COUGHS LEAD TO CONSUMPTION by Schettler Drug Co.

Almost the first indication of that dreaded malady, consumption, is a cough. Often it is not a severe cough, just a slight hacking that does not seem to mean much as a symptom.

Medical science has armed itself with weapons against tuberculosis. The fight may be long and arduous, but it can be won, if the patient gives full co-operation.

The first step, of course, is to consult a capable practitioner. Any delay makes recovery longer, more doubtful. Never neglect a cough, no matter how slight. It is Nature's first warning.

If the doctor shakes his head, over the cough and prescribes a strict regimen of living, such as rest, a well rounded diet, perhaps a drier climate, do not neglect a single word of his advice.

Along with his advice, we will prescribe medicines designed to assist your recovery. We fill prescriptions exactly as the doctor desires.

Fashion Tips

Easter bonnets were very gay. Sailors will probably take the lead very shallow ones were far favored.

Fruit flowers, birds, butterflies and ribbon make the Easter parade a colorful affair.

Although crowns are shallow, they are cleverly fitted and stay snugly on the head.

A favorite trimming of the small toque or cushion-brimmed hat is that of a large flower adorning the back. Magnolias, gardenias and camellias are favorites.

Skirts continue to hold the interest of the designers. Many of them are knife-pleated. The skirts of coats are sometimes split in the back so as to show gay colored frills as they fly open.

The most popular style coat for daytime is the redingote.

Belts are narrower. Some have buckles of leather. Others are fashioned of patent.
