

Village Players Will Conclude Season With Hilarious Three-Night Run

EASTER LILIES BANK ALTAR AT LOVELY RITES

The richness of Easter decorations combined Saturday with the traditional bridal glamour to make the wedding of Father Elizabeth Rainey to William Marshall Hebblewhite one of the loveliest of the season. The Rev. W. Glen Harris read the nuptials at four o'clock in the afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church. Palm and Easter lilies banked the altar, which was illuminated by the glow of white tapers.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Rainey of West Maple avenue, chose a white gown of bridal satin, buttoned with medical white. A collar of seed pearls and tathings down the entire length of the back formed the trimmings. The full sleeves were shirred to the elbow, and were snug to the wrist. This treatment was carried over to the gown, which fitted closely to below the hips, where it broke into soft fullness, ending in a long train. Her knee-length veil was crafted into an Elizabethan cap, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of gardenias and white sweet peas.

Sister Is Attendant
Miss Edith Rainey, who was her sister's attendant, wore a lace gown of light cornflower blue, and a matching horsehair picture hat. The sleeves were short and puffed, and added fullness was given to the extended full length of the gown. She carried an old-fashioned Colonial bouquet of pink sweet peas and matching roses.

Robert Beal of Mt. Clemens attended Mr. Hebblewhite, who is the son of Mrs. Charles Hebblewhite of Ypsilanti. Seating the guests were Stewart Rainey, Fred Sage, John Springman of Detroit and Earl Nelson of Northville. Large double white tulips were used about the reception room at the Community House, where the guests were received following the ceremony. A long arrangement of snapdragons, carnations and roses, all in white, centered the table. Those who were seated were Miss Margaret Cooney of Detroit, Miss Amy Schneider, Miss Eleanor Miller and Miss Elizabeth Haxell. A separate table, laid with a lace cloth, held the tiered cakes of the bride and groom.

Out-of-Town Guests
For the occasion, Mrs. Rainey was gown in a dusty-rose chiffon costume, with a matching lace jacket. Her accessories were navy, and she wore a corsage arrangement of Sweetheart roses and lavender pansies. Mrs. Hebblewhite chose a pink and white frock for her son's wedding. She too wore navy accessories, with a corsage of yellow roses.

Among the out-of-town guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harold and their son, John of Ypsilanti, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Korte, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bowles, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nelson, Mrs. George Stone and her daughter, Miss Mary Louise, Miss Margaret Patterson and Miss Evangeline Purcell, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beal of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Mosher and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Summer of Holly, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cleary and Mrs. August Herbert of Fairhaven, Mrs. L. D. Gann of Lakeland and Mr. and Mrs. Earle Corrovet of Kalamazoo.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left on a ten-day motor trip through the south. On their return they will be at home in the Southfield apartments. For traveling, Mrs. Hebblewhite chose a dusty blue three piece suit, of tweed. With it she wore navy accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. S. O. Wylie Bell of Elm street and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dan McGaffey, left Tuesday for a fortnight's motor trip to Washington, D. C., Virginia and the Carolinas.

Dulcy's Caught Off-Guard In What Is Probably Her Quietest Moment

Charles D. McCall

Mrs. Maurice B. Cochran

"Dulcy," makeup heroine of the three-act Kaufman comedy by the same name, will inspire one of the gayest performances of the year when her three-night run opens to-night at the Playhouse. The Village Players will conclude their season at this time, with performances on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. This annual spring show is traditionally open to the public. Several parties have been organized for before or after one or another of the performances, and many others of an informal nature are indicated.

The festivities were inaugurated Sunday night, when the husbands or wives of members of the large cast and technical staff met for a pot-luck supper at the Playhouse, in the interval between rehearsals. Thursday night's performance will be dedicated especially to the young set, although attendance will also be limited to them. Mrs. Earle B. witness the play on this night, with Mrs. Robert S. Porritt and Miss Lovetta Puritt as her guests. Also in the group will be Earl B. Wilson, Jr. and Miss Ruth Porritt. The house guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Dannehy will also attend this performance. They are Mrs. R. A. Gannau and her son, Douglas.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Bell will be hosts at an informal dinner preceding the play, in their home on Forest avenue. Honor guest for the occasion will be Mrs. Laurence E. Day.

