SIXTIETH YEAR—NO. 7

Premium List For Bloomfield Horse Show Is $10,000

Cash And Trophies Will Be Distributed In 71 Events At Third Annual Exhibition Scheduled June 3-6

Detroit's third annual National horse show that will be held on the grounds of the Bloomfield Open Hunt, June 3 to 6, promises to be the biggest sports event of its sort ever held in the west. The premium list discloses $10,000 in cash and trophies to be distributed among the winners of the 71 events.

Some weeks ago the committee in charge sent out inquiries to most of the leading exhibitors of the state and Canada. Upwards of 60 favorable replies have been received indicating that it is the purpose of these owners to come to Bloomfield Hills. These are from 28 states and the Dominion, from coast to coast and from the waters of the Mississippi to the Mexican border in Texas, also from 20 foreign countries including Ireland, New Zealand, and New Guinea.

Last week the principal stables are at Atlantic City and during the last week in May they will assemble at Devon, Penn., which is the largest show in America. Four days intervene between Devon and Detroit and as many between Detroit and the Chicago Jubilee show, so that for the first time the Detroit show will contain the winners of these national winners.

This show will open on the Thursday morning and continue with two sessions daily through Saturday. The Sunday matinee will feature the $500 stakes and a number of others. To properly stage a show of this dimension the grandstands have been entirely reconstructed, seeded and rolled and now as fine a lot of seats as any in the country. This ring are 150 private boxes, about 100 of which have been reserved for the public. The show is given for the benefit of St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Pontiac.

The show schedules events for every kind of horse, including hunters and jumpers, hacks, walk-trot and gaited saddle horses, combination horses, and harness horses and horses. The Saturday morning program is given over entirely to stunts on boys under 18 years, including horsemanship, good hands and jumping.

Judges who will officiate are among the best nationally approved experts. Major Leonard, S. M. C. (retired) will take the lead of the hunters and jumpers; W. P. Treadway, of St. Louis, and J. A. Jones, of North Middlebury, Vermont, will take the lead of the hacks; John R. Thompson, of Chicago, harness horses and ponies. Dr. John R. Hutton, of Michigan State College, will be the veterinarian.

The Detroit Horrie Show Association, which sponsors the event, is made up of 28 prominent Detroit industrialists, business and professional men, with James Verrier, Jr., president. The show will be managed by Major E. H. Jacobsen, assisted by William F. Lambert, Capt. Edward J. Drinkert and William F. Harris, the latter now being in the East. The outlook is for at least 200 of the great horses of America, valued at $1,000,000 which can be seen in action for a nominal fee that will go to charity.

Asks Residents' Aid To Check Peddling

City Clerk Irene Hanley asks the attention of residents and peddlers canvassing the community without licenses and urges that all legal persons and municipal authorities in reporting instances where such violations are observed.

Miss Hanley states that it is impossible for officers to keep a check on peddlers operating illegally. If housewives and others will ask peddlers to display their licenses to operate in the city it will help in curbing excessive door-to-door canvassing. The city will help in enforcing the law and will report to the police or to Miss Hanley's office.

FLIERS COMPLETE RETURN CROSSING

Jack Lambie And Companion Arrive Friday After Arduous Trip

Landing at Floyd Bennett airport, New York, late Friday afternoon, exactly five days to the minute from the time they took off, Henry "Dick" Merrill, crack pilot of Eastern Airlines, and Jack Lambie, son of Dr. and Mrs. John S. Lambie, 280 Aspen Road, completed the first round-trip airplane crossing of the North Atlantic without mishap. The fliers required 24 hours and 22 minutes on their return flight through rain and fog, slightly more than three hours above the time taken in going over.

Merrill and Lambie flew blind from New York to London, stopping over at Squantum Naval Air Base in Massachusetts to check their bearings and fuel supplies. They set their twin-motor monoplane down on Bennett Field at 3:32 on Friday afternoon, after a crowd of nearly 1500 persons, including Dr. and Mrs. Lambie, awaited the twin-engine aviators.

Both Merrill and Lambie flew to Washington Saturday to talk with President Roosevelt and to deliver a letter to him written by former Ambassador James W. Gerard. The fliers took with them a number of the pictures of the Hindenburg disaster to London, returning with coronation shirts and a fashion. A number of the pictures of the regal event brought back by the pair are on display at the Baldwin Public Library, taken from the photographic section of a New York city newspaper.

