BARNUM P. T. A. TO HOLD NOVEL FAIR

Country Frolic Will Aid Milk Fund At School

A genuine, old-fashioned Country Fair will be the attractive means by which the Barnum School Parent Teachers Association aids its milk fund. The fair will be held in the school, on the afternoon and evening of November 10th. There will be a country store, in charge of Mrs. Charles F. McCullough; a cafeteria run by Mrs. Herbert Flemington. The colorful atmosphere will be pleasantly confused by the wares of the balloon man and a fortune-telling booth, among other attractions.

Mrs. George Greenenbach, general chairman of the Country Fair, announces that the following attractions will await patrons: Gifts, Mr. M. G. Bailey; Frost Bites, Mrs. Edward A. Langrish; Candy, Mrs. Robert G. Bouse and Mrs. Kenneth Casson; Hot dogs, Mrs. M. B. Clement; Dance, Mrs. Howard D. Crull; Cook, Mrs. Igan Howland; Fish pond, Mrs. Edwin Patis; White Elephant, Mrs. Roy Morrow; Vandeville, Mrs. James Anderson; Infants' Wear, Mrs. E. D. Gage; Tickets, Mrs. John Rosay; Band, Arnold W. Bernard; Blind Man, William Burke. The fair is open to the public, and all proceeds will be devoted to the organization's milk fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin F. Coveney of Westwood drive were hosts at dinner Saturday evening to 15 guests.

Books Change Owners At Annual Sale

Sponsored By The Birmingham A. A. U. W.

Hundreds of volumes will change owners in Birmingham this week as a result of the annual book sale sponsored by the local branch of the American Association of University Women. The sale is being conducted from Monday through Saturday at 119 South Woodward avenue. Mrs. Charles D. McCall is general chairman.

Proceeds from the first day's sales amounted to $140, as a starter for the week. The book sale is an event to which many Birmingham residents look forward each year to add a few volumes to their reading shelves. A year ago, 2,319 books, and 1,716 magazines were sold, bringing the total proceeds to $287.90.

The idea of the book sale was inaugurated to raise funds for A. A. U. W. fellowships, and for the local scholarship fund, to which the Association has contributed more than $2,000. In addition to these gifts, the local branch established and has supported for the past three years, "The Saturday Club," a recreation project for children.

Among some of the interesting volumes offered for sale this year, are a first edition of "I Visit the Soviets" by E. M. Delaford, "Her Name Was Wallace Warfield" by Edwina H. Wilson, "The Woods Cook" by Thomas Williamson, Theodore Roosevelt's letters to his children, a set of "Messages of the Presidents," and "Everyday Shall Say" by John Cottam.

Mrs. E. E. Hummonds was in charge of the sale Monday, and assisting her were Mrs. W. H. Buschman, Mrs. C. G. Helmiller, Mrs. Stanley Saunders, Mrs. C.

Kenneth Bell, Mrs. S. E. Gawn, Mrs. Foster Hubert, Mrs. Draper Allen and Mrs. John F. Hollister. Mrs. Lewis E. Daniels was the chairman for Tuesday, assisted by Mrs. Frances S. Hascall, Mrs. Clyde Hafner, Mrs. A. S. Trew, Mrs. W. C. Alt, Mrs. R. L. Dickinson, Mrs. E. Howard Donnelly, Mrs. Charles Drake, Mrs. Earl Bartholomew, Mrs. Edward Merzian and Mrs. Arch Plant.

Mrs. Charles F. Dye was in charge Wednesday with Mrs. Paul Neal Averill, Mrs. Mark Beards, Mrs. Shelton Wright and Mrs. F. H. Mellinger, assisting. Today's chairman is Mrs. B. A. Aikens, and helping her are Mrs. F. P. Bailey, Mrs. G. Gunther, Mrs. W. C. Howe, Mrs. O. F. Achterhagen, Mrs. Carl Binkley, Mrs. Charles J. Shain, Mrs. Lavonice Smith, Mrs. Paul L. Penfield, Mrs. Robert F. Watt, and Mrs. Max Roemeh. Mrs. W. F. Tighe is the chairman for Friday.

Mrs. Thomas L. Thurber will be in charge of the sale on the closing day.

Mrs. Roy E. Brown of Greenwood avenue will return Tuesday after a sojourn in Cincinnati and Chicago while in the former city, Mrs. Brown was the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Betler, and of her son, Roy, who is a student at the University of Cincinnati. Mrs. Brown also spent some time visiting in Chicago.

KITCHEN KORNER

By Sally Lunn

Dear Everybody:
 One becomes so weary of planning ways to serve leftovers. New ideas are always most than welcome. Here's one that sounds particularly appealing for the cold days we know are ahead of us.
 It is called a meat roll, and is very simple to make. Merely roll up a slice of meat or lean steak and spread with chopped cooked meat moistened with gravy. If there isn't any left-over gravy, one may use chili sauce or catsup. The next thing to do is roll it up, twist into crescent shape, and bake in a moderate oven.
 If the roll is made of left-over beef, serve with a brown sauce. If the meat is veal, serve with tomato sauce, and use celery sauce if the meat happens to be lamb. In serving, pour the sauce around, not over, the roll.
 Why not have with a meat roll, caramelized potatoes? To make these, boil the potatoes until almost done, peel, and soak over a slow fire in a shallow pan with plenty of white syrup and butter. Or, they may be baked in the oven with the roll, as a fuel saving method.
 For something different as a side dish, try this. Slice green peppers, mix with a little olive or vegetable oil, and bake in a tightly covered pan.
 How about a raw vegetable salad with the meat roll, caramelized sweet potatoes and baked peppers? We suggest this one: Dissolve one package of gelatin in 1 cup of boiling water. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and one cup of cold water. Add lemon juice and one tablespoon of scraped onion.
 Chill until the mixture begins to thicken, then add ½ cup of chopped cabbage, ½ cup chopped celery and ½ cup grated carrot. Pour into shallow pan or individual moulds and chill until firm. Garnish and serve with any desired dressing.
 For dessert, we suggest Creole Ambrosia. You will need two cups of orange sections, free from membrane; ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup water, 6 drops of almond extract, and 1 ½ cups milk, sweetened coconut.
 Place oranges in serving dish. Combine sugar and water and heat until sugar is dissolved. Then pour over oranges. Add almond extract and stir well. Fold in coconut and chill.
 Yours,
 Sally.
