

COMMITTEES PLAN FOR HOLIDAY HOP

Allied Youth Post Picks Workers For Annual Xmas Dance

The Birmingham Allied Youth post is sponsoring a holiday dance to be held at the Community House on Wednesday, Dec. 29, from nine 'til one. Bill Boyd's orchestra has been secured for the affair, which is open to the general public.

Members of the ticket committee announce that the tickets will go on sale on Monday, Dec. 6. They may be secured through any member of the organization. Jim Conwell, president of the local chapter, is general chairman of the affair, assisted by several sub-chairmen and their committees. Ruth Jackson is chairman of the publicity committee, working with Arthur Maclean and Marjorie Mintling.

Harold Geagie, chairman; Harry Cowell and Ruth Hodgson comprise the orchestra committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Cuthbertson, of Chester street, had as their guests for the week-end, Mr. Cuthbertson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cuthbertson, of Sarnia, Ont.

AT LaBelle's

Women's Club Will Hear Address By Critic

The Literature Department of the Birmingham Women's Club, under the chairmanship of Mrs. R. W. Bricker, is in charge of the organization's next meeting, to be held Tuesday at the Community House, at 2 p. m.

Principal speaker of the afternoon will be Dr. Kathryn Robb, instructor of creative writing at Margrove College, in Detroit. Her subject will be "Propaganda in Literature." She will be introduced by Mrs. William O. Merrill, of Long Lake road.

Dr. Robb is a member of the society of American Pen Women. Her work as a poetry critic brought her a position as critic in the State Federation Poetry Contest. In her present position, she is doing outstanding work in the development of talent and technique among college students.

Cemetery Auxiliary Names Officers For Year

Mrs. John Rainey is the new president of the Franklin Cemetery Auxiliary, following the group's recent election, at the home of Mrs. Myra Bassett, on Lakeview drive.

Others who will serve include Mrs. Herbert Masters, vice-president; Mrs. Floyd Beardlee, second vice-president; Mrs. Harold Progt, secretary; Mrs. Richard Harrack, assistant secretary; Mrs. William Clements, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Bingham, assistant treasurer and Mrs. Iva Dear, auditor.

Mrs. Masters is also in charge of the organization's next meeting, which will take the form of a pot-luck luncheon. It will be held at the American legion home at one p. m., on Thursday, Dec. 9.

MOTHERS TO MEET TEACHERS AT TEA

Junior High Pupils To Act As Escorts For P. T. A. Affair

Students at Baldwin junior high school will escort their mothers to a tea, to be sponsored by the Baldwin Parent Teacher Association, on Thursday, Dec. 9, at 4 p. m. in room 101 of the school. As the guests of the boys and girls, the mothers will meet all the junior high school students at the affair.

The students will also take part in the program, which is to be presented during the afternoon. They will provide music with a mixed chorus, under the direction of Miss Edith Kosch. James Murray, who is acting in the capacity of Junior Counselor will also address the group.

The refreshments will be served by the junior high school home economics department classes, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Miller. All students of Baldwin junior high school and their mothers are cordially invited to attend the tea.

PARENTS REVEAL TROTH

A widely known Birmingham couple whose engagement is announced this week is Margaret Frances Anderson and Alton Haack. News of the betrothal is made through Mr. and Mrs. David E. Anderson, of Harrow road, parents of the bride-elect. Mr. Haack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haack, of Southfield road. No date has been set for the wedding.

Both Miss Anderson and Mr. Haack are graduates of Baldwin high school.

Orville H. Foster Jr., of Arlington drive, left Monday for New York city, where he will spend the week.

Guests From East Inspire Round Of Parties

Mrs. Edgar Parks, of Pierce street, was hostess during the past week to her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Baldwin, and their daughter, Barbara Nina, of Freeport, Long Island. Mrs. Baldwin is the former Nina Johnston.

Honoring her guests, Mrs. Parks entertained at Thanksgiving dinner in her home, and with an informal Sunday dinner for a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Digby, of Detroit, feted the travelers and their hostess at dinner Friday night.

On Saturday, the party was also honored at a dinner given by Miss Leihls and Miss Ella Davenport, in their home on East Maple avenue. Sunday morning was the scene of a breakfast, tendered by Miss Edna and Miss Louisa Clawson, of Royal Oak.

On Monday, the Baldwin party left by motor for California, where they have made plans to spend the winter.

