Congressional Comment

Representative George A. Dyer of Michigan
1709 Michigan Building

Remarks of Rep. George A. Dyer, Democrat, on the subject of the tariff control, delivered on the floor of production of commodities raised as reported in the Congressional Record:

Mr. Chairman, it is conceded that this is not a price fixing bill. Its main objective is the control of production of five commodities named in the measure, namely: wheat, corn, cotton and tobacco.

I do not believe that the farmers of my district want this form of legislation. The president of the National Farm Bureau, Mr. Edward G. Wood, in his reply to my letter, says it does not suit him, because the compulsory provisions of the bill are not strong enough to suit it. The National Grange says it does not want this bill because it contains "most" legislation, or compulsory provisions. I quote its position:

"We are strongly of opinion that the new legislation should be based on the idea of voluntary control on the part of the government. We are strongly of opinion that under no circumstances should the government have so much control over the production of any particular crop, or how much or how little they should place on the market. There can be no such thing as a majority, unless the government is a majority, and the government is a minority in matters of this kind."

medities, similar to or substituted for, those produced on American farms rose by 35 percent over the floor year of 1933-34. The value of American farm exports, on the other hand, declined by 4 percent in the same period. The value of the foreign demand situation. As a result the competitive imports exceeded agricultural exports for the first time on record.

That report shows that we imported, during the last fiscal year, to the value of $688,000,000, of a total of $1,338,327,000.

The total exports of farm products of all kinds for the same period were valued at $732,826,000. Unbelievable as it may seem, the people of this country bought twice as much from the farmers of foreign countries as all the other nations of the world bought from us.

This bill provides a Federal subsidy of $500,000,000 annually which is to be permanent legislation in order to control the production of the commodities named in the measure. This means an annual tax of $4 for every man, woman, and child in the nation.

The ordinary congressional district in this country contains about 300,000 population. You may have a population of 100,000 in your district to the extent of $1,200,000. This means a tax of $12,000 a year.

We have had some experience in an attempt to regulate the production of crops in this country, particularly the cotton crop. We tried to hold up the price by plowing under every fourth row, and yet the price of the cotton crop fell. We tried to hold up the price by limiting the weather man, who is the agent of the Almighty, we have raised the largest cotton crop in the history of the United States.

The text of Mr. Morin's speech follows:

"Hello America: This is Tokyo, the capital of the Japanese Empire. You are now at the very nerve-center of a nation which is performing the unusual feat of being at peace with China, actually, and at war with China, actually, all at the same time.

"It is a situation that completely contradicts itself.

"And the whole appearance of Japan this morning will be even more surprising as you see it through the eyes of the Associated Press. Outraged, there is not the slightest sign of war-fever, either in Tokyo or in the surrounding countryside.

"Only a few weeks ago, we were cabling thousands of words about the troops departing, the excited crowds waving the red Rising Sun flag, the throngs on the docks at Yokohama calling 'Ban-ai!' the ships sailing under sealed order, the glittering swords and the martial music.

"But today, the ballyhoo of war is gone.

AP Correspondent Informs U.S. Of Japan's Firm Stand On Strife

(Editor's Note: The following article is reproduced from the Japan Times and Mail, Tokyo, taken from its issue of October 3, 1937. It presents an unusual and important viewpoint on the situation in China, and is reprinted here for the information of our readers.)

Japan is gripped by a deep-seated determination to liquidate, once and for all time, a condition in China that she considers intolerable.

"Quite recently, a diplomat in the Japanese Foreign Office told the Associated Press, and I am now quoting:

"We didn't begin this war. We didn't want it, and neither did the Chinese nation. Both Japan and China are victims of Communist-inspired elements in the Chinese Government. We have seen our works destroyed, our civilians murdered, and our national honor dragged into the mud.

"The elements responsible for this must be annihilated and we're going to annihilate them, no matter how long it takes or how much it costs. There is no power on earth that can stop us.

"We will not countenance, any interference while we are waging a holy war in defense of our very existence as a great nation." (Unquoted.)

"This is the attitude—or rather, I'll say it is the emotion, a fiery fanaticism—that burns in the hearts of the Japanese this morning. Naturally, how many homecoming men are met at 3 a. m. by a grim male who snaps, 'Well?'—San Francisco Chronicle.

February 30 may occur in leap years under these conditions: Eastbound ships crossing the 180 degree line in the Pacific on February 29 of a leap year enter the official date for the next day as February 30. If they reached the line on any other day in the year they would enter the next day as the date has already passed. Hence there would be two January 30, two February 30, etc. February 30 entry has just become a habit. Consider the possibilities of being born on a ship as it crossed the 180-degree line under the conditions described.
