College Knowledge

By SOPHIE MORE

Wow! If that game at Ann Arbor before, and what Weezie's date was the O'Conner. But again, who knows?

Before Flynn was at the game, and she's back there this year, much to everyone's surprise. She and her mother (Mrs. George H. Flynn of Charing Cross to you), spent the whole darned summer whipping about the far west, spending a deal of the time in Frisco. But Betty returned in time to take up the cudgels in behalf of education.

Here's something smooth about Carolyn Beltrami, whom you knew when she was in Baldwin. She's an Ann Arbor flash now, busy like anything with the Girls' Glee Club, of which she is secretary this year. Wilmot F. Pratt, University carillonneur, who directs the group, keeps the membership down to 75, so Carolyn's one of the lucky few. One should be able to make something of a scintilla Beltrami, but it's too much work.

Guess who are holding Michigan Alumni undergraduate scholarships up there! No less than six wags, to be sure, namely: Hank Foley, Jean Baker, Yelky Gellatly, Ruth Seager, Roberta Chisus and Bob Watt. If we hadn't mistook, Bob's a sophomore this year, along with Larry Thomas, whose brother he is in the bonds of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and who's interested in dramatics. We've always thought she looked like Mary Astor; anyway, so maybe she has something there.

More anon, and don't cry "Teacher's pet!" on accounts of A. A. getting two weeks devoted to it. Even now we haven't told you about half the pipples up there from right around these parts.

Baro McCutcheon was dining in the Sugar Bowl, along with half of A. A. who couldn't get in the P-Bell. She'd come up for the weekend as the guest of Paul Gleye, who's Beta pin she wears. They were having fun like mad, as was everyone else.

Bumped into Nancy Murray and Harriet Babcock at the League dance. Nancy looked absolutely smooth, all in black, with nose-gays of white lilies on the front of her J.P. black hat and at the neck of her dress. It appeared that Hattie was in maroon crepe, but one never knows, does one?

Saw Harriet next day, dining in—guess where?—the P-Bell, with her week-end guests. They were with Yvonne Gay and Weezie Cobb. The former was with Freddie Schwarze (a senior—and think of that!) the night before, and what Weezie's date was the O'Conner. But again, who knows?

Mrs. Marjorie T. Bingham was the speaker, discussing wildflowers. The unit has planned an interesting year. The meeting Nov. 15 will be held at the home of Mrs. Clarence H. Booth of Lone Pine road, Philip Breitmeier will speak on house plants and the forcing of bulbs. The annual flower show will be an event of Dec. 6 in the Guild Hall of Christ Church Cranbrook at 2 p. m. As is the custom, the show will be open to guests. The unit will hold its annual meeting Jan. 17 at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club at 11 a. m. Following the election of officers, C. E. Smith of the departments of parks and boulevards of Detroit, will speak on evergreens. Mrs. Louis Kahn, president of the unit, will present the program Feb. 17, at the Detroit Institute of Art. Mrs. Kahn will discuss "Some New Developments in Garden Photography." For the meeting March 23, to be held at Mrs. Kahn's home on the Fourteen Mile road, Mrs. Dorothy Biddle Johnson will be the speaker. Her subject will be "Flower Arrangement Clinics." A timely subject for a spring program is "Local Trees," the topic for discussion April 21. Mrs. George W. J. Linton of Redford road will open her home for the meeting. Edward H. Laird, landscape architect, will address the club May 16, when the meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edith M. Forbush on Labser road. Mr. Laird will speak on "Hardy Michigan Shrubs."
