

Unique Organization In Musical Circles Enters Third Year

VARIETY, SPICE OF NEW BOOKS

Tell How To Lose Friends Or Give A Party Or Hook Rugs

Almost every sort of instructive manual, from Tressler's satire on Dale Carnegie's best-seller on down (or up, depending on the reader's viewpoint), is included in the list of newest books at the Baldwin Public Library. The more serious tomes cater to the interests of everyone who has a home or would like a hobby. And there is one murder mystery.

Irving Tressler's book is aptly called "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People." When you see the silly cover, when you read his supposed list of former works, "Readers Digest Very Little" and "How to Ride Over Hill and Dale"; when you note the dedication, "To Adolph Hitler, the Man Who Doesn't Need to Read This Book"—you will know what to expect. It's the book that many have turned over in their minds, but that only Tressler could and would write.

"The Case of the Lame Canary" is another Perry Mason story, by Erie Stanley Gardner. Limping warblers, beautiful women who make up their own rules and the inimitable Perry are all featured in the agreeable solution of disagreeable crimes.

Two thorough manuals of entertainment are Arthur M. Dewey's books. "The Cokesbury Party Book" contains 32 planned parties for youngsters, with at least four for every month of the year. There are 400 games and stunts, as well as suggestions for appropriate decorations, refreshments and invitations. "The Cokesbury Stunt Book," like its predecessor, contains as much material as possible. It has 600 stunts for the stage, banquets or luncheons; camp novelties, conundrums, brain-twisters and games to make more.

"Building a Model Railroad" is written by Albert S. Coolidge, who, suffering from a virulent case of "railroad fever," infected his sons and his friends. The "malady" is liable to spread, after people read the book.

"Creative Design in Furniture," written by William H. Varnum, will be the home maker's delight. It explains the spirit, technique and terminology of modern design, and then goes into minute detail on spacing, surfaces etc. and the resultant problems of each.

"Bringing out the home-making theme is "Upholstered Furniture," by C. W. Seager. This lists the latest version of Fannie Merritt School's "Boston Cooking School Cook Book."

G. M. T. Male Chorus, 54 Voices, Starts Rehearsals for Concert

The fact that rehearsal for the fall concert to be given by the General Motors truck division chorus of 54 voices shortly after Thanksgiving in the Pontiac High School Auditorium have begun, again throws the spotlight upon a unique organization that, although started only two years ago, has gained for itself a prominent place in the list of newest books at the Baldwin Public Library. The more serious tomes cater to the interests of everyone who has a home or would like a hobby. And there is one murder mystery.

Irving Tressler's book is aptly called "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People." When you see the silly cover, when you read his supposed list of former works, "Readers Digest Very Little" and "How to Ride Over Hill and Dale"; when you note the dedication, "To Adolph Hitler, the Man Who Doesn't Need to Read This Book"—you will know what to expect. It's the book that many have turned over in their minds, but that only Tressler could and would write.

"The Case of the Lame Canary" is another Perry Mason story, by Erie Stanley Gardner. Limping warblers, beautiful women who make up their own rules and the inimitable Perry are all featured in the agreeable solution of disagreeable crimes.

Two thorough manuals of entertainment are Arthur M. Dewey's books. "The Cokesbury Party Book" contains 32 planned parties for youngsters, with at least four for every month of the year. There are 400 games and stunts, as well as suggestions for appropriate decorations, refreshments and invitations. "The Cokesbury Stunt Book," like its predecessor, contains as much material as possible. It has 600 stunts for the stage, banquets or luncheons; camp novelties, conundrums, brain-twisters and games to make more.

"Building a Model Railroad" is written by Albert S. Coolidge, who, suffering from a virulent case of "railroad fever," infected his sons and his friends. The "malady" is liable to spread, after people read the book.

"Creative Design in Furniture," written by William H. Varnum, will be the home maker's delight. It explains the spirit, technique and terminology of modern design, and then goes into minute detail on spacing, surfaces etc. and the resultant problems of each.

"Bringing out the home-making theme is "Upholstered Furniture," by C. W. Seager. This lists the latest version of Fannie Merritt School's "Boston Cooking School Cook Book."

Cranbrook School of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, was appointed, director of the chorus.

Under his leadership interest in the organization developed rapidly. The first public concert was given at the Pontiac High School in January, 1936, and so great was the response on the part of the citizens of Pontiac that a second concert was given that spring. This led to demands for a fall concert, held just before Christmas, which proved such an enjoyable occasion for music lovers that a regular spring and fall concert was decided upon.

Out-of-town people who had heard the male chorus at the concert at Pontiac, praised the organization so highly that invitations came pouring in from neighboring communities. In response to these the male chorus has appeared in concerts at Birmingham, at Royal Oak, at Rochester, at the Cranbrook School, at the State Sing at Flint and at the Women's National Farm and Garden Association convention at Oakland Hills Country Club, besides appearing many times at Pontiac gatherings.

