Musicale Outlook Bright, Program Hints

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles by Marie Elaine Porter showing the relation of women's organizations to community life in Birmingham, and how these groups influence the city's civic and cultural interests.

Judging from even a tentative program, the year's outlook for the Birmingham Musicales is a promising one. This is the group that seeks to develop local interest in music, and to keep the spark of appreciation aglow by offering programs and concerts of varied appeal.

Mrs. L. H. Thomas of Westwood drive will direct the activities as president again this season, with Mrs. D. L. Tate of Westchester as chairman of the program committee.

Objectives of the Musicales will be carried out in the program, which though still in the formative stage sets forth some of the highlights of the year. In addition to the regular program, the Musicales is planning an innovation for members in the way of a lecture course on musical subjects.

Lectures are Innovation
The lectures, which will probably begin after the Christmas holiday, will be offered to small study groups meeting in the homes of members. Although plans have not been completed as yet, it is probable that the lectures will cover a variety of topics relating to music and its allied interests.

The Musicales will open its season with a meeting Thursday, Oct. 8, at the Community House. The program will include vocal duets by Mrs. Frederick A. Prothero and Mrs. William E. Byers. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Mary Johnson on an appropriate program of piano solos also. In addition, Mrs. Norman Kyle will give a resume of current events in music.

Although plans are still tentative for the November meeting, it is hoped that the program will be for and on those quiet instrumentalists of a bygone era. This program will be presented at the home of Mrs. E. H. G. Potter of Arlington drive.

Concert Annual Event

Scheduled in the program are an unchanging from year to year, among which is the annual Christmas concert, sponsored by Mrs. E. H. G. Potter and held at Christ Church (Cranbrook). For January, according to plans at the present, the program will be a section on American music with special emphasis on Negro spirituals and hymns. Mrs. J. J. Kelly's lecture will be accompanied by vocal and piano numbers exemplifying the type of music included in her talk, to be given by members of the Musicales.

Mrs. George Turner and Mrs. J. J. Kelly, Jr., will be in charge of the program for February, which will be a costume rental to be given by members. For the March season an appropriate program of sacred music will be offered in the Baptist church. Other programs to be held during the year will be an "exchange" program with the Tuesday Musicales of Pontiac, and the January program, for which are still under consideration of particular interest will be the Men's Night program to be held some time during November at the Community House. There will be a dinner followed by a recital by the Brown sisters of the Bondstone School of Music.

Sponsors Many Activities
Besides extending its members opportunity for extensive study of music, the Musicales has sponsored various other activities. It has been materially in charge of the phase of the piano for the Community House, for which it is still endeavoring to complete the payments. The Musicales has provided a part-scholarship to the National School of Music, near Traverse City, for talented young musicians from Birmingham.

Under the direction of Frederick A. Prothero, a chorus of 40 voices, presents two programs a year, the Christmas festival of carols and hymns, and a spring concert to which the public is invited. Membership in the Musicales is divided into departments, for active members including accompanists, pianists, vocalists, organists, church singers, soloists, and privileged active members. Associate members are those with an understanding of the theory of music, who are able to discuss musical topics and anticipate the performance of a piece.

The Musicales was founded in October, 1926, by a group including Mrs. Leslie G. Lambert, Mrs. W. Whittier Bay, and Mrs. Helen Starnes, who felt the need of an organization able dedicated to the interests of music.

Brings Artists Here

One of the objectives of the organization has been to bring good music to Birmingham. For years an artist concert has been held of which some of the notable celebrity of musical groups is brought to Birmingham under auspices.

Assisting Mrs. Thomas in directing this year will be Mrs. P. H. Michalski as the new membership chairman, Mrs. F. W. Byers as the budget chairman, Mrs. C. E. Rutledge will be chairman of the chorus, and Mrs. E. G. Potter will be in charge of publicity.

