Fashion Tips

In a nutshell, some of the fall fashions are as follows: Directors in the favorite evening influence with high waists, tight bodices and necklines very low in front.

For street wear necklines are high, rarely lower than the base of the throat.

Skirts are fuller although straight skirts are worn.

Tunics are the outstanding line and much attention is paid to the backs of frocks.

Shoulders are not so high.

Shoes are very high, some reaching above the ankle.

Hats are high—the crowns of course, and daytime skirts are short.

The princess silhouette is very good.

Fabrics and furs are most important.

The newest fashion for after dark wear is the cocktail suit which is fourteen inches off the floor, has a high neckline in front and is low in the back under the snug little jacket. It can be put on at six and worn until after the party is over.

Winners Named In Garden Contest At Opening Meeting

The suspense created last spring with the opening of the "Before and After" contest and supplies of the Birmingham unit of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, ended Monday at the first meeting this year in the Community House with the announcement of the prize winners.

To enter the contest it was necessary to select some neglected spot in the yard or garden for improvement through the planting of flowers and shrubs or other artistic arrangement. Photographs were submitted at the beginning of the contest, and after the spot had been beautified.

Mrs. John H. Gordon of Baldwin avenue, was awarded first prize, a basket of canned goods and groceries donated by St. Louis Market, in the first class, making a family labor for the improvement of the property. Mrs. Gordon selected to beautify a vacant lot next door, which she and Dr. Gordon recently purchased. By planting and rearranging shrubs and plants, a most artistic effect was achieved.

Mrs. Lawrence E. Bostard of Bloomingdale village, was awarded the second prize, a lamp donated by the Hawthorne Electric Co. in the second class. The third prize in this class, a basket of groceries, contributed by the Birmingham