In addition to Mr. Kellett, the director, the male chorus is guided by its activities by a governing body consisting of W. D. Corbett, president, Arnie Thigstad, secretary, and Cecil Voss, treasurer.

INSTITUTE JUNIOR GROUPS AT WORK

Cranbrook Youths Observe Plant Collection Used By Indians

The Junior Member Groups of the Cranbrook Institute of Science, ranging in age from 12 to 18 years, started work on Saturday. In the past these children have worked on many projects including taxidermy, the building of bird feeders and bird houses, sketching of plants and animals, microscopy, the making of casts of animals and animal tracks and many other things.

This year the younger Junior Members are starting a collection of the many plants used by the Indians for food, medicine, dyeing and weaving. When this collection is completed they will learn how to make pottery, baskets, headbands, firebows, arrowheads, axes and many other things used by the Indians. In January, the Junior Members will stage an Indian encampment at the Cranbrook Institute of Science where they will show the many things that they have collected and made. The Institute is offering a series of prizes for the best collections. These prizes will consist of actual Indian implements and ornaments.

The older Junior Members are starting out by making a collection of the many queer and brilliant

A GENTLEMAN'S RESIDENCE
Designed and Built by Richard H. May

In Bloomfield Hills--

A dwelling that was built under the scrupulous personal supervision of one of Detroit's outstanding architects, embodying the latest features of equipment and design.

In an unsurpassed locale... just south of Bloomfield Hills Country Club and just north of the famous Cranbrook School development... while only a "stone's throw" to Faughan School... overlooking a captivating landscape.

This home is an adaptation of the charming late 18th century houses of Connecticut with an exterior of Bedford stone and wide faced cupboards.

From the reception room with its large arched window and graceful staircase one steps down two steps into the Georgian living room with its authentic fireplace faced with marble and great French mirror to the ceiling.

The dining room with its enormous bay window overlooks an Alpine sunken garden. The cozy library has a fireplace with wood box adjacent. Its bay window with glass to the floor and many book shelves offer interesting decorative possibilities.

On the second floor are four master bedrooms, sparkling with sunlight, each will accommodate twin beds; also two servants' rooms; spacious linen room, cedar room and trunk room are on this floor.

Among other features of this complete country home are: the latest in air conditioned heat and summer cooling, Rock wool insulation—Artesian well with an unlimited water supply. Tool house for the storage of toys, bicycles and garden equipment.

Open Sunday afternoons... or private showing at your request

Somewhat, at every autumn approaches, I appreciate it the more. Not only for its color, but for its eternal promise of another Spring!

SIXTIETH YEAR—NO. 26

Golfhurst Has Met Popular Demand

REAL SUBURBAN HOMESITES

108 x 135

ALL IMPROVEMENTS IN READY TO BUILD

Our quota of sites, with your choice—$800.00, has been virtually exhausted and this is to inform those interested that the price of these sites will be increased to $1,000.00 on October first.

This represents a savings of 20% to those making application during the month of September.

Liberal Financing Available for Building

Branch office on the property, corner 14 mile and Southfield Roads opposite Birmingham Golf Club.

BROADFIELD ORGANIZATION, INC.

1711 W. MAPLE PHONE SEVEN-ELEVEN

$60 RENT

An attractive white brick Colonial, built last year, is available at a figure far below its cost to build today. Built for an exacting owner, the accommodations are most individual.

Living Room—17 x 25
Dining Room—14 x 17
Library—8 x 11
4 Large, comfortable Bedrooms
3 Attractive Baths
Recreation Room—17 x 25
Work Shop—8 x 11

A reasonable cash payment to the 20 year FHA mortgage leaves a balance of $11,000, payable at $112 monthly—inclusive of taxes, insurance, and all charges. Deducting the average principal payment leaves $60 chargeable to rent. That's mighty cheap living!

Call

MAX BROOK INC.

ESTABLISHED 1895

1738 W. MAPLE ROAD BIRMINGHAM 1215 3087 W. GRAND BLVD. MADISON 8782

NEW 6 ROOM EARLY AMERICAN

Extra lavatory, recreation room, oil heat, air conditioned, attached 2 car garage. It costs less to live in this fine home with the latest equipment than to pay rent.

1 block S. of Quarton School, 1/2 block W. of Chesterfield

OPEN SUNDAY, 2 to 6 P. M.

ALSO 4 BEDROOM, WHITE FRAME COLONIAL GOOD CONSTRUCTION, CONVENIENT TO TRANSPORTATION HALF OF ORIGINAL COST

Walsh, James & Wasey Co.

