The Propriety of Ethical Pharmacy By The Schettler Drug Co.

A conscientious pharmacist will never practice "or" prescribing. First, he has no license to prescribe. Second, he does not presume to have the knowledge and training of a physician. The reliable pharmacist specializes in compounding prescriptions according to the instructions of a physician. He must have a thorough knowledge of scientific medical terms and be careful in the execution of the physician's orders. In this alone he is an invaluable and indispensable benefactor to mankind. Consult your physician when your health shows signs of deterioration. He should be able to forestall disease and keep you functioning in perfect order. A reliable druggist will scientifically execute your physician's prescription orders. Thinks the 15th of a series of Editorial Advertisements appearing in this paper each week. Copyright

HOUSE SPONSORS DANCE AS BENEFIT

Auction Planned As Added Feature To Swell Relief Funds

A dance receiving enthusiastic support in Birmingham is the one to be given Saturday evening under auspices of the Community House, at the House, for the benefit of the Red Cross Flood Relief program. Everyone seems to be entering into the spirit of the party and plans are already moving smoothly along to completion.

As an evidence of wholehearted support, is the fact that the group of young people readily gave up the date that had been set aside for one of their regular dances. The services of Charles Savage's orchestra have been offered for the evening.

A feature that will provide additional entertainment for the guests, and raise more funds for the Red Cross, is the auction at which articles to be donated by merchants will be sold to the highest bidder. The task of soliciting contributions has been assigned to Louise Hayden of Pleasant Ridge and Douglas Davis.

Not only are residents of Birmingham cooperating enthusiastically, but assistance is also coming from Pleasant Ridge, Royal Oak and Detroit, as members of those communities are serving on committees for the dance.

A large committee, headed by Mrs. Harold F. Klein, in charge of the sale of tickets. Assisting Mrs. Klein are Mrs. Warren Peace, Jr., Mrs. Donald T. Stanton, Mr. Lane Bishop, Mrs. George M. Dweilley, Mrs. L. E. Colgrove, Mrs. Hugh W. Hitchcock, Mrs. Godfrey Strickland, Mrs. Edward S. Reid, Jr., Mrs. W. Whiting Raymond, Mrs. Rockwood N. Ballard, Mrs. Herve and M. Smith, Mrs. Albert A. Clark, Mrs. M. S. Percy Williams, Mrs. W. A. P. John, all of Birmingham, and Mrs. Charles McCabe Smith of Pleasant Ridge, Mrs. Otto P. Dillavoy of Royal Oak and Mrs. Edmund Smith of Detroit.

Mrs. Samuel E. Gaynor of Glenhurst drive, entertained Tuesday at one of a series of weekly bridge luncheons, having as her guests Mrs. W. Carleton Scott, Mrs. William Spiegel, Mrs. D. B. Burleigh, Mrs. W. E. Thulin, Mrs. Dwight P. Allen, Mrs. Harold R. Rowlin, Mrs. John Street-Reuter, and Mrs. E. E. Hammond.

Birmingham Group Studies How To Arrange Flowers Artistically

Those who have tried to arrange flowers in a vase with discouraging results, will realize what a delicate art it is, and how much about it there is to learn.

Even the most skilled in the art try continually for new ideas and effects. That is why a little group of Birmingham devotees have banded together to test their skill and increase their knowledge, collectively and individually. At the initial breakfast at Mrs. Hagerman's, the floral problem will be to arrange "vases" in a single container. As an additional feature, Mrs. Garber will read excerpts from "Landscape Floral Arrangements for Modern Homes."

Later in the spring, the group will take early morning walks in a search for wild flowers, which they will use in their floral experiment.

OLD GLORY WAVES AT D. A. R. BRIDGE

Patriotic Tea Attended By 300 As Guests Of Local Chapter

With its American flag waving patriotically on the stage, members of the American Revolution and their guests gathered for an annual benefit bridge tournament at the University Room. The flag, occupying the center of the stage, between period dresses, was in keeping with the patriotic motif of the occasion. The 300 guests attending the bridge, were seated at tables facing the flag.

The national colors, red, white and blue were cleverly adapted to the inviting tea table, covered with a cloth of white damask, across which stretched stripes of red velvet. Blue tapers burned in
