DOGS FROM 20 STATES COMPETE AT LOCAL SHOW

Last to parade before the officials was the non-sporting group, the French Bulldog champion, Miss Modesty, owned by John P. Maginnis, was awarded first place, followed by Vardonna Sonny Boy, English Bulldog.

Immediately following the judging of winners in each group the six leading dogs were brought before the judges. After careful observation, Lewis S. Worden, New York City, serving as the official, picking the best in show, selected the champion Doberman Pinscher, Jockel N. Bungalow, as the winner. Sixty prizes, including money awards and handsome trophies, were awarded to the breed and group winners. The attractive best in show trophy was offered by Mrs. C. H. Davis, Elbridge, N. Y., and several other prizes were given by Birmingham residents.

Two dogs finished their championship at this show. They are the English Bulldog, Vardonna Sonny Boy, owned by Mr. Edward M. Vardon, 12807 Woodward Avenue, and Thaidorf's Topsy, owned by Fred Thaidorf of Lansing.

The largest entry was in the Doberman Pinscher breed, 50 of those dogs being entered. Second were the Fox Terriers with 53, followed by English Setters with 36.

Judges for the show included Al. Fred. Belmont, Wynnewood, Pa.; Mrs. A. L. Cohen, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. C. H. Davis, Elbridge, N. Y.; and Lewis S. Worden of New York City.

Most of the dogs entered in the show participated in the Pontiac Kennel Club exposition, held in Pontiac Sunday.

HAMPTON NAMED HEAD OF TAXPAYERS' GROUP

Appointment of Verne C. Hampton as chairman of Oakland County of the taxpayers' division of the Republican National Committee was announced last Friday. Mrs. Gertrude Barrett has been named vice chairman of the county group and an active campaign is being planned to present federal tax facts to the public during the fall campaign.

Facts are being gathered and will be placed in the hands of the county taxpayers' organization which in turn will set up a speakers' bureau and other publicity media through which the facts can be placed before the voters before election and the time of the November election.

Complaint Made On Sewerage Disposal

Copies of a telegram sent to the State Board of Health in Lansing by William D. Thompson, a resident of the River Rouge valley, complaining of the condition of the river, due to the alleged pollution by the City of Birmingham's sewage disposal methods, and of the answer written by Milton C. Adams, executive secretary and engineer of the State Stream Control Commission, were referred to City Manager James W. Parry this week.

Mr. Adams points out that the state can in no way be held responsible in the case and that Mr. Thompson's only remedy is to bring suit against this city. The letter explains that the city, upon two occasions, has been unable to secure federal assistance in the financing of a proposed sewage disposal plant, which would effectively put an end to the pollution of the river.

A third application to the Works Progress Administration for financial assistance in the building of such a plant is pending in Washington, and Birmingham city officials are waiting for a decision on the matter.

Reading is considered important by the fact that his home library includes over 1000 good books, while an equal number of technical writings adorn the shelves in his Detroit law office.

As for sports, football is his favorite. He played on the DeLafayette, O. high school team. An evening of bridge is his hobby, but not for "blond."

Following two years at DeLafayette school, Mr. Martz enrolled at Michigan State University at East Lansing, where he proudly admits he played the cornet in the school band. He attended Ohio Wesleyan, graduating in three years by dint of hard study and then took his law course at Detroit College of Law, receiving an LL.B. degree in 1912.

Except for one year in the city, Mr. Martz has practiced his profession continuously in the Motor City.

We've taken up lots of space saying all this when, in reality, most of it can be easily had from a simple statement. Mayor John E. Martz is a grand fellow, a "swell" mayor and an interesting personality, all in all. "This is all."

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hardman of Doughkeepsie, N. Y., formerly of the city, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roger Showley of Bennett Street and renewing acquaintances with their many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardman have been on an extended trip through the middle West, visiting relatives and they included Birmingham in their itinerary for the return journey. A picnic supper was held for them at Springdale Park last night. They plan on departing for home this afternoon.

HALF-MINUTE INTERVIEWS

QUESTION: Do you think parades should be stationed at the intersection of the State Street and Quarter Schools to protect from traffic children coming to and leaving classes?

Mrs. James M. Anderson, 631 Southfield—"My children are school but even if they were not, I don't believe it should be necessary to station the police. Perhaps it would be a good idea for a few weeks in order to see how things work out from the parking driving."

Mr. Glenn C. Brown, 636 Lakeview—"I must assume that the suggestion is to have the police stationed at the intersection of State Street and Quarter Schools. I don't believe it is necessary to station the police at that intersection. I don't believe it is necessary to station the police at that intersection. I don't believe it is necessary to station the police at that intersection."

Mrs. C. W. Moore, 255 Greenwood—"I believe it would be a very wise plan. I have no objection but I feel sure it is a necessary thing. If only one little child was saved through the year, it would certainly prove worthwhile."

Mrs. A. T. Love, 607 Vine—"Although it might prove costly, I think the children should be protected at all times. Children are our future citizens as well as our future citizens. I don't believe it is necessary to station the police at that intersection. I don't believe it is necessary to station the police at that intersection."

Mrs. H. W. Baxter, 752 Ann—"The children should have some protection beyond a doubt. Of course, traffic safety is taught in the schools, but children are not thoughtful about obeying rules. It would be impossible to have an officer stationed at the intersection to the children, I mean. A policeman would carry much more weight with them than traffic signals, signs, etc. I think the policeman's time would be well spent if he were stationed at the schools, especially at the busy times."

Mrs. W. W. Caslet, 2023 Lincoln street—"The children should be all means be protected against automobile traffic. There aren't any rights and just a few signs to safeguard them as it now is. As to the policeman, I should think that in a town of the size with a few officers it would be much more advisable to organize a safety patrol unit in the school. It has been done successfully in many other places, and I think it would solve the difficulty and at the same time leave the police free to attend to their other duties. The motorist public is becoming educated by the safety patrol and they are more careful where used. Something is undoubtedly necessary, though, for some motorists don't give two hoots for anyone but themselves."

Banks and with the experience gained in last year's games should prove to be hard men for opponents to handle. Jack Seeliger at present has the edge on Junior Forester as the team position and will undoubtedly appear in the starting lineup. Forester is showing much promise, however, and will probably see more action this season.

Although the veterans are on hand for the boys, Junior Forester and Zerk were also seen working up the hillside of Lake Park and are expected to give good accounts of themselves at the first football game, which will be played between the two teams at the stadium on Saturday.

Mrs. C. W. Moore, 255 Greenwood—"I believe it would be a very wise plan. I have no objection but I feel sure it is a necessary thing. If only one little child was saved through the year, it would certainly prove worthwhile."

Bill Biggers, veterans from the 1935 season, are back in uniform and have given notice that the middle of the Baldwin line will be a tough spot to crack. Coach Engel expects several more candidates to report after the opening of school next Monday, and a reserve team will be formed which will play a schedule of six or seven games in October and November.
