

275 HEAR FEDERAL AGENT SPEAK HERE THURSDAY EVENING

(Continued from Page 1, Part 1) one had been killed or captured within 120 days after a war, Heinicke said.

Crull Gives Talk
The evening's program was opened with Andrew Watson, Eagle Scout, giving the invocation, after which those present stood in silent respect to the memory of the late G. Dewey Kimball. Victor Peck led the assembly in singing the national anthem while a large American flag was spotlighted on the stage. Following dinner, which was served by local girl scouts under the supervision of Mrs. Blanche Davis, Toastmaster Kinnison called on Howard Crull, chairman of the scout district committee. Speaking on "Democracy," Mr. Crull appealed to parents and friends of scouts to aid in making this community a better place in which to live. He urged that mothers and dads cooperate with the scoutmasters in building toward a finer youth in this city and that they praise the standard set by local scout leaders.

After delivering his talk, Mr. Crull said down only to be rudely brought to his feet by Chief of Police John P. Hackett, who presented a large "scout" circular, with the school superintendent's picture boldly displayed, to Mayor John E. Martz. The latter then read the circular to the audience. ROTARIANS HEAR M.S.C.C. SECRETARY

Speaker Urges Club Support Of Crippled Kiddies' Seal Sale
Percy Angove, of Northville, executive secretary of the Michigan Association for Crippled Children, addressed members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon in the Community House Monday. He was introduced by Ralph Coryell, program chairman. Forbes S. Hancock, president of the club, was in charge of the session.

Mr. Angove gave a brief resume of the society's work in caring for crippled children during the past year, pointing out that the statewide work, now in its fourth year, is largely attributable to the cooperation of Rotarians who have made this worthy cause their main project.

The speaker stated that an increase in crippled children's cases has been noted during the past year, there being 2,080 impaired boys and girls taken over by the society. Mr. Angove asserted that Rotary first entered into this work in 1919 when the Ann Arbor Rotary Club offered to aid in the work during the society's Battle of the Bells campaign.

Mr. Angove urged Rotarians to give their whole-hearted support to the society's work, pointing out that any child has the right to claim physical, and mental freedom, as well as equal educational, and spiritual guidance.

In closing, the speaker urged club members to give their annual Easter seal sale in this community and county, said that 13,000 crippled children, in the active list of the society, were dependent to a large extent, on the average family, in sharing the sale.

6 CHURCH GROUPS PLAN INSTITUTE

Mrs. J. E. Martin Will Head Race Relations Study On Tuesday
The women's organizations of six Birmingham churches will hold a study for the Birmingham Council of Federated Church Women and has recently held similar classes in Saginaw, Bay City, Flint, and Pontiac.

Mrs. Martin is state chairman of the study for the Birmingham Council of Federated Church Women and has recently held similar classes in Saginaw, Bay City, Flint, and Pontiac.

She is planning to give an interpretation of the two interdenominational study books on race relations, "Congo Crosses" by Julia Kellersberger and "A Preface to Racial Understanding" by Dr. Charles A. Johnson, a negro professor of Fiske University.

The afternoon readings will include readings from the Countee Cullen anthology of negro verse, "Caroling Dusk." Meetings will be held from 10 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 3:30 p. m., with a box luncheon that will be served at noon.

Of special interest to all church women will be the proposal to organize a Council of Federated Church Women in Birmingham. The proposal will be presented for discussion at one of the meetings of the institute.

Participating in the conference are women from the Baptist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian, and United Presbyterian churches.

Washington's Great Example
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinel of the Republic
Historians have said that no name is better known or more highly revered throughout the world than that of George Washington.

They call it "The brightest name on history's page."
Why? Because Washington sought and won political power for himself. The historians say to Washington it was because he relinquished such power—which was his for the taking—invest it instead in the people under the constitutional system of checks and balances on which our Republic is based.

HARVEY STALEY RITES OBSERVED

84-Year-Old Resident Had Lived in Community Six Decades
Harvey Staley, well known throughout Oakland County and for over 60 years a resident of Birmingham, died at his residence, 292 East Brown Street, on Saturday, Feb. 6. He was 84 years old.

Mr. Staley was born Nov. 1, 1852, in Port Perry, Pa. He came to Birmingham in 1877 when he was 25 years old, residing here continuously until his death. He was the father of Mrs. Minnie Wilson, Mrs. Florence Staley, and Mrs. Anna Jones, all of this city. Also surviving him are two sisters, Mrs. Eunice Manger of Clyde, Mich., and Mrs. Hester Curtis, of Fort Lupton, Colo.

Mr. Staley was a member of the First Methodist Church, having been treasurer of the church for 35 years. He had been a subscriber to The Eclectic for 36 years.

Funeral service was held Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 2 p. m. at the S. O. Wylie Bell funeral home with Rev. John E. Martin officiating. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

Potluck Dinner By Faculty For Hart

In honor of the birthday of Baldwin High Principal Melvin C. Hart, a potluck dinner was given Friday evening, February 12, in the Community Room of the School for Baldwin teachers and their guests attended.

Dinner was served in buffet style at 6:30 p. m. During dinner Mr. Hart was presented with a gift, a year's subscription to Fortune magazine, from the faculty.

Bill Salisbury, entertained the guests with music over the P. A. System and Mr. Hart and Mr. Ramon Morado sang. After dinner the group played cards and other games.

In charge of the dinner and entertainment were the Misses Walker, Rainey, Emily Walker, Eleanor Miller, Elizabeth Haskell, and Margaret Zealey.

