Army Air Races To Feature Ten Aces

A world's record probably will be broken at the Army Air Field, Meigs Field, near Detroit, Mich., when ten daring pilots will race at 250 miles per hour for the famous Mitchell Trophy.

THE LANSING LOOKING-GLASS Robert Perkins

AMERICAN ATTENTION was focused upon Michigan this week as the visits of President Roosevelt and Governor Land to various points within the state aroused public interest and conjecture.

NOW THE BOYS who linger here in the capital over the week-end will have less difficulty finding something to do.

THE RECORDS show that New Deal experiments are supporting 200,000 more Government employees than were on the payroll when President Roosevelt inaugurated 3 1/2 years ago.

AND THEN HE got off one nag, which he thought rather appropriate. Said he: "I don't know how many have been made but no New Deal speaker has ever been able to explain the New Deal."

ONE OF MY political friends who likes delving into history and working out statistics figures out one out in connection with the QUEEN MARY.

THE ROAD HOOG. He's the family road hog. Now if you ever accuse him of it he will quote his experience of the road and say "What's new?"

WHITENOK HARVEST. Finch returns with a French breeze, Maxine by accident comes to "Rum" in Italy and goes off to New York to her home leaving him with all financial worries.

Howard Warner Is Following In His Father's Footsteps

"Like father, like son" is the best description of Howard H. Warner, son of former Governor Fred H. Warner, and the Republican candidate for state treasurer.

Warner's father struggled with and solved the problems of his community in the days of 1880. The son, as mayor of Farmington, came into office when that city's treasury was empty.

Warner's first act as mayor was to eliminate his saw mill and that of city commissioners. Next he slashed the budget.

Warner was the right man for the job. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the University of Toronto.

Your Taxes—Direct and Indirect BY RAYMOND FITCH

Students of government and its increasing demands on the family pocketbook have been pointing out in recent months the direct and indirect taxes.

As recently as 1928 they report the Federal government collected approximately one-third of its income from hidden or indirect taxes, and two-thirds from open or direct taxes.

By 1935 the picture had reversed itself. Then almost two-thirds of Federal income came from hidden taxes, and approximately one-third from direct taxes.

Because what direct taxes are levied principally on income, gifts, inheritances and the like, indirect taxes warn their way into bills for clothing, food, shelter and other purchases necessary to the American family.

Although ostensibly directed at other industries, the indirect taxes water's earnings after a sort of multiple pass from politician to politician.

Hidden taxes are by far means new. They have been increasing at American workers' earnings for many years.

Developed to their present proportions to help finance huge and wasteful expenditures by politicians, hidden taxes can be reduced by cutting such waste.

It's the responsibility of us, the people, to tell the politicians—who, under the Constitution, are subject to our control—that such waste, with its consequent raid on the family purse, must end. Or else!
