'PANAMEXICO' IS ANSWER TO WANDERLUST

By Linda Moore

Are you a victim of Wanderlust? Do even your best friends desert you, these warm spring days, when day-dreaming, you gaze vacantly out of the window and can be found turning over brightly colored and enticing travel literature? If so, Carvel's 'Panamexico' is the remedy, to be taken in large doses, preferably while sitting in the sun. That wandering Englishman has been off on another trek, this time to Mexico and Central America, in a trailer (a very elegant one with all kinds of gadgets). Being a born traveler with a positive genius for seeing the odd, the ridiculous and the curious, Wells managed to have a very entertaining time, and his book is full of the spirit of adventure.

The Evolution of Physics, by Albert Einstein and Leopold Infeld, is another of the curious Wells managed to have a very entertaining time, and his book is full of the spirit of adventure.

TOY DISCLOSES EXTENSIVE PLAN FOR CAMPAIGN

Lansing, April 26.—The issues in the forthcoming campaign in Michigan are clearly defined. Henry S. Toy, former attorney general and supreme court justice, announced here this week that his plans for extending his Republican gubernatorial campaign into every section of the state.

In his numerous campaign talks so far the former Wayne county prosecutor has flayed Governor Frank Murphy for his attitude toward law enforcement and for his failure to advance the cause of the laboring man.

"The people of Michigan have had enough of this uncontrolled spending in Lansing," he declared in a recent talk. "The state has more than sufficient revenue upon which to operate and there is no need for the huge deficits which the Murphy regime is accumulating in Lansing at the present time."

The people should have a direct voice in state governmental affairs, he said. He proposed a decentralization program which will place a vast amount of state government operations back in the counties.

NEW FORM TO SIMPLIFY WORK OF EMPLOYERS

A marked reduction in the number of employer reports required by the Treasury Department in connection with the administration of federal old-age insurance will be effected through a new form which combines tax returns and wage reports, the Social Security Board announced today. The new form not only simplifies the reporting required of employers but helps the Government in its record keeping.

The new quarterly form, known as SS-1a, takes the place of both the monthly tax return and of the 6-month information return previously filed by employers for 1937. On this one form, employers will report all the information previously given on monthly tax returns, Form SS-1, and 6-month information returns, Forms SS-2 and SS-2a. Payment by employers of their taxes and their employees' taxes will be made quarterly when the new Form SS-1a is filed. The first report of interest revenue will be due in January, February, and March, and must be filed with local collectors of interest revenue not later than April 30.

Under the federal old-age insurance system employers are required to report each employee's name, account number, and wages. This information is transmitted by the Bureau of Internal Revenue to the Social Security Board, where it is recorded in a social security account maintained for each employee for use in figuring the employee's old-age insurance benefits.

The new method of reporting is especially important for operators of small establishments who usually do their own bookkeeping. Returns from employers during 1937 showed that about 95 per cent had 20 or less employees.

The new form provides space for reporting the wages of 20 employees. For employers who have more than 20 employees a continuation sheet, known as Form SS-1b, is provided.

MORTGAGE BURNS AS CONGREGATION SINGS DOXOLOGY

A ceremony, historic in the annals of the First Presbyterian church, was enacted Wednesday evening at the congregational dinner, when the mortgage was burned before the assemblage.

W. Glen Harris, pastor, led the congregation in a hymn, "The Church's One Foundation." Then R. P. Cole, treasurer, introduced Ralph I. Corryell and Thomas R. Nadin, who reviewed the history of the church.

H. H. Kendall, chairman of the Board of Trustees, received the mortgage from Mr. Cole, presenting it to Miss Anna Parks, who ignited it, while the congregation sang "The Doxology."

At the meeting which followed, church officers were elected. Those chosen as elders are: F. R. Woodard, H. G. Wood, N. S. Grubbs and T. C. Smith. Trustees elected include: W. J. Waterbury, Fred W. I. Saborn, and Floyd A. Arthurs. N. Wingersden, Rice A. Howell and Charles B. Randall.

Mr. Protheroe is completing his third year as director of the club, which includes 45 members. Oscar C. Schmidt is associate director and accompanist. BOULEVARD CHOIR TO GIVE PROGRAM AT LOCAL CHURCH

A special musical program will be presented Sunday evening at the First Baptist church, when the Choir of Boulevard Temple M. E. church of Detroit, under the direction of Frederick A. Protheroe, will come to Birmingham to take part in the service.

The Choir will sing hymns with descants, as well as anthems both with and without accompaniment. The Choir consists of 40 voices, of which the bass section is particularly notable. This section is trained to sing the contra bass parts, so necessary in the rendition of anthems of the Russian church.

Miss Freda Schultz, a former member of the Baptist church, will sing the Offertory solo, "In the Night Shall My Song Be of Hymns." Miss Gretta E. Wilson will play a group of organ selections. Among the anthems to be included in the program, are "Incline Your Ear," "In the Night Christ Went Walking," "Springs in the Desert" and from the Russian Liturgy, "We Praise Thee," and "Spring Hursts Today."

The program will conclude with an organ number, "Allegro Rustico" by Mendelssohn. The Rev. J. O. Nelson, pastor, will preach on "The Joy of Salvation."

DETROIT WILL ACT AS HOST AT CONFERENCE

Detroit will act as host to the Michigan State-Wide Safety Conference, to be held at the Hotel Statler, May 23, 24, 25, 1938.

State, county and local civic organizations are uniting to present to approximately 5,000 delegates a modern, high-grade program. Equal emphasis will be laid on safety on the street and highway, in the home and factory.

The Exhibit Committee chairman, the material included in the exhibition pictures selected from the collection of facsimiles prepared during the last thirty years by members of the Forschungsanstalt fur Kulturmorphologie under the direction of Dr. Leo Frobenius, one of the world's greatest authorities on prehistoric art. Geographically, the material included in the exhibition ranges almost from the paleolithic period in Europe (about 20,000 B. C.) to certain comparatively recent but still prehistoric cultures of Africa.

The facsimiles to be shown reproduce exactly the colors and forms left in caves and on rocky cliffs by prehistoric man. Most of them are the size of the original rock pictures, ranging from monumental compositions 14 feet high to small mounted sketches about 20 inches high. Photographs of the country where the paintings were found and of the actual rocks from which the pictures were copied are also included in the show, which was originally arranged last year by the Museum of Modern Art in New York.