MARRIED 55 YEARS, MR. AND MRS. HIGBY REMINISCE A BIT

(Continued from Page 1, Part 1) give in to her every time she wants to and don't let her tell him to stop. "This year in anticipating his 55th anniversary, Mr. Higby repeats the theory of domestic tranquility, but adds, "Just mind your own business and observe the Golden Rule."

Charlie was always good to me," Mrs. Higby says proudly. "Why I had my own house and buggy and I could go out any time I wanted to. You can't be selfish though you have to give and take and the sooner you realize that you can't have your own way all the time the happier the whole family is going to be."

Monday Mrs. Higby will enter into the seven weeks of matrimony she has stayed in constant contact since she was a girl, at a noon day dinner. In the afternoon an open-house for friends and relatives is planned.

BIRMINGHAM JOINS GROUP TO PROMOTE NATURAL GAS USE

(Continued from Page 1, Part 1) two users, who only recently were made gas consumers, are now active in the campaign to bring to gas users in the state of Michigan natural gas, which is more efficient and economical and will make possible a more diversified line of manufacture in this state, such as the manufacture of glass, treating of steel used in machine tools, the manufacture of glass products, as well as the heating of homes. At this time the cost of artificial gas for these purposes is prohibitive.

It is the plan of the organization to conduct all campaigns in the state of Michigan on this subject, putting forth every effort to make this valuable fuel available.

Lincoln's Religion Reviewed At Service

The last Sunday Vesper service at the First Methodist Church here was addressed by Dr. Marshall R. Reed of Detroit on the Religion of Lincoln. He declared that Mr. Lincoln was a religious man of pronounced religious faith.

The service the coming Sunday, February 21st, at 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., will be addressed by the Rev. J. E. Martin, Editor of The Michigan Christian Advocate. He will speak on the subject "The Old Testament of Youth in the Building of a New World." Rev. J. E. Martin is one of the progressive young men in the leadership of the Christian Youth Conference of America and the World. He will speak from personal contacts with these conferences. Young people of the community are cordially invited to hear the service and to take part in the discussion period which follows his address.

Aerially Viewing $35,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge

First bridge ever to be built across a major harbor entrance, the $35,000,000 Golden Gate structure is shown here as it appears from the air. Second of the giant bridges San Francisco now boasts, this span is scheduled to be in operation May 1. The bridge, forming the key for the proposed All-Pacific highway system, towers 746 feet, with a 4,200-foot span. This view looks toward the Marin county hills from a point above Crissy Field, U. S. Army airport.

Pecks, Fisher Body Team Clash Tonight

Fisher Body Corp. is sending their entry in the Pontiac BB basketball league to engage Pecks in an exhibition game at Bannai School gym tonight. This team is similar to the Pontiac Motor BB team that defeated McRoides there last week in a game full of thrills and excitement. Pecks' quintet is led by Wilbur Dailey and boasts two ace basketball stars in Chapman and Bearden, former Michigan State and Hillsdale college players, respectively. Rollins, Miller, McLelland and Collins complete the lineup.

The first game on the Y. M. C. A. schedule starts at 7 o'clock with the feature contest at 9 o'clock. Next week will see The Eclectic quintet pitted against Lechesters as the feature attraction of the evening. This game will climax a three game series between the two teams and it is expected the spirit of competition will run high and provide plenty of entertainment for the fans.

THIS AND THAT

President Roosevelt's rise may be attributed to the tremendous power behind the use of persuasive orators, he has been a great advertiser for the product known as "social justice." And, in a land that is afflicted with wide-spread troubles, he has found a great "consumer acceptance."

In spite of geographical disadvantages, persuasive advertisers today are able to speak through media that narrow nations down to more city blocks, and the world to a veritable neighborhood. When the truth is spoken, or when only part of it is given out, the masses are the "battered," the radio has changed the whole technique of publicity; the newspapers have lost most of their former influence, or at least they are required to share with the radio the modern more diversified line of manufacture in this state, such as the manufacture of glass, treating of steel used in machine tools, the manufacture of glass products, as well as the heating of homes. At this time the cost of artificial gas for these purposes is prohibitive.

It is the plan of the organization to conduct all campaigns in the state of Michigan on this subject, putting forth every effort to make this valuable fuel available.

SECOND HIKE IS PLANNED FEB. 20

George Winborn To Conduct Presbyterian's On Tour Of Scenic Spots

George Winborn, Detroit News City leader, will conduct the young people's groups of the Presbyterian Church on the second of a series of monthly hikes, Saturday, Feb. 20. The hikers, leaving the church at 2 p. m., will cut across country to different scenic spots of Birmingham and the surrounding country.

Bob Edwin has been selected to be leader of the Junior Christ an Endeavor for the Sunday afternoon services. The meeting will be held at 3 p. m., while the subject for the discussion, as led by Jane Sidney will be "Thunder from the South."

Elaine Staples was elected to the office of secretary for the Intermediate Group, last Sunday, and assisting her for the year will be vice-president Sheldon Olson, secretary Robert Edwards, and treasurer Patricia Kennedy. Committee chairmen will be chosen at the meeting this week, in the presence of the Senior society who will be led in their meeting by Marian Allen.

Following the installation of officers of the Young People's Society by Rev. W. C. Wright on Sunday, the plans for the programs of the coming months will be announced. Barbara Pratt has been chosen for the position of president, with Bill Cole acting as vice-president. Joan Seigman will be secretary for the year, and Don Clark will serve as president. Committee chairmen are: Bill Cole, Virginia Barden, Ruth Staples, Kate Osborn and George Woolfenden.

THURSDAY BUSINESS MEN who live in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills will be pleased to hear of the efficient and helpful PRINTING SERVICE available from the staff of The Eclectic. We have two and six-color lithography, and four-color in Detroit every day.