DETROIT, BIRMINGHAM, SPOKANE, INDIANAPOLIS, CLEVELAND, CINCINNATI, COLUMBUS, DAYTON, KANSAS CITY, NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA, PITTSBURGH, RICHMOND, WASHINGTON, WICHITA

431 S. WOODWARD AVE. BIRMINGHAM 1250

EARLY AMERICAN

New Home occupied less than six months Owner leaving town and wishes to sell.

An opportunity to secure a new home at much less than it would cost to duplicate building alone today.

House has 4 large bedrooms with 2 way exposure in each, 2 tile baths. Numerous extra closets. Tile kitchen. Breakfast nook. Lavatory. Air conditioned heat. Water softener. Insulated. All other new modern features.

Can be purchased for less than $16,000. Shown by appointment only.

BALL-STODDARD COMPANY REALTORS

WANT ADS COST LITTLE AND GET QUICK RESULTS

Wisner To Announce MSC-U of M Contest

Birmingham alumni of Michigan State College will be interested to know that Harry Wisner, former Michigan State Student, who gained prominence through his broadcast of "Detroit Lions' Party Book" contains 32 planned parties for youngsters, with at least four for every month of the year. There are 400 games and stunts, as well as suggestions for appropriate decorations, refreshments and invitations. "The Cokesbury Stunt Book," like its predecessor, contains as much material as possible. It has 600 stunts for the stage, banquets or luncheons; camp novelties, conundrums, brain-twisters and games to make more.

"Building a Model Railroad" is written by Albert S. Coolidge, who, suffering from a virulent case of "railroad fever," infected his sons and his friends. The "malady" is liable to spread, after people read the book.

"Creative Design in Furniture," written by William H. Varnum, will be the home maker's delight. It explains the spirit, technique and terminology of modern design, and then goes into minute detail on spacing, surfaces etc. and the resultant problems of each.

"Bringing out the home-making theme is "Upholstered Furniture," by C. W. Seager. This lists the latest version of Fannie Merritt School's "Boston Cooking School Cook Book."

SEASON'S KILL MUST BE LISTED ON FORMS

LANSING, Oct. 2—Hunters should not use the blank form attached to their new hunting license for the purpose of reporting last season's kill, the Department of conservation announced today.

The amended game laws say that the form must be used to report all game killed during the coming season by the licensee and that the report be made to Lansing before Feb. 15.

Several hunters already have used their report forms to itemize game bagged last fall. It is the report of this season's kill, rather than last season's that is required.

New Chamberlain Residence On Brookwood

YOU CANNOT FIND BETTER SECURITY FOR YOUR SAVINGS

than carefully selected homes of dependable borrowers...and very few investments are as profitable

BIRMINGHAM FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

243 EAST MAPLE AVE. Chartered and Supervised by U. S. Government

Pictured above is the attractive grey shingle and brick Colonial house recently completed for E. Chamberlain. Situated on a large corner lot and facing on Brookwood Avenue, the residence includes four bedrooms and three baths. It is insulated throughout and air conditioned.

The house was built by Suburban Homes, Inc. and sold through Max Brook, Inc., local real estate concern.

Church Men's Club Dinner Next Week

The Presbyterian Men's Club will hold its regular monthly dinner at the church, on Tuesday, October 7. K. B. Olson is in charge of reservations and announces that everyone, whether or not he is a member of the club, is invited to attend this meeting. The members will assemble in the lobby of the church and dinner will be served promptly at 7 p. m.

Paul G. Moreland, a partner of William M. Lee and Company, investment bankers, will address the group on the work of the Securities Exchange Commission. The program committee of the Men's Club feels that Mr. Moreland's topic is of vital interest to business men and for all those who are affected, either directly or indirectly, by the operations of the securities markets, and that Mr. Moreland not only has an intimate knowledge of his subject but the ability to make it interesting.

School Journalists Preparing Program

Members of the Baldwin High School's newly-formed journalism class are hard at work this week, preparing to go to press with their annual Fall publication—the football program, this year to be issued for the home game with Monroe High School of Monroe, Michigan.

Under the leadership of Miss Vida McGiffin, adviser to the class, and with Norman Lyle, Jr., serving as editor and George Bounds as associate editor, the students are writing and checking copy, preparing advertisements, taking photographs to be made into cuts for the magazine, and drawing up the dummy for the printer.

SENDING MONEY OUT OF TOWN

Whether or not you are a depositor here, you can purchase a draft at this bank that will be payable anywhere, for any amount you may wish.

If you ever need to send funds to another city, where your check is not known, we shall be glad to supply you with a cashier's check at moderate charge so that there will be no delay to the recipient.

The Birmingham National Bank

"Birmingham's Community Bank"

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

INSURANCE - BONDS THE BIRMINGHAM AGENCY

CHAS B RANDALL OSCAR P PETERSON

Insurance for Every Need

PHONE 840 106 S WOODWARD - BIRMINGHAM

SNYDER BUCK & BENNETT

THEATRE BUILDING BIRMINGHAM 1400