BIGGS-HARRINGTON NUPTIALS SPOKEN

Hills Chapel Is Selling For Marriage Solemnized On Saturday

Both unions have their originator of J. Edgar Harrington of Quantico road and Andrew Wright Burge of Flint, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Burge of Delton, Del.

Miss Burge's wedding was a simple ceremony in the chapel of Christ Church Cranbrook, Saturday at 11 o'clock. The Rev. W. Hamilton Aulbach, assistant pastor officiated.

An afternoon frock of flannel, blue and white, was worn by the bride, which also a small hat of Navy blue and accessories of the same shade. A corsage of red and white roses completed her costume.

The bride's only attendant, Florence Lee Pacific, wore an all-annual costume of brown and white trimmed with fur, a brown hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of geraniums.

Robert P. Harrington, teacher of the bride, performed the duties of best man for Mr. Burge. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Burge left on a motor journey through Northern Michigan. Mr. Oct. 1, they will be at home at 1628 Beaumont street in Flint.

Two-Way Costume for Fall Wear

With a change of hat and a knack of wearing or not wearing the jacket, Gladys Swarthout, one of the movie's singing stars, may make this outfit serve the purpose of two or three dresses. The base of this fall creation is a one-piece, short-sleeved frock with a narrow white relief about the neckline. Over this goes a beautiful cut jacket with criss-cross ties of the crepe at a normal waistline.

WHITE PREVAILS AT HILLS CEREMONY

Couple To Live in Ann Arbor Following Journey To Muskoka Lakes

White prevailed at the lovely wedding ceremony in Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday, when Marie Jane Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Brown of 2770 South Main, William Ingraham Ross, son of Mrs. Howard G. Ross of Woodland avenue, spoke their nuptial vows.

The service was read graciously by a group of students from the Rev. W. Hamilton Aulbach, assistant pastor.

The bridegroom of white satin was fashioned on simple lines, with a small round collar and dove-tailed to the elbow and light to the wrist. A white satin girdle cinched at the waistline. Extension to the floor and the skirt ended in a train of medium length. The white veil of medium and long tulle bouquet, a combination of gardenias centered with orchids.

As maid of honor, Betty Brown, sister of the bride, wore a white and blue gown of white tulle, of long length. Over her bodice was a long-sleeved jacket with the puffed sleeves. She wore a small white hat, and carried a shower bouquet of gardenias.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Aaron S. Brown and Nancy Smith of 2021 Highland Hill, Pauline Andrews and Sylvia Callender of Detroit, Mary Adelaide Jones of Grand Rapids and Marjorie Beaudette of Pontiac, were similarly attired in white tulle frocks, modeled on the lines of the bride's gown, but with the fullness accentuated on skirts and sleeves.

Edward Ross was best man for his brother, and those ushering were Harold N. Darwick, Walter Jones of Grand Rapids, James Bragaw, Harry Dowd of Safford, W. M. Joann Howard of Detroit and Edmund Hoover of Cleveland.

Mrs. Brown's gown was of white crepe, with a white collar. Her veil was a black crepe, with a small white hat and carried shower bouquet of gardenias.

Fashion Tips

Two surprises in the coat world are caused by the popularity of Princess coats and of the demand for long fur. Princess coats are giving the swaggar coats a close race for top place in the fashionable world much to the surprise of the designer.

Coarsely woven tweeds with many colorful nubs are the very thing for the cool weather of the autumn.

Wool jumper dresses with rows of gay stitching can be worn with colored blouses. These are nice for the college girls or their small sister.

For these younger folks, velveteen is a leading material.

And the young miss will want a nice dress as well for mother.

With few exceptions the necklines of the autumn are high.

Wear your skirt at least 13 inches from the floor in the day time.

Brighten up the dark frock with gay ornaments or belts etc. Girdles made of antelope and embroidered in bright wools are in on an other dark mode, by one designer, very effectively.

Knit Suits
Cleaned and Blocked

Our special formula for each kind of wool cleans the material in the wool and keeps them like new.
