

Spinster Dinner Event of This Evening

The Kitchen Korner

By Sally Lunn

Dear Diary:
We'll be sorry to say goodbye to summer this year, we've had so many happy meals in our outdoor dining room. In fact, we've planned one more jamboree before the evenings get too cool.

I said to Jim this morning, "Let's have the going over Sunday evening for an outdoor dinner. We can roast corn and 'wienies', and 'nuts. I'm tired of corn and 'wienies' and hamburgers too. Can't you think of something else?"

"How about steak?"
"Sure, and mushrooms and hire a chef," Jim suggested sarcastically.

"All right, smarty, make your own suggestions—cook your own dinner. This can be your party. Big Boy, and you can just take over the responsibility yourself. I was a little nettled."

"O.K. That's a swell idea." Jim agreed with enthusiasm. "We'll have pancakes."

"Pancakes, for a crowd like that? You don't know you're letting yourself in for. You'll have to give them something else besides, because if you're planning to make pancakes for 16 hungry people, you'll be at it 'till Doom's Day."

"Just leave it to me. I'm going to have pancakes and maple syrup, about 10 pounds of country style sausage, several gallons of coffee."

"That sounds very good, Jim," I interrupted, "but just how do you make your pancakes? What recipe do you use?"

Jim looked somewhat startled at that suggestion.

"Recipe?"
"Yes—what recipe?"

"Oh—well, you know the regular pancake recipe, same one everybody else uses."

"Oh! Just which is the one everybody else uses?"

"Well, what difference does it make? You mix flour and milk and a couple eggs and butter and— and— vanilla, and—"

"Vanilla! Why not try chocolate?" I could hardly keep from smiling.

"Choc—Are you trying to kid me?"

"Listen, Jim," I laughed. "You don't know any more about pancakes than you do about Santa. But this is your party, and I'm going to see you through. I'll tell you a good recipe which I know is a favorite. Be sure to sift your flour before you measure it—then sift again two cups of flour, one-half cup of cornmeal, one and one-fourth teaspoons of soda and a teaspoon of salt."

"Add to this, two beaten eggs, two tablespoons of bacon dripping and two-and-one-half cups of buttermilk, and you have enough for 18 generous-sized cakes."

Surprise Marriage Is Made Known By Bride's Family

A marriage announcement that comes as a surprise to their friends, is that of Miss Suzanne G. Hathaway of Detroit, formerly of Birmingham and Ernest E. Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland H. Mann of Greenwood avenue. The marriage, which was solemnized Friday, Sept. 3, in Toledo, was made known by the brother-in-law and sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Harris of the Garden Court, formerly of Greenwood avenue, Birmingham.

'Thin Blue Line' Marches Again

W. H. Terns, above, 92-year-old Civil War veteran from Nevada, la., was one of only 200 rapidly diminishing members of the "thin line of blue" who marched again at the 57th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Madison Wis.

AFTERNOON RITES TO UNITE COUPLE

Mary Louise Johns To Wed John L. Shepherd in Hills Church

Mary Louise Johns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Johns of Detroit, formerly of Birmingham, and John Lucian Shepherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Shepherd of Bates street, will speak their vows Saturday at a ceremony at 4:30 o'clock in Christ Church Cranbrook. The Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach will read the marriage service.

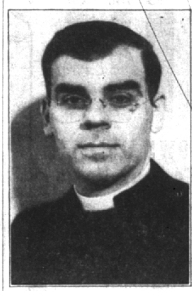

Miss Johns will be attended by her sister, Betty Johns as maid of honor. The bridesmaids will include Adelaide Ely of Toronto, formerly of Birmingham, Barbara Spalding, Alice Osterman and Eleanor Swan of Sherwood Forest.

John McKee, Jr., will be best man for Mr. Shepherd, and those acting as ushers will include Fred Gushion, Jack Payton and Fred Schwarze.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

This evening Miss Ely will be hostess at the spinster dinner at the Wardell and later will entertain the wedding party at the Cass Theater. Mr. and Mrs. Johns will give the rehearsal dinner Friday at the Fox and Hounds.

"Parson's Advice"

Rev. W. H. Aulenbach

At the 11 a.m. service in Christ Church Cranbrook Sunday Rev. W. Hamilton Aulenbach will preach on "A Parson's Advice To Students." Students of Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools will attend in a body and the public also is cordially invited to be present. Rev. Aulenbach also will offer the sermon, "The Spiritual Significance of Bells," at the 4 p.m. vesper service.

SAVES DOGS; DIES.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—When fire broke out in a barn, in which one hundred hunting dogs were kept, George Gilbert, kennel master at the Coraopolis Beagle Club, tried to rescue the animals with the help of C. E. Porter. Sixty of the dogs were driven out before Gilbert was overcome. His burns proved fatal. Porter was also seriously burned.

INFANTS' WEAR DEPARTMENT

Here, in a modern, colorful setting, you'll find all those delightful little things which make the babies appear of their best when put on display. Warm cotton and woolen garments for the new arrivals and smart little dresses, suits and coats for toddlers are to be found here in an unusual selection.

INFANTS' ACCESSORY DEPARTMENT

In our accessory department we have gathered together all the newest items usually found in a modern nursery. All the little things, which brighten up a child's place of abode and make the daily care of the youngsters easier and more fun for the mothers, are displayed in a new and interesting manner. You'll find shower gifts in abundance. Your inspection is most cordially invited.

CHILDREN'S WEAR DEPARTMENT

As the little folks grow older, they too, have their own ideas about what they should wear. With this thought in mind, we especially invite the mothers to bring the children to our shop so that we may show them (and the mothers, too, of course) all the smartly styled wearing apparel which we have here in store for them. Indoor and out-of-door clothes, all fresh and new, are to be found in our Children's Wear Department.

GREETING CARD DEPARTMENT

For every occasion, we have collected cards which will express the thoughts and sentiments of one person to another. Greeting cards, they are called, but they cover a wide range of subjects, and we have endeavored to present here a selection which will include—just the card you are looking for."

TOY DEPARTMENT
Games, toys and playthings, which will shorten the long winter hours, are included in our bright and cheerful department. We have made it a point to include many inexpensive items which will prove delightful to the youngsters.
