BACKFEARICING BY A MAN ABOUT TOWN

Well, it's column writing time again and it is raining pitch-forks out of doors, which of course is not news. Must be that the rain slows things up in general, business and news events in particular, as there does not seem to be much doing around the four corners these last few days.

And for your immediate consideration—KEEP THE HEART OF BIRMINGHAM ALIVE! DETROIT BUSINESS MEN who live in Birmingham should know and be pleased at the efficient and helpful SERVICE available from the Board of the Eccentric. We have two street-walkers—Hubbard, Hildebrand and... four salesmen, an editor, seven clerks.

Word comes back from the Rotary Conference at Ypsilanti that Millard Plummer, representative of the Local Club at the Junior Rotary meeting, gave a very good account of himself when he was called upon to speak at a group meeting. It seems that the various Junior representatives before an assembly of Rotarians who are particularly interested in this phase of the new Youth program in Rotary. A local Rotarian who sat in on a three hour discussion by the boys stated that he was really thrilled by the "speeches" of the future men of America.

Mr. J. C. Cook, supervisor of the Electrical division of Consumers Power Co., in the area, stated in reply to our questioning about business conditions that there was no question about the small business here and his gear as far as his company was concerned. He stated that in 1936 their sales far surpassed those of 1929, and that so far this year their sales had so far outdistanced previous years that it was a fair comparison. This was not only true of their own activities but also applied to dealers who handle electrical and gas appliances.

Some one asked us the other day whether or not the dog quarantine was still on in Birmingham. I could not answer their question, but must agree with the person who was in doubt about it, that there certainly are a lot of none too friendly animals running loose around the streets these days—and nights. It does give one a sort of creepy feeling to have a prowling dog sneaking up on one's heels when sauntering along the street after the hours of night have fallen. Oh, for the life of a dog carrier.

A local Boy Scout, who was selected to represent his troop at the National Scout Jamboree which is to be held in Washington during the coming summer, found out that the phrase, "One gets out of a thing only in proportion to that which he puts into it," is not merely an old saying. A year or two ago he was becoming disinterested and thus ardent in Scouting and was on the verge of quitting. Wise counsel advised him to continue in scouting, but to become more active, to put more into it in the hopes that he would become enthusiastic and thus enjoy the full benefits of the program. He followed that advice and became an outstanding scout. "A scout in every sense of the word. He is a better scout today—a better boy—and he'll be a better man—all because he entered into a good program, entered into it with all his enthusiasm and carried out his part of the work. He has won his first reward. Many
