trips to nature study lectures, Art Museum lectures, and other events will be planned.

The organization will promote with others the Cranbrook High School boys and girls conference on October 17, the state Older Boys conference at Pontiac November 27, 28 and 29, State Youth Conference at Ann Arbor September 26, and other conferences of parents and youth.

The Y. M. C. A. Board has appointed a committee to cooperate in the organization of the Community Hallowe'en observance, while Father and Son celebrations will be promoted in February with other community events to be arranged.

A committee will be formed to provide counselling facilities to boys and both young men and young women who have questions regarding vocations or personal matters.

An extensive summer program will be planned later in the season. Robert D. Lynd, the General Secretary with offices in the Community House, states that this will be a real upturn in activity and service to the local youth through the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Ernest W. Seaholm, the president of the camp is already planning extensive improvements at Camp Mahn-go-tah-see, the Y camp where over 60 boys attended from Birmingham this summer.

Mr. Moody is rounding up the organization for the campaign and expects that all records will be beaten as people become familiar with the extent of the proposed program.

ROCHESTER GARDEN CLUBS HEAR LAIRD

Edward H. Laird, well known local landscape architect, addressed a meeting of the Rochester branch of the National Farm and Garden Clubs Monday afternoon, choosing as his subject, "Fall Care of Gardens."

Mr. Laird, who previously has spoken to various farm and garden clubs in Detroit and other cities within the state on the subject of gardening and landscaping, confined his remarks to the Rochester women's group to technical advice on what to do in preparing gardens for the coming Winter season.

Mr. Laird will speak to the Brighton Garden Clubs in October.

TO PREACH SUNDAY

Dr. A. F. Johnson To Give Final Sermon On Sunday Morning

Dr. A. F. Johnson, Baptist Minister from Albuquerque, New Mexico, who came by plane from that city last week to preach at the First Baptist Church here, is meeting with an enthusiastic welcome. A near capacity congregation attended his service last week, and it is expected that this Sunday will see another record crowd present to hear him deliver his final sermon here before returning to New Mexico.

Following Sunday school at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, Rev. Johnson will preach at the 11 o'clock worship, his subject being, "The Golden Assets of The Church."

The B. Y. P. U. will meet at 6:30 o'clock that evening with Mr. Lundberg serving as counsellor while evening church service will begin at 7:30 o'clock. "Proving Youth" will be the theme for the worship service. Parents will be guest of honor.

It was announced that Reverend Johnson will leave by plane immediately following Sunday services here to fill an important preaching engagement.

HEAVY REPUBLICAN VOTE IS CAST IN PRIMARY ELECTION

as against his nearest competitor, total of three. In the Hills voting for coroner Bell was given 154 ballots, Kimball 290, Brace 22 and Voorhees 24 by Republicans while the Democrats favored Henderson with a majority of 12.

Lynn Allen drew 172 votes for county clerk, topping Greenhalgh, who received 18. Leigh Smith finished second to Clark in the balloting for County Drain Commissioner, the latter getting 92 votes to Smith's 24.

Voting Machines Success

Evidence that the new voting machines proved a success in the local balloting is found in the fact that little, if any, trouble was experienced by the average voter in manipulating the devices. In addition, tabulation of the votes was affected by 11 o'clock Tuesday night while the old method took approximately six or eight hours longer.

bring progress, integrity and social security to Michigan."

Referring to Roosevelt, Murphy said that the President was meeting all problems with courage and a spirit of adventure, applied to changing social and economic conditions. He pointed out that the nation's chief executive has been successful in affecting recovery while Landon, not mentioning the depression or what he might have done in 1932, criticizes what has been accomplished.

Murphy urged a teacher's tenure law and pensions after 30 years of service. He asked that welfare agencies be consolidated and removed from political administration, and stressed the value of Civil Service, asserting that it gives permanency to careers and saves money for the government by preventing excessive turnover.

Referring to social security, the Democratic candidate asked pensions for mothers with dependent children, and others who are crippled or blind. In summarizing the work of Roosevelt, Mr. Murphy concluded with, "The President through his administration has interpreted the Declaration of Independence by having the courage to meet new economic condition in a fearless manner. The Administration is making the average man secure. Business is better, banks and depositors are more secure, farm prices have improved and there has been a great advance in employment."

Hotdog—What's the matter with your wife? She looks all broken up.

Soybean—She got a terrible shock.

Hotdog—How was that?

Soybean—She was assisting at a rummage sale at the church and she took off her new $2 hat and somebody sold it for 30 cents.

Candidate—Can any of you recall a time in my life when I was afraid to call a spade a spade?

Voice—No, and neither can anyone remember when you that would have been the last thing he would do.

Hands and use it.

PRESBYTERIAN GROUP TO ELECT OFFICERS

Presbyterian Young People of First Church will elect new officers on Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. The purpose of this group as it begins its new year of work will be the theme of worship and discussion. Donald Clark is the leader. Refreshments and a social hour follow the discussion.

Seniors, misfits and tenth grade pupils will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Woolfenden for recreation and outlining of plans for the fall work. Seventh and eighth grade pupils will be organized into their own group in the near future.

Fine for Campus

This autumn ensemble makes an ideal outfit for the College Miss, but it is practical and unusual enough for wear almost anywhere. Rochelle Hudson, film star, shown wearing the jacket suit with matching cape coat, chooses black accessories. The jacket and coat are of Oxford gray wool, the emerald green blouse is of Bagheera crepe and the skirt is black.

