednesday afternoon, November 18, in Baldwin High School. Students of History V, English V, Commercial Law, Spanish III, and English VI classes attended. The first discussion led by Peg Bailey, Bud Russell, Sam Bunn, Mary DeMing, and Muriel Bailey concerned the present war in Spain. Mr. Merriado, Spanish teacher, gave a brief talk expressing his ideas on the situation in Spain today. Mr. Merriado believes when every party wins, Spain will be the best and that trouble has been prolonged by the interference of foreign countries. The next discussion by Katherine Wygant, John Ferris, Kate DeMing, Robert Bolton, and Barbara Johnson concerned air clippers of today and their development during the past years.

Homerooms Prepare Baskets
Each homeroom of Baldwin High School will prepare a Thanksgiving basket for the needy families.

The students will bring various foods to fill the basket for their homerooms. The Student Congress will cooperate in delivering the baskets to the Community House.

Alumni Notes
Here are some more news from Ann Arbor. Nancy Strelinger and John Hulbert went down to Columbus last Saturday for the football game and for a fraternity dance that night. Kenneth Hunt, one of Baldwin's four-letter men, has gone out for the University's freshmen football team. Betty Kaura is enjoying practice-coaching the seventh grade at University High. Don Meyers has a part-time job at a book store on the campus this semester.

In honor of President Wood of Stevens College, the Sigma group of that college gave a dinner at the Women's League, last Friday evening. Janet P. Moody, Barbara Barton, Dorothy Ray, Esther Becker, and Virginia Robinson were Toast. Janet Peabody is the vice-president of the Alumnae organization and Esther Becker is the secretary-treasurer of same.

Miss McGiffin and Mr. Hart went over to Ann Arbor on November 21 to interview the Freshmen from Baldwin. They attended a luncheon given in honor of representatives of high schools all over the state, who were there for the same purpose. President Ruthven spoke at the luncheon and mentioned that the 25 Freshmen from Baldwin represent a larger group, in proportion to the size of the school, than any other high school in the state. Mr. Hart said that, generally speaking, all the students were getting along well, though many found the necessary adjustment great. He also said that they considered their high school preparation was very good.