Holy Name P. T. A. To Hear Speaker At First Meet

Miss Ellen Miller, of the Merrill-Palmer school, in Detroit, will be the speaker at the first official meeting of the newly-formed Holy Name school Parent Teacher Association. The meeting will be held at the school at 3:30 p. m., Monday, with Mrs. Henry M. Foley, president, in charge.

Officials of the group have signified their intention of holding at least some of their monthly meetings in the evening, to enable the fathers to attend. The group is unique, in that it consists of the few such associations formed in a Catholic school.

College Knowledge

By SOPHIE MORE

It is absolutely anything more fun than running into tens of thousands of your best pals and buddies, wherever you go? Of course not, and that's just what you did over the week-end, too. Saw and heard so many that probably half your mind will be left out through sheer weariness on the part of your half-witted pal rather than of choice. However . . .

Betty Stauffer's open house. Thanksgiving eve, was quite the most favorable spot in town for picking out reunion notes. Couldn't name all of those who drifted in 'n' out if I tried, but here are some. The fair hostess had herself a right fetching black velvet shawl, with identical rhinestone clips at the square neck. (It's, not hers, you dummies.) House-guest Alice Long was in black, too, with a striped sheer top and a neat bit of work with white gardenias at the collar. Both are from State, of course, along with Faye Smith. The latter sported a brown wool suit with a bit of a bright accent. Noel Dweley, also of State, was in black, too, and burbling about the K Phi dance, at the Book, which she attended the following night with Bud Middlebrook. He was at the open house, too.

The Sears sisters, which sounds almost like a vaudeville act, were chatting with Dike (Denison) Dweley when they popped into Sophie's view. Betty had a black job on, with multi-colored dots made out of string. Barb sheen in brown, with a pair of jeweled spiders on her shoulder.

Another Denisonian was Peggy Reid, in powder blue with garnet buttons. (Sh-sh! Big stuff.) We hear she's all ready to be pledged to Delta Gam when that swell group gets its Denison chapter established!

Ginny Thompson, in red wool trimmed with white, was around with Tom Ratney and no appendix. She headed back for the city at the beginning of the second semester. And through her we met a lady named Miss Stauffer, whose family moved to their new home on Kimberly road this fall. Harriet, in black, had a very nice suit, a bright print blouse, is a tall, stunning brunette, and if you don't meet her soon, it's your loss. She's a junior at Ohio Wesleyan, and a sister in Kappa Alpha Theta.

Oh the PEPU! We saw over that of the Basie Root, Tubby (Francis) Allen, Clyde Bennett, all leaning against a piano and talking like mad. We saw Jerry Lee, too, who says Michigan is more fun than fool!

And we met sister Peg's house guests, Edith and Alice. Edith, in black and grey wool when we met, with a garnet ascot and lit' wooden axes for buttons. Banny, in blue wool with an alligator belt. And their hostess sported a blue and black check number, complete with Gamma Phi pledge button and black frogs.

Oh! why didn't we hear this before! The aforementioned Missy Stauffer has recently been named as a member of the technical crew for the college's next play. And she was leading lady in "First Lady," which was the first big thing they did this fall. The play on which she swells the stage crew is, "Bury the Dead." To be given next week!

Lucy Preston, in black taffeta, brought good news indeed. Seems she wears now the red and white pleated ribbon Saraton, (that at Olivet, we heard), pinned on with their lovely active pin. By now they're all ready to attend, and she'll have a pledge button all her own. Nice!

Adel, who had a lot of trucking 'round was composed of two house-guests and two local ladies, from Hamilton, Ontario, was one. He stayed with brother-Beta Bab Watt, and was bearing Trub Saeger. The latter had velvet with slashes of white lace. Very fetching. The other was Liz Robinson's surprise package. He's Jim Beaser, from Alabama, a Phi Kappa Sigma at Ann Arbor, and knows everybody. His special interest is the Daily, of which he has been summer school editor and associate ditto at different times. Don't even ask where we saw 'em, but Liz wore brown, with jewel tone trimming and a matching halo velvet hat.

Janet Hart was around, with Don Seriven. Janet wore sand wool, with a contrasting skull cap. Adela Cole had an outfit very much like it when we seen her.

Met John Ritchie for the first time. He's an A. T. O. at Purdue, and was talking to Steve Wyzant, who'd returned up over his job and brand new promotion. Be it known that he's now assistant manager of the media department of one of the biggest advertising agencies. Also saw Harvey Whalen. He says he's keeping the stock market going and it's keeping him going 'till 'round in circles. Here's something else to credit to his account.

Said he, "My two bit haircut was the most astounding thing I ever lived through. And it's astounding that I ever lived through it."
