TOM WADE IS SPEAKER BEFORE TRIANGLE CLUB

Tom Wade of Detroit, famed for his traditional Sunday morning breakfasts, for his charm as a raconteur and for his acquaintance with almost every celebrity who has ever visited Detroit, was guest of honor at the Sunday evening meeting of the Triangle Club, at the Community House.

Seated informally in the center of the circle around the fireplace, Mr. Wade spoke intimately of such persons as Joan Lowell, Captain Bob Bartlett, Alice Templeton and many others, in a steady flow of anecdotes and side-lights on figures in the public eye. He welcomed questions from the group, answering them as he went along.

remembering fresh stories as fast as they were needed. Joy Stewart and Elsie Taylor acted as hostesses for the refreshments which followed Mr. Wade's address. Fred Cushing and Harry and Clayton Broadford, Fred Boynton and Bud Wells of Detroit, all students at the University of Michigan, were new faces in the group.

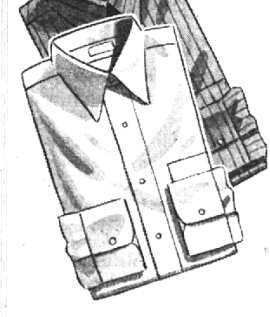

George Flower, a charter member of Triangle, is arranging a bicycle club with an eye towards warm weather amusement. Several machines have been located for the use of those who do not own them, and the enthusiastic cyclists are promising to at least try to repair any broken ones brought to them. The group will welcome anyone who can ride a bicycle, or who thinks he would like to try it. More details will be announced in the future.

The group will meet at the same time next Sunday evening, and will welcome any young person in town who wants to enlarge his acquaintance.