Fashion Tips

Hatpins are back in style again but they are very short at present and used in a purely ornamental way. One's hatpin will be worn with a matching bracelet, pin or necklace.

A clever hatpin has its head attached with a spring so that it quivers whenever the head is moved.

Veils are not necessarily worn haphazardly over one's face. It is again the vogue to put them lightly beneath the chin and tie them up in the back. Veils are in all colors and it is smart to have them match one's accessories.

If one doesn't care for a veil entirely of one color, buy a black one with chenille dots of color. Dusty pink dots on a black veil worn with a black hat trimmed in pink grosgrain, is good.

STATE AAUW TO PARTICIPATE IN DISTRICT MEET

Michigan State division of the American Association of University Women will hold its annual meeting at the Palmer House, Chicago, May 6-7, in conjunction with the sixth biennial conference of the Northeast Central section, comprised of five states.

The Birmingham chapter of the A. A. U. W. will be well represented at the conference. Several reservations have been made already and most are expected by the local group. Mrs. Franklyn Priecker, president of the Birmingham chapter, will continue her attendance. Mrs. Fred D. Farrar, state president of the A. A. U. W., will also be there, as will Mrs. Charles J. Shan and Mrs. Loren T. Robinson.

State chapters will confer with local branch chairmen Friday morning, May 6, while election of officers and discussion of plans for the ensuing year will take place Saturday, May 7, following the Michigan State breakfast from 7:30 to 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

One Hundred Years of Higher Education for Women is the theme of the conference for representatives of 14,000 members in the sections, which include Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Prominent speakers to be heard include: Dean Margaret Morris, of Pembroke college, national president of the A. A. U. W.; Dr. Marion Talbot, a national founder; and Dr. Marjorie Nicolson, dean of Smith college.

There will be seminars and workshops on legislation, following international relations, social problems and creative arts, and a special University of Chicago round table on "American Foreign Policy—Design or Drift?" University women other than members are invited to attend.

Miss Eleanor Bishop will entertain at luncheon today for members of her sewing club, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lane Bishop of Poplar avenue.

Sitting at the luncheon table, at which covers will be laid for Mrs. Frank N. Mosher, Mrs. Lyle Jones, Mrs. Kenneth M. Kinney, Mrs. Floyd O. Garfield, Mrs. Robert L. Clark, Mrs. William G. O'Rourke, Mrs. Russell B. Stephens, all of Birmingham, and from Detroit, Miss Beth Barnes, Mrs. Clark Matthews and Mrs. Joseph A. Braun, Jr.

Everything Novel From Knives To Dolls Is Entered In Barnum PTA Hobby Show

Several unusual exhibits have already been promised for the Hobby Show which will be presented by the Barnum School Parents Teacher Association on the evening of Thursday, April 28. Anyone desiring floor, wall or table space is requested either to apply his display to the school in ample time, or else to make a reservation with Mrs. Raymond D. Gage or Miles W. Robinson, co-chairmen of the event. The privilege of exhibiting or attending the show is open to the general public as well as to Association members.

One of the most interesting displays will be that of Mrs. Blanche Nixon, formerly of Kensington, London, Eng., and at present of Second boulevard in Detroit. She will show tiny statuettes, model scenes and other objects, all made with exquisite care, out of postage stamps. She has exhibited her work at several local affairs since coming to this country.

Mrs. John E. Martz will show a variety of Oriental objects, acquired during her travels in the far east. The Orient will combine with Russia and other countries in the display of Mrs. J. Nicholas

Hadjiskey, who has also become a collector during her travels abroad. Mrs. Clarence G. Heinmiller's hobby is collecting small items and vases of all kinds. Some of those she will exhibit are antiques and others are curios. Many have come from foreign countries.

