

We hear so much about the limitations of human nature; if we are supposed to be "divine creatures," why should we accept these limitations illegally imposed upon us?

FIFTY-NINTH YEAR—NO. 52

FREE COOKING SCHOOL AND STYLE SHOW

Sponsored By The Birmingham Eccentric and
A Group of Local Business Houses

Next Tuesday and Wednesday
APRIL 6th and 7th

at the

Community House

DOORS OPEN AT 9 A. M. LECTURES BEGIN AT 9:30

Bessie G. Wright, nationally-known economist, of the Homemakers Institute of Domestic Science, will be here, to demonstrate new dishes and new methods of cookery. Her lectures on home-making and the proper preparation of food are valuable to all housewives. Mrs. Wright will be assisted by Mrs. M. McDonald.

Free prizes will be awarded at each session, and on the last day many valuable grand prizes will be given. The list of prizes is much longer than any ever given away before, and all are well worth having.

These two days will be red letter days for the housewives of Birmingham and vicinity, who will learn how to prepare tasty meals and at the same time prepare them economically. The Cooking School will open at 9:30 o'clock each day. The doors will open at 9:00 o'clock. Those who attend are urged to bring pencil and paper with them so they may take notes as Mrs. Wright explains her favorite recipes and demonstrates the proper method of preparing meals.

FREE DOOR PRIZES FREE SAMPLES EACH DAY

Everyone who comes will hear Mrs. Wright, nationally-known cooking expert, give valuable cooking hints—suggestions that will help every housewife with her cooking problems. By watching her demonstration, housewives will see first-hand the latest innovations in cooking science.

An experienced cooking authority Mrs. Wright has devoted her life to the study of home-cooking and has traveled throughout the United States to lecture before many women on the subject.

The local unit of the D. J. Healy Company will present a miniature style show which will be most interesting and worthwhile. Smart models will be presented garbed in the season's newest and most thrilling styles. Sports wear, afternoon frocks and evening formals will be presented and all with the purpose of giving the Birmingham ladies a peek at what will be "the thing to wear" during the coming months.
