Mamas Are Their Classmates

There's no hokey played at this school, for the children are right under the watchful eye of their mothers. In fact, their mothers are their classmates at the National College of Education, Evanston, Ill. The youngsters, pupils at the college's Demonstration School, serve as subjects for their mothers, who study advanced educational methods. A scene in the kindergarten woodworking class is shown above.

A man strolled into the store and asked to look at some men's bill folds. The clerk took out some priced at a dollar but the man informed him that he wished a more expensive purse so the clerk showed him some five dollar purses.

one of which he selected. "Would you please charge it?" the man inquired. The clerk, taken by surprise, but trained to always be courteous to the customers replied, "Well, seeing as you have no money to put in the fold, why not just wait until you have some use for it and then come around and we'll talk business."

For More Than Half A Century Birmingham Folks Have Been Meeting Old Friends And Making New Ones Through The Columns Of The Birmingham Eccentric.
Each week subscribers read of the activities of many people, whose names are mentioned in these columns—Some of them your neighbors and close friends. Others are well known by reputation through reading about them in this newspaper. "Humanity makes news." Our correspondents and news gathering facilities bring to you practically all of the news concerning the people of this community.
The Eccentric is a welcome visitor in thousands of homes. It pushes no doorbell to gain entry; it brings no sigh from the busy housewife: "Well, there is another agent." It is no handbill clattering up automobiles, nor blowing around from dooryard to dooryard. It is not a mailed circular that attracts only passing attention and is thrown aside. No husband coming in from his day's work sits down and asks his wife: "Where is the latest circular?" but hundreds of them ask, "Where is the Eccentric?"
That is the clientele Merchants reach when they use the Eccentric for advertising purposes. It is a clientele that is responsive to merchandising messages well told and backed by competitive price.