Interest in the Hobby Show is not confined solely to women. Mr. Robinson will sponsor an exhibiting collection of knives for the interest of a number of men, most every known type of knife, both in current usage and back through the ages. High school boys will take a hand in the show as well as their elders. Headed by Andrew Watson, a group from Baldwin will present Indian lore of various sorts, and also give a group of Indian dances.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Denny of East State Lake road, Mrs. James M. Denny, Mrs. J. R. Ackerman, Mrs. Dorey Allen, Mrs. A. L. Moses, Mrs. Deborah C. James, Mrs. Clark C. Coulter, Mrs. Ernest J. Jackson, Mrs. R. V. Cutler, Mrs. J. U. Mauders, Mrs. A. R. Downer, Mrs. Adelle

DAR MEMBERS TELL DETAILS OF BRIDGE TEA

Preparations are going forward rapidly for the annual bridge tea, sponsored by the Peggy Hill Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The affair, which will be held at the Community House on the afternoon of Tuesday, April 26, is attracting the interest of a number of matrons in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills, within the membership of the chapter and otherwise. The spring is open to the public. Spring flowers will carry out the motif on the tea table and about the room. Those who will pour are Mrs. C. V. Cockett and Mrs. Glenn Coley.

Among the early reservations of tables for the affair are those of Mrs. Richard Dolbo, Young, Mrs. J. R. Ackerman, Mrs. Dorey Allen, Mrs. A. L. Moses, Mrs. Deborah C. James, Mrs. Clark C. Coulter, Mrs. Ernest J. Jackson, Mrs. R. V. Cutler, Mrs. J. U. Mauders, Mrs. A. R. Downer, Mrs. Adelle

Fiske, Mrs. H. J. Kliner, Mrs. Frank L. Klingsmeier, Mrs. W. H. DeGraft, Mrs. Crockett, Mrs. Walter G. Stecker, Mrs. E. W. Brahm, Mrs. Mark Harris, Mrs. Harold G. Perkins, Mrs. Norman Lyle, Mrs. George Costing, Mrs. D. A. Green, Miss Addie Sly, Mrs. A. W. Golling, Mrs. Henry A. Manley, Mrs. William A. Sharvet and Mrs. Coley.

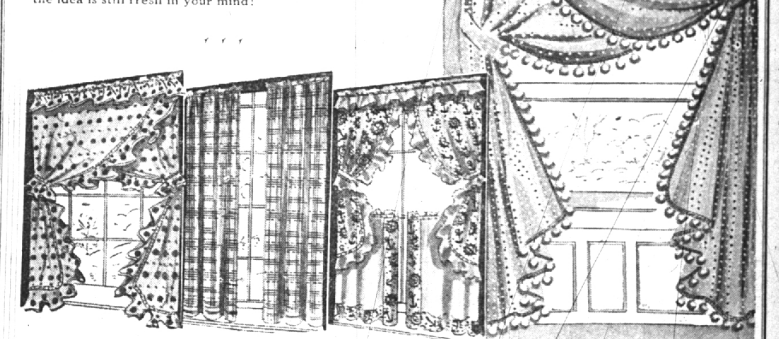

Book Drive Starts
Another spring project of the local chapter is a book and magazine drive, which is being started this week. Many of the books will be given to the newly-formed Franklin Village Library. Magazines will be sent to the Veterans' Hospital of Detroit. Those who wish to contribute either books or magazines are asked to call Mrs. Walter G. Stecker at 814 or to bring them to her home, 607 Pilegrim road. She and Mrs. William L. Graham are co-chairmen of the drive.

Dr. and Mrs. Laurence E. Day have been the house guests for a fortnight of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Bell of Forest avenue, after winning in Mexico. Dr. Day left Tuesday for his summer home and Glen Lake where he will be joined at the end of the week by Mrs. Day.

The Story of FARIBO BLANKETS

The Faribo blanket is a super quality product woven in a bright, clean, modern mill. It has been made to uphold a name famous for quality since 1863. The blanket is woven entirely from new long fiber Northern grown wool, directly from the sheep's back. There is no old or reworked wool used. The thick nap on this blanket assures exceptional warmth without excessive weight. Long life is built in by use of long fiber, high tensile strength yarn. It will not pull out of shape under ordinary household service, and if washed according to directions on label, it will give delightful comfort and retain its softness and beauty for many years. All colors are sun-proof and tub-proof. Bindings are first grade and will not ravel out along the edges.
