Jest For Fun

Not Driven To The Dash... Neighbor—No, I'm still on the job.

A The Book Says... Mrs. Smith—Who do I smell? New Cook—The pie, ma'am!

Funny Face... "If I see anything funny, I simply can't keep a straight face."

More To His Liking... Boxer Instructor (after first lesson) Now, have you any questions?

A Wise Girl... Dill—If you refuse I'll never love another girl.

Preventing Trouble... Her Father—Last night I saw Alice sitting on your lap. Don't let Jimmy—Sure, after this we'll turn out the light.

Obliging Caller... Father (from top of stairs)—Ruth, don't you think it's time for bed?

Penalty For Disobedience... A small child I was told if I made faces like that my face would stay that way.

Teacher (warning her pupils against catching cold)—I had a little brother, 7 years old, and one day he took his new sled out in the snow. He caught pneumonia and three days later he died.

The Perfect Method... Jim—Alice might marry you if you proposed to her correctly.

What's That?... Marion—I think I'll go to bed. The time all good girls were in bed.

Mother—Have a good time at the ship's dance and be a good girl. Daughter—Make up your mind, mother.

New Profession... Higgins—My son writes home from college that he is interested in archery.

Diary... "December 21—Snowin'. Can't go huntin'."

Confidence... Clerk: "Could you raise my salary next week, sir?"

Lytic... Visitor: "I found something very absorbing on your desk."

No Hurry... Taxman: "I'll have a job find in the other sixpence change for you."

Once In A Lifetime... Magistrate: "What induced you to strike your wife?"

Bull... "That new farm hand is terribly dumb."

Won't Interfere... "Misses (to new maid)—I have noticed that all of the awkward efforts some people make in getting into your coat if ten pieces can't I'm never ready for mine before 10."

'Tis Just That... Its a funny thing that a woman who can spot a blonde hair on your coat if ten pieces can't see a pair of garage doors.

FAMOUS HEADLINE HUNTERS... Everybody Club

"The Jungle Terror" by FLOYD GIBBONS... FRANK RINI of Brooklyn, N. Y., says that all the adventures that ever happened to him came while he was a soldier down in the Canal Zone.

Chopped a Way Through the Jungle... "We were not allowed to take our rifles. That is against army regulations. But we borrowed a few shotguns and each of us had a bolt to cut our way through the jungle undergrowth."

Big Snake Coiled About Frank... Frank was a little ahead of the rest of them, for he knew this particular jungle better than they did. He was keeping his eyes open for familiar landmarks and had just spotted one—peculiarly-shaped mass of ferns on the bank of a small creek.

The Reptile Bit Him, Too... "I felt something hot pierce my arm and knew that the head of the reptile had fastened itself on me. A bow constricator can bite quite painfully as well as squeeze. I never knew it before, but I learned it then. With that bite I lost my reason. I began struggling like a madman, and suddenly I found my voice and started to yell."

The Huge Snake Coiled Itself Around Him... rest of his body. The natives told him afterward that in that way they could snare a lot of birds, since he offered them a good fulcrum.

AN APPEAL... Buffalo—In an effort to get some birds, Raybold, Griffith, Joseph hung a large red and blue sign out of his hotel window, with the words "Dinner at 10:00."

GAME FATAL... Catonsville, Md.—Richard Marden, 10, was accidentally killed while playing his favorite game of "Indians." His body was found in the bedroom of his home, hanging from a window frame.

HELPS BIRD, BREAKS LEG... Jamestown, N. Y.—ClumMac up on a chair to extricate a robin when he became jammed in a window frame. David Lindy tripped and fell, and was taken to a hospital with a broken leg.

SPENDS WEEKENDS IN JAIL... Williamsburg, Va.—Convicted of drunken fighting, Ed Coppick going to jail for fifteen weeks. He will continue his present five days-a-week employment but will spend his next fifteen weekends in jail.

PARAGRAPHS... "I never knew what happiness was until after I was married. I stated a screen bill. People don't brood over the past.—Atlanta Constitution."

Little to Condemn... A clergyman has been condemning the modern bathing suit for years. He has less to find fault with than many preachers.—The Humorist.

Intangibility... "A scientist says the positron is so like something intangible. Like a hole in a doughnut when there's no doughnut"—Washington Post.

The Old Days... Another very bright light out west, we hear, is the old timer reminiscing over the days when Republicans and Democrats were the plain, countless multitudes.—Arkansas Gazette.

Note on the Young... Children, a survey shows are losing their faith in fairy tales. Even so, only a heartless child would disabuse a trusting elder.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Its Value... An international peace conference is generally useful chiefly because it takes the minds of Governments momentarily off their war plans.—Detroit Free Press.

Maybe... Now that the government experts are pretty well convinced that the light has been checked, it looks as if we might soon have our old chateaux back in the woods again as well as on the air.—Boston Herald.

Frankness in An Ad... Francis Xavier Bushman, of early screen fame, now keeps a wayside inn in the West. Over the door there is a sign, reading: "From Ham to Hamburger.—Boston Herald."

Perish the Thought... An electric shaver, a Kansas paper points out, can't be used by a man's wife to sharpen her bridge pencils. True enough, but she might find it just the gadget she needs for smoothing off the nap on the living room rug.—Toronto Star.

CLIPPER BEINGS NEW ROUTE... Alameda, Calif.—The Hawaii clipper recently completed its initial trip from Honolulu, bringing the first passengers to fly the 8,000 miles from Honolulu. The clipper carried ten passengers and 1,067 on its first trip.

CASH and CARRY Men's 3 Pc. Suits 99c... PECK'S Woodward—near Maple

IN THE GOOD SUMMERTIME... Pastels are delightful, but quite a problem when it comes to keeping them clean. Don't risk ruining your favorite sports frock...
