can "turn-in" any temperature on my new Gas Range

FLEXIBLE TOP HEAT, TOO

Yes, ANY amount of heat you want on ANY top burner of my Modern Gas Range—depending upon the job to be done.

Pans vary in size from several quarts down to cups. Also pan frying requires very intense heat, whereas the steaming or boiling process, once the boiling point is reached, requires very little heat to maintain boiling. Flexible top heat is therefore essential.

Today we suggest a combination of pan frying and simmer cooking as an illustration.

PORK CHOPS AND RICE

4 or 6 pork chops (1 1/2 in. thick) 1 1/2 c. rice (unwashed)
Salt and pepper 1 c. tomatoes (or 2 cans)
1 t. oil

Place skillet that has light cover on any top burner, turn valve on burner flame to high. Put 1 t. fat in the skillet when hot and add a little hot oil. Brown the chops, turn, salt and pepper, and brown other side. Remove from skillet and add rice and tomatoes. Place chops on top of rice and tomatoes. Place cover on skillet and turn flame very low to a "simmer" heat. This low heat will be sufficient to create steam for the cooking process. Set timer for 30 minutes. At the sound of the bell the food will be done.

This is No. 4 of a series of ads prepared by the Home Service Dept. of your gas range dealer.

Quarton P. T. A. Names Jury Panel To Discuss Needs of Junior High

Dr. Courtes, As Leader, Will Introduce Subject And Speakers

A jury panel composed of men and women concerned with school problems both as educators, parents and administrators will meet at the Community House Monday, Oct. 4, to discuss "A Building Program for Birmingham Junior High School Needs."

Dr. Stuart A. Courtes, Professor of Education at the University of Michigan, will be the leader, who will state and define the question and introduce the other members. The panel will include Dr. Arthur B. Mochlman, Professor of School Administration and Supervisor of the same University; E. J. Lederle, Oakland County School Commissioner; John S. Magdalen, Frederick, principal of Quanton School, and Mrs. Hugh T. Keyes, 444 William H. Manning, as Quanton School parents.

Dr. Courtes will be remembered as the originator of the Courtes "standing tests," a system of measuring the efficiency of school work. He was director of educational research for the Detroit Public Schools in 1914, and later, director of instruction and Dean of the Detroit Teachers' College until 1924.

Consultant and Author

In addition to his work in Ann Arbor, Dr. Courtes is visiting professor at Wayne University, and educational consultant of Hamtramck Public Schools. Dr. Courtes was a member of the Illinois Commission on School Inquiry, and also of the New York and Gary surveys. He is the author of "What and Now in Education" with Otis Caldwell; "Why Children Study," "The Measurement of Growth," and numerous bulletins and magazine articles.

Dr. Mochlman is an educational expert on school finance and building programs. He is a member of the American Educational Research Association, the National Society for the Study of Education, the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, the National Education Association, the Michigan Education Association, the National Council on Schoolhouse Construction, and the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

In Office 14 Years
Mr. Lederle by reason of his office which he has held for 14 years is conversant with the school problems of Oakland County municipalities. He was formerly superintendent of schools in Royal Oak and Hastings, and summer school instructor at Central Michigan Normal College. He is a former president of the State Association of County School Commissioners.

Mr. Black will present the viewpoint of the schoolboard, including the current financial condition of the school district. Mr. Colgrove will discuss the growth of Birmingham's population and its trends, and Miss Frederick will

A. A. U. W. Organizes 5 Branch Meetings

Mrs. Fred D. Farrar and Mrs. W. A. P. John, State President and Secretary, respectively, of the American Association of University Women, are in Ishpeming today, completing plans for the fall neighborhood meetings of the Association, along with state officers from Lansing and Grand Rapids.

The neighborhood meetings, to be held on the five Saturdays in October, are an outgrowth of the Workshop, held last May. Mrs. Farrar and Mrs. John will assist at four out of the five meetings, among other officers. The meetings at which they will be present include: October 2, from Mountain, October 9, Albion; October 16, Muskegon and October 23, Dearborn. The meetings are composed of geographically grouped branches of the A. A. U. W.

The morning sessions will be followed by luncheon, with an afternoon session winding up the day's activities. It is hoped that through these neighborhood meetings, the various branches of the Association will be more closely united, in order to insure a more effective program.

Among those from the Birmingham unit who will be present are Mrs. Sam M. Garber, Mrs. Charles H. Welch, Jr., Mrs. Sanders, and Mrs. W. S. Gilbreath, Jr.

Loan Fund Offered By Business Women

The Mary Griffith Loan fund established two years ago by the Birmingham Business Women's Club to aid local girls, who are high school graduates in financing a course in business training, is now available to those eligible to borrow money.

Mrs. Vera Mayfield of Brown street and Miss Elizabeth Graves of West Lincoln avenue are the two members in charge of interviewing applicants, and all girls who qualify are asked to get in touch with either one.

Regulations for the loan specify that a girl must have graduated from high school, must be a resident of Birmingham, and must be desirous of taking not more than one year of business training. Those taking advantage of the fund will be given 18 months after turning their first position, to pay up the loan.

The club will meet at the Community House next Thursday for dinner and the annual election of officers.

Hunting Dress To Be Worn For Early Breakfast

Formal hunting dress will be worn for the first time this season by members of the Franklin Open Hunt Saturday, when Arthur A. Bull, president, will be host to members and guests at a hunt breakfast at 9:30 a. m. at the Fox and Hounds. The breakfast will follow the regular Saturday hunt, which will start from the club property at 6:30 a. m. The hunt also will formally open its new kennels located on its property on the Fourteen Mile and Wing Lake, for the Saturday meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Marc T. Patten of West Long Lake road are expected home Oct. 10, from Pass Creek ranch near Parkman, Wyo., after a sojourn of three weeks.

Distinctly Personal Christmas Greeting Cards

Here now, and unusually complete, are the assortments of Greeting Cards for Christmas, 1937. And here your wishes will have full sway, for there is wide opportunity for individual choice.

Hand-made papers of soft hues, with delectable eye-in-the-rag and parchment... hand painted, never in such good taste... joyously colorful modernistic designs... etchings of old masters reproduced in greeting fashion for framing... thought and sentiment of a new sincerity... greater consideration in children's cards... SURELY here you will find the end of your search for exactly what you want.

So let your selection be reflective. Begin thinking, now, of the holiday season, for then you will be more pleased than ever to let these better cards of individuality carry your name to your friends.

Fashion Tips

A new but striking combination is that of black and Derain green. Derain: a soft olive shade of green. One designer sets wide bands of this color around the waist lines of black frocks and on the coat he places a band of the same color at the back of the collar across the shoulder blades.

Many of the tweed coats are lined with brilliant plaids.

The use of fur is more subtle this season than is usually so. Fur is not put on in great pieces but is really fashioned to go with the lines of one's coat. Astrakan, for instance, is used very much as one would use braids.

One attractive coat is of woolen with a small Persian collar that extends down one side to form a pocket.

Another designer is showing an ankle length coat to be worn over a short dress.