Mayor John S. Martz, on behalf of the city, sent the following congratulatory message to Lambie: "Lambie, Jack, and Merrill, Henry, New York City, N. Y. All Birmingham people join me in cordial congratulations to you and your boys on your successful flight to England and back. In honoring yourself you have also honored your country."

John E. Martz, Mayor of Birmingham, will observe in Birmingham this day on Saturday, May 29th. Mrs. A. D. Cooley, chairman of the committee of the Charles Edwards Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced that the observance of the day are being made by the Auxiliary.

Study Reveals Need Of Re-Districting Students In Adams And Pierce Schools

Supt. of Schools Howard D. Crull reported to members of the board of education Monday evening that a study of the number of pupils in the Adams and Pierce elementary schools and the ratio in enrollment in each building revealed that re-districting of pupils seems advisable. The board instructed Mr. Crull to thoroughly investigate the existing situation and offer recommendations on the matter at a later meeting.

Mr. Crull pointed out that his study was made in an effort to better allocate elementary students between the two schools. He said that the Adams building was overloaded and that it appeared necessary to transfer approximately 175 to 200 pupils to Pierce School. Those chosen for the transfer would be taken from that section of the city East of Woodward and South of Holland Avenue.

The transfer would reduce the pupil-teacher load in Adams School and would more nearly equalize the class sizes in the two buildings. Mr. Crull stated that

CHILD DIES IN SLEEP TUESDAY

Succumbs While At Home Of F. Morse Cooke, Her Uncle

An autopsy, performed at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, yesterday morning, revealed that Joanne Elaine Baldwin, five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Baldwin, 52 Dwight Street, Pontiac, died Tuesday at 11 p.m. at the home of her uncle, F. Morse Cooke, 215 Popple Street, Pontiac, of a greatly enlarged Thyroid gland.

It was learned that Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin brought the baby to the Cooke residence to remain while their daughter, Barbara, 10 years old, was recovering from bronchial pneumonia. The child apparently was in good health when she was brought to the Cooke home.

Birmingham firemen were called to Mr. Cooke's home and worked for 40 minutes to bring an inhalator but were unsuccessful in their attempt to revive her. Several nurses present at the child leaves her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. G. T. Baldwin, of Birmingham, and Mrs. N. M. Cooke, of Owosso.

Mr. Baldwin is a teacher at the Birmingham Public Schools. His mother is a sister of Mr. Cooke, principal of Adams School here. Mrs. Baldwin is a sister of Mr. Cooke, principal of Adams School here. Mrs. Baldwin is a sister of Mr. Cooke, principal of Adams School here.

WALLED LAKE TO OFFER FESTIVAL

Chorus From Three Cities To Sing Secular And Sacred Music

A musiced program which is certain to attract the attention of music lovers throughout central Michigan is being presented at Walled Lake and neighboring towns next week. It will be known as a special choral festival, participated in by the combined voices of the Walled Lake Methodist Episcopal choir, the Clarkston Methodist choir, the Northville-Epiphany Male Chorus, directed by Leslie G. Clark, and the Plymouth choir, directed by H. Hutton of the Walled Lake and Clarkston Area Park Cemetery.

The three choral units have been at work throughout the winter months to perfect the program for the festival concert, and have had four combined rehearsals during the past several weeks.

The program will consist of six chorus numbers by the combined group, and separate numbers by each chorus. It will be both secular and sacred in character, consisting of compositions dating from the 16th century to those of contemporary composers. Each concert is open to the public at a small admittance charge.

BALDWIN 'PIPER' MAGAZINE

Editor Hugh McHugh, Staff Turn Out Excellent Magazine

Reproduced by Photo-Lithography, the 1937 issue of the "Piper," third annual Baldwin high school magazine, is an excellent piece of work and Editor Hugh McHugh and his capable staff of assistants are receiving unstinted praise for their efforts. The magazine was distributed to students Friday afternoon.

The guest editorial, "Opportunity," was written by W. J. Cameron, of the Ford Motor Company. It was a study of the lives of prominent students at work or play are included in addition to the usual biographical sketches, athletic squads and their coaches. The entire class of 1937 is featured in the "Piper." Editor Hugh McHugh authored "Queerisms," a short story entitled "Queer Quirk," a number of articles and short stories, which are original and well written.
