

COUPLE MARRIED IN CHURCH RITES

Reception At Springdale Park Club Follows Ceremony

The Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding Wednesday evening of Janice Rickley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rickley...

Vases of multi-colored spring flowers placed about the nave of the church provided the setting for the ceremony...

The bride wore a bouffant skirted gown of white organdy, set with insets of lace. Her hair veil formed a cap about her head...

The attendants, Doris Rickley, sister of the bride, and Ida Edwards, her cousin, were gowned in blue face and pink lace gowns respectively...

Betty Jane Lawson, in a low neck and Dick Lawson in a blue flannel suit, were the dimwit trainbearers for the bride...

Burgard Davies and Charles Bugner attended Mr. Dickman as groomsmen and seating the guests were Peter Peterson and William Lawson.

The bride's mother wore a flower-crested crepe dress in pink with which she wore a matching corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception and supper dance for about 50 friends and relatives of the bride and groom was held at the Springdale Country Club.

After the first of the week, Mr. and Mrs. Dickman will be at home at 87 Summit street, Pontiac.

Fashion Tips

Skirts lengths continue to be an interesting question to the designers. Daytime clothes get shorter and shorter; formal afternoon gowns are ankle length or an inch or so above the ankle...

Large square chiffon handkerchiefs with printed borders are being used. They also do service as scarfs.

One new evening model is of cotton lace. The skirt is formed of six rows of ruffles gradually becoming wider the further down they go.

Waist dresses were spring, and ten inches from the floor knee to popular with the young girl.

Hungarian fashions give quaint note to the evening mode. Full skirted frocks of native printed cotton are very effective when worn with sandals of blue or red kid.

One attractive sandal combines four shades of blue. Quilted taffeta is a favorite for the summer evening wrap.

DRAMA CLUB WILL PRESENT PROGRAM

The next thing happened to day! Jack and I are giving our first large dinner party tomorrow and just when I was most worried about the cooking...

I can buy less expensive meat now, because I know how to make tough meat tender, thanks to Mary. She said to rub it thoroughly with vinegar or lemon juice...

I learned a couple of awfully cute dodges to remedy saucepan trouble too. Sometimes things need to be cooked with lid on the pan, and my lids are always being knocked off by my first fire!

I had to pound it before cooking. It seems that the flour will catch a perfect gold mine of kitchen information. I copied down a lot of her recipes, which will be of equal parts of olive oil. Then let it stand for about two hours before cooking it.
