

'DULCY' BRINGS MERRIMENT TO LOCAL AUDIENCE

(Continued from Page 1, Part 1) was Vincent Leach, "scenarist," more than ably assisted by Fred D. Farrar. His recitation of the proposed film to be known as "Sin," was one of the smoothest and most entertaining bits in the entire play. Not to be forgotten as a performer, is his partner in this "crime," the suave maniac, Schuler Van Dyck, portrayed with finesse by George Shepher. Mr. Shepher did a nice bit of work in his interpretation of the New York blue blood slightly "tched."

Cloud L. Cray, as C. Roger

Forbes, middle-aged financier, with a quirk in his disposition, as well as in his back, contributed much to the comedy of the play, by his seemingly genuine moods and tantrums. He gave an excellent portrayal of the jealous husband, irate father, and generally cantankerous business success.

In passing around the lair, Charles D. McCall, who slipped noiselessly on and off stage as Henry the butler, deserves a generous share. George Miller did a nice bit of acting as Blair Patterson, cousin and self-appointed guardian of "schuyler Van Dyck."

Women in Misery.

Besides Dulcy, the only other women in the cast were Mrs. C. Howard (Jean Donnelly as "Mrs. Forbes," and Mrs. Howard T. (Marge) Worden, as Angela Forbes. Mrs. Worden is a superb performer in the Players' troupe, and has many a role to her credit, including that of Angela. Mrs. Donnelly making her debut in a public performance, deserves a hand.

Two members-at-large on the committee, are Mrs. Jack Boomer and D. E. Burnett. Mrs. Lally was elected secretary of the permanent organization, and Mr. Burnett, treasurer.

The program for the coming summer includes playground activities and the use of the Barnum pool, with additional activities, and the making of a picnic. Last summer the general all-community recreation program was inaugurated with considerable success. Under Mr. Robinson's direction, hundreds of boys and girls as well as adults, were given opportunity to enjoy recreation facilities, with the result that the Committee decided to undertake a similar project this summer.

Stylish Garbage

"Shining Lines," published by Mergenthaler Linotype Co., is reminded of the colorful magazine mistress, overcome by curiosity, said to her: "I notice you have been taking our emerald and rubi skins home with you. What do you do with them?"

The socially ambitious negroes looked at her mistress with a knowing smirk and answered: "Yes! We been taking 'em home, mister. I think they makes my garbage look so stylish."

PUBLISHER TO CAMPAIGN FOR STATE OFFICE

(Continued from Page 1, Part 1) legislator declares that he is entering the campaign as a result of hundreds of letters and editorial comments emanating from every section of Michigan urging that he continue in state affairs.

"I believe I can best serve the state at this time, in the office of auditor general," stated Mr. Brown. "He is my belief that the importance of this office to the people of Michigan has been overlooked in recent years. I am confident that if I am nominated and elected I can render a distinct service to this capacity."

"Clamor for party patronage has defeated several measures proposed in the legislature and aimed at economy. Others who have failed in accomplishing their purpose because of untidily administered Obsolete accounting methods frequently lead to confusion and controversy concerning the condition of state funds. For years there has been complaint regarding duplication and unnecessary expense but no remedy has been applied. Useless expense, not only at the state capital but in the counties, has been rampant. In Michigan, results from unnecessary accounting between county and state, required only but now to no purpose since the state has abandoned the property tax. Many who economies can be effected without sacrifice of efficiency. My experience in the state legislature has led me to discover these shortcomings in this department. I am convinced that if nominated and elected auditor general I can do much to reduce costs and increase efficiency."

To close the concert, the entire chorus will sing the National hymn, "God of Our Fathers."

EXCHANGE CLUB GOES AERONUTIC AND FLIES PLANES

(Continued from Page 1, Part 2) send street, which had been sold off by a considerate program committee. The flying contest was conducted under the direction of Mr. Vhay and Squire D. Eulich, a member of the National Committee of Service to Aviation.

Daniel C. Egbert carried off the biggest all-day sucker as first prize in the flight for distance, but trouble started when James W. Taylor was awarded the second "sucker." It seems that Mr. Taylor had damaged his plane in a trial flight, and borrowed that of Stanley Hanley for his entry in the contest. The controversy started when Mr. Bentley claimed Mr. Taylor's "sucker" on the basis that he was the legal owner of the plane.

Having settled the argument without any major crack-up, the judges awarded the first prize for the endurance record to Everett D. Whittlesey, and the second, to Dr. John P. Wood.

One Way Only

"Son," said the traveling salesman to the little mountain boy, "can you tell me where your father is?"

"He's down in the hollow making whiskey."

"Thanks. And now I'll give you a dollar to take me down where he is."

"Will you give it to me now?"

"I'll give it to you when we get back. That's fair enough, isn't it?"

"Nope, 'Cause you hain't coming back."

Have You? No Cause For Grumbling

Washington Post—"Him I don't like the look of your wife at all, Mr. Blunt," said the doctor, after he had examined the patient.

"Neither do I," answered Blunt, "but still she's a good wife, and looks after the children and the house well—no I can't grumble, I suppose."