HALF-MINUTE INTERVIEWS

Question: Do you think it would be a good idea to establish a "donation fund" for the coming Halloween Festival for local youth, such contributions going to defray expenses and make the affair a general community project.

Mrs. Robert Chrisus, 1168 Cedar—"I believe the plan would take the strain from local organizations as most of them have their budgets filled now. Collection boxes in business establishments appear proper to me. I think such a method for raising funds for the affair would help to keep the festival strictly a community project.

Charles J. Shain, 813 Pierce—"While the creation of a donation fund probably is a good idea I wouldn't want to see the project made commercial in any way. The local festival is one of the things that gets filled now. Collection boxes in business establishments appear proper to me. I think such a method for raising funds for the affair would help to keep the festival strictly a community project.

Howard C. Crull, Director of Schools—"I think it is a community responsibility to assist in this endeavor and make it a worthwhile project. It is not a privilege but a real responsibility and the giving of time and service is just as important as the donation of money. However, I see nothing wrong with placing collection boxes around town to receive voluntary offerings."

Forbes S. Hascall, Municipal Judge—"I think a donation fund could be raised by placing collection boxes in various local business establishments. I see nothing objectionable in such an undertaking cooperate in carrying out the work. It is true that the festival is strictly a community project and a very worthwhile affair but to many times we find only a few sharing the burden of donations. It also should be kept in mind that considerable time and service from individuals will be necessary to make the Halloween party a complete success."

C. W. Grey, City Manager—"I believe a 'little community chest' would prove effective in raising funds for the festival, providing the service clubs would get behind it and cooperate to carry out the work. I do not feel that the money should be used for the project worthy as it undoubtedly is."

GARDENER HERE WINS 14 FIRST PRIZES AT FAIR

George Leslie, Garden Brookside School, was awarded 14 first prizes for cut flowers at the Michigan State Fair. The flowers included large zinnias and asters in different colors, and marigolds, for which he received three firsts. He also received second and third prizes for potted begonias and ferns.

THIS AND THAT

more, though. Let us hope that the political spell under which the nation's economy was cast that of his words and deeds, will be lifted. Olympian overhead steel girder. But from what I could follow, I didn't catch much but a general harangue against both Roosevelt and Landon, some meaningless wisecrack—not a single logical development of debate on the subject of national committees and economic system. And many times Lemke vigorously flouted that "I'm not going to the next President in the United States." Boy, you could almost feel him sitting in the Lincoln study, in the White House, saying that his shoe-against-blank-face that instance happened.

B. F. Stephenson, Detroit real estate factor, who is chairman of the NUSJ group in Michigan acted as chairman of the meeting. A presiding officer of that type, the way is thus you could hardly make out what he was saying. Then he sat on the stage admiring what were looking for would this be tongue out two or three inches, a thing to drop thought, or some thing. I really don't know. Lemke's long harangue at Lemke's Coughlin perhaps was merely in said remin-cence of a yearly development. Gerald Smith, of the Detroit Economic Royal Oak, was in years going by when he acted assisted in the special announcement of those days to bring out the inevitable — and hearty — laugh.

Boy, how both Lemke and Coughlin laughed at their own and the jokes. Reporting the technical delight of the hilarious mood brought on by the Lemke-Coughlin-Smith ticket, we were told that Bloomfield Hills' Father Coughlin, who, by the way, is a member of the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, and who is known to be a golfer of no mean ability, was in the habit of wearing a silk hat. Bloomfield Hills' Father Coughlin, who, by the way, is a member of the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, and who is known to be a golfer of no mean ability, was in the habit of wearing a silk hat. Bloomfield Hills' Father Coughlin, who, by the way, is a member of the Bloomfield Hills Country Club, and who is known to be a golfer of no mean ability, was in the habit of wearing a silk hat.

The chap who played the great Barton organ at Olympia that night is from Chicago. There he regularly presides over the organ at the Chicago Stadium and the ship named Normandie visits both Chicago and Detroit frequently. This organist's name is Al Melgard, and of course he is a member of the Lakeside Country Club. He owns a summer cottage near Ludington and I've known him on some trips I've had to go to play the Detroit Civic Opera House. He's a swell fellow, and I'm glad he's getting the big money, but he probably knows I was a Republican and wouldn't follow my advice. But he did write me a very nice letter, and I'm sure he'll be glad to get back to playing the New York Paramount in memory of the former friendship existing between A. Smith and Father Coughlin. (Incidentally, Al Melgard told me that many times at various industrial and local events, he has been approached by opponents of the national administration to play something that would be embarrassing. Once the Democrat tried to get him to play "Sweet Adeline" which was Herbert Hoover's favorite tune, but Al refused. I can't blame him, don't you? Mr. Melgard, who is a real musician, is entitled to more opportunity to show his talents.

Altogether it was an interesting and enjoyable evening at Olympia. But as I related at the beginning of this column, it was much too long and I'm sure that many went away before the final number. Nothing was said about the national committee meeting to be held in Cleveland, where Mr. Landon will be notified of his nomination for President. Nothing was said about Alf M. Landon, Kansas governor, who is a member of the Kansas Kiwanis Club. And he lives just a few miles from Birmingham, in the city that was named after a nut—the Royal Oak that sprung from an acorn.
