

Barnum P.T.A. Enlists Aid of Numbers

College Knowledge

By SOPHIE MORE

We won't tell whether it's by rocket ship or seven-league boots (an account of advertiser's right 'know), but Sophie's been tracking all over the shop for the past week. And first of all we have news of some pledgings for ye. These aren't all, by any means, but at least we know they're authentic.

Robert Craig was a Cranbrook flash until last June. At that time he'd done graduated, and now he's a freshman at Lehigh University. And he's a pledge to Alpha Tau Omega, better known by its initials only, as A. T. O. And more power to him, sez Sophie. We think Brad Smith, a U. of M. frosh, is an A. T. O. pledge as well. That's Art Brandt's too.

Patty Blackmore's a freshman at Duke, 'way down in North Carolina. And she's just pledged Alpha Phi down there, which is plenty okay. Jean Macdonald, another one of Beehan's contributions to Duke, is no freshman, but she is the new Secretary of the Dramatic Society, a right smart job. Socially, she's a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Who says the gals get all the prominence? Not me, anyway. Take the "various bands" at DePauw, all diked up fit to kill with smooth black and gold uniforms. They have fun, too, (literally) around with the team, but it's hard work to get in. Only 60 men are selected from the tryouts. And one of the lucky 50 is our old playmate John Church. He's a sophomore at DePauw.

Flash! Two more recipients of brand new pledge pins are Deedee Farrar and Noel Dweilley, both of State. They followed the choice of the aforementioned Missy Blackmore, and pledged Alpha Phi. Noel writes last her room-mate's one, too, which makes 'em more alike than ever. They have the same red hair, blue eyes, freckles and pledge pins. Nice going.

Lucy Preston's at Olivet this year, and having more darned fun. Sophie's paid spies report that they saw her in the College Inn when she was cooking with a bunch of the kids, and that she looked chic as Paris in a rough grey wool number, trimmed with matching Persian lamb. She may not know it, but she's going to have a visit from sister Julie very soon—on her coming, if you must be exacting. Julie's an Olivet alum. Oh yes, Ginny Thompson's up there too. She went to Ann Arbor last year and was a Gamma Phi. She's giving 'em all a whirl though, and likes it at Olivet sump'n tremendous.

Yah yah YAH to whoever insisted Jo Westcott walk back at Hillsdale. She's at Cleary college, in Ypsil, and we can prove it, too. She was coxing with a bunch of the kids, and that she looked chic as Paris in a rough grey wool number, trimmed with matching Persian lamb. She may not know it, but she's going to have a visit from sister Julie very soon—on her coming, if you must be exacting. Julie's an Olivet alum. Oh yes, Ginny Thompson's up there too. She went to Ann Arbor last year and was a Gamma Phi. She's giving 'em all a whirl though, and likes it at Olivet sump'n tremendous.

Two of our gals whipped off to Antioch last week, being about the last of the college crew to leave. They are Joanne Hart and Helen Shaver, and the latter is a freshman. It's Joanne's senior year, and she's about to take to think of being over. But she's thrilled to a pulp at the thought of beginning her career (pre-school training for children) in Chicago. Sometime this winter. We'll let you know.

And here's last minute pledge-flash about another Miss Hart. The girl's first name is Janet, this time, and she's in her first year at State. She's a brand new rooter for Kappa Kappa Gamma, to the mutual delight of all concerned. Which cleans us all up for another week. G'bye.
