Community Street Dance Planned For This Evening At Barnum School

Not even rain can stop the street dance scheduled for this evening at 8 p. m. at the Barnum School court according to Mrs. Thomas R. Navin, chairman of the Summer Recreation Committee, sponsors of this dance, the first in a series to be presented here.

Arrangements have been made whereby the American Legion House on South Woodward avenue will be available to accommodate the crowds of young people expected to attend this affair, in case inclement weather prohibits its being held out of doors, Mrs. Navin explained this morning.

Admission to this dance, the first in a series of such community affairs for young people which will be held in different sections of the city, will be free but a small charge will be made for soft drinks which will be sold.

Plans have been made by the Summer Recreation Committee whereby the young people of each district will furnish the committee for that particular week. Hosts and hostesses this week will be the young folk of the Pierce-Barnum area. The dance to be held next week on Friday will be sponsored by the Adams School area while the Baldwin High, Plum and Worcester Street group will be hosts the following week, also on a Friday, for the Quarton area.

To Use P. A. System

Music and dancing for the affair this evening will be in charge of Dick and Ted Johnstone and dancing will be to the latest swing records which will be played over the public address system owned by the boys. Special music for square dances will be provided and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raven will call the turns for these dances. "Turkey" Neff will act as master of ceremonies.

Heading the committee which will prepare the court and grounds for the dance and take charge of the erection of soft drink counters and seating plans is Ed Wolfe. He will be assisted by Bill Campbell, Bob Stevens and Jack Dunn.

The soft drink committee is comprised of Bud Taylor, manager and Jean Ellis and Lola Schwallie, cashiers. This group will be assisted by the following: Margaret Carnahan, Agnes Crawford, Jane Gibbons, Betty Lou Hock, Betty Housworth, Mary Grace Ogden and Faith Parkyn.

Alice Lee Steinmiller and June Osborne are on the poster committee while Charles Dean is in charge of publicity for the dance.

Fathers who are assisting the committee in charge of floor arrangements include Jack C. Boomer, commander of the V. F. W., Theodore Kaarsburg, Harry Clark, president of the Birmingham Scouts association and Clyde E. Dalton.

Mrs. S. L. Johnstone is chairman of the permanent auxiliary committee for the dance series and is being assisted by Mrs. Harold H. Corson, Mrs. William E. Essery.

From farm girl to airline official is quite a jump—but pretty Karen Erickson, above, made it. Reared near Edmore, N. D., the 24-year-old miss is now traffic representative for Northwest Airlines in New York City.

OHIO GIRL IS BRIDE OF C. G. KINNISON; PLAN TO LIVE HERE

Miss Betty Gullum, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Frank Barthart Gullum, of Athens, O., became the bride of Charles Gahm Kinnison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Kinnison, of Hawthorne road, at a ceremony performed Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church in Athens.

Miss Gullum, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a creation of net over white satin fashioned with a flarring skirt, square neck, puffed sleeves and a long train. Her head dress consisted of a small cap with satin ribbons which tied under the chin. With this she wore a veil of tulle bound with satin. Her flowers were gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The bride was assisted by Mrs. Howard McDermott, of Athens, as matron of honor and Miss Mary Jane Kinnison, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor. Their gowns, on similar lines to that of the bride, were of blue and tea rose respectively. Bridesmaids were Agnes Angel, of Marion, O., Mary Elizabeth Kessinger, of Nelsonville, O., and Jessie Cooper, of Athens, O. Each carried flowers which harmonized with the summer shades of their gowns.

John Warner, of Lipsis, O., was best man and ushers were Fred Otto, of Cleveland, O., Robert Gullum, brother of the bride; John Shephard, and John McKee, both of Birmingham.

Following the ceremony a reception for about 150 guests was held at the Pi Phi house on the campus of the University of Ohio. Following a short motor trip to Northern Michigan the couple will be at home on Greenwood avenue until their new home now being erected on West Lincoln avenue is completed.

HARTINGH-SMITH RITES ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Lulu Smith, of 948 Ann street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Alice Deota, to Allen Richard Hartingh, son of Nicholas Hartingh, of Pontiac, which took place June 25, in Angola, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Hartingh are spending two weeks in New York and on their return, will reside in Highland Park.

William E. Brewster, of Long Lake road, with his children, Nancy, Bill and Edward, is spending a few days fishing at Pointe aux Barques.

"Do your neighbors borrow much from you?"

"Borrow? Why, I feel more at home in their houses than I do in my own."

BITS OF B'HAM

The average golfer would beam with pride were he to make a hole-in-one on just any old day. But to make a hole-in-one on your eleventh wedding anniversary is really something to write home about, Ronald C. West, of 152 Washington street, Pontiac, thinks.

The shot was made early Sunday morning on the second hole of the Elizabeth Lake Golf Course while West and his wife were playing with Wayne Winterbottom and Ralph V. Doughty. Using a number seven iron, West drove the ball 135 yards before it fell into the cup.

The Burden On Those Who Toil

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

"Those who toil are the people who will have to foot the bill in the end, no matter on whom it first falls."

This statement is from a series of resolutions adopted some months ago by a group of home-owners who had met to urge balanced budgets and economy in government. Today it adds a significant note to the revised budget estimate recently published at Washington, prophesying a deficit of almost four billion dollars for the present fiscal year.

For, as the estimate shows, the federal government has not only been deep in the red since 1931, but threatens to go still deeper. And on those who toil—the worker who sees the costs of living rise while income sags, the housewife who tries to provide balanced meals on an unbalanced budget—must fall the burden of making up this deficit.

Obviously, as experience has proved, the method of easing their burden is not through greater debts and greater borrowings and greater rises in the cost of living which such programs entail.

Rather, as experience again has proved, it is through the encouragement of increased production, and the building up of confidence on which that production depends.

The epic of progress in America has been a history of confidence translated into action. It was on this framework, bolstered by the virtues of thrift, self-reliance and constructive labor, that we built the greatest, as well as the freest nation the world has ever known. It is on this framework that our progress will continue.

Plans to increase the burdens of deficit and debt now charged against America's workers do not point the clear path to future prosperity. They point, instead, the gloomy way to heavier loads on the shoulders of those who toil.
