SOUTHERN GIRL BECOMES BRIDE OF LOCAL MAN

A wedding of much importance socially was solemnized Saturday morning when Miss Laura McAllister, daughter of former Governor and Mrs. Hill McAllister, became the bride of Don U. Bathrick, of Birmingham.

The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock in the McAllister home in Nashville, Tenn.

The bride is a member of a distinguished Southern family. She is active in the Junior League and the Garden Club of Nashville. Her education was begun in the South and completed with three years of finishing schools in France, England, Italy and Switzerland.

The groom is a native of Detroit and Birmingham for many years. He is a graduate of Culver Military Academy, having served as president of the Culver Legion, the Academy's alumni association. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1918.

The couple left for a honeymoon trip in Florida and will return about May 1 when they will reside at 409 West Maple avenue.

KEPPELS FETED BY OLD FRIENDS AT CRANBROOK

Inspired by the presence in their midst of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Keppel, of Fort Deposit, Md., a flurry of parties have been given at Cranbrook for the Cranbrook faculty set. Dr. Keppel, who formerly was assistant in charge at Cranbrook and now is headmaster of the Toms school at Fort Deposit, and Mrs. Keppel arrived on Tuesday, to be the guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patch, of Lone Pine road.

Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scripps, both complimented of the Keppels with a dinner at the Bloomfield home. The party also honored and surprised Miss J. Rodney Weeks, who was celebrating her birthday anniversary. Following the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Hoy and Miss Jessie Winter held open house for the visitors at Mrs. Winter's home at Kingwood. About 50 of Dr. and Mrs. Keppel's old friends attended this affair.

A dinner was given Wednesday evening at the school, for members of the faculty who were there when Dr. and Mrs. Keppel were at Cranbrook.

Concluding the week's festivities in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Keppel will be a pot-luck supper to be given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weeks, on Brown road. In the party, besides the visitors, will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Patch, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Nickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Booth, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beresford, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beresford, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Alan W. Wertz.
