cerns was their own dilemma resulting from the cashing of customers' checks; this created the problem of requiring each merchant to keep extra change on hand for Saturday afternoon until the bank opened again between six and eight o'clock.
The new banking hours, however, provide an extra hour for persons to cash their own checks in the local banks, thus eliminating the need for merchants to do so. Both banks, too, are prepared to render whatever extra service may be required Saturdays to prevent unnecessary waiting in line.

ACORNS WIN TURKEY DAY CLASSIC

The Royal Oak high school football team in action proved too much for the Baldwin high school eleven in the annual Thanksgiving Day tilt at Pierce Field. The Acorns walked off with a 6-0 victory.

after a thrill-packed struggle, details of which may be found on the school and sports page of this issue.
Louis M. Randall, business manager of Birmingham's public schools, has set the approximate attendance at the game at 1,324 persons, with total receipts of $1,324.00. The Baldwin high school athletic fund netted $1,100.04 of this sum, after the expense had been met and Royal Oak's contract price of $150.00 had been paid. Part of Baldwin's share will be applied on the cost of the new track at Pierce Field. To date, the track cost has been $2,177.91.

Kaskaskia—More freaks of nature have turned up in Michigan. T. W. Sherman of Rowley brought a potato which closely resembles a duck to the local newspaper office, and Mrs. Angus Griffith contributed a daisy flower from which three more blossoms had originated.

Tuberculosis Seal Annual Drive Opens

Renewed endeavor in the control of tuberculosis is a vital need throughout every Michigan county, declared Dr. Don W. Gustafson, Commissioner of the Michigan Department of Health, urging everyone in the state to respond generously to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association's 32nd annual appeal for the purchase of tuberculosis Christmas seals. The 1938 campaign against tuberculosis, which opened officially on Thanksgiving Day, gives everyone an opportunity to enlist in the 1939 enrollment of Michigan citizens under the double-barred cross of health, stated Dr. Gustafson.
The Health Commissioner stressed the fact that the extensive program of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to prevent and control the spread of the disease is financed entirely through proceeds from the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals.

its present location, he claimed, it is detrimental to the appearance of the street.
Mr. Orman informed the Commission that unless steps were taken to prevent the completion of the garage where it now stands, he would secure an injunction to restrain the property owner from so doing. Rather than have the expense of possible litigation in which the city might become involved, it was agreed by the Commissioners to pay two thirds of the cost of the garage. Mr. Orman agreed to pay the remaining one third of the cost. To prevent such action in the future, the contemplated change in the zoning ordinance specifying 75 feet from the street instead of 50 feet for such buildings, is now under consideration by city officials.

the contest, there is time to register. Boys and girls already in the contest are offering plenty of competition, calling on their friends and relatives to vote for them. One of the ambitious young prize-winners of this week, Milton H. Borz, made himself a number of small handbills, which he distributed in order to gain more votes.
Boys and girls taking part, deposit their coupons on the ballot boxes in all local drug stores from which they are taken and counted every Saturday night. Each envelope containing coupons must be plainly marked with the name of the contestant and the number of votes being turned in.
Boys and girls are calling on their friends, relations and next door neighbors to save coupons and join in the contest. The votes the winners are accumulating, the groupings are showing a fine spirit of cooperation. All children through 12 years of age are eligible, and all are invited to get in the contest and work for the prizes that will mean "big money" to some lucky boys and girls at Christmas time.

THRIFT SHOP APPEALS FOR WINTER CLOTHING

Members of the Junior League, administrators of the Thrift Shop in the Community House, join Mrs. John K. Kelly, House director, in a plea for donations this week. The recent cold spell has made very heavy demands on the Thrift Shop's supply of winter clothing, particularly for children," Mrs. Kelly said. "We are seeking a great deal for donations from the citizens of Birmingham for all the heavy garments no longer needed in their own homes. Everything will be put to use."

DEBATER

believed by the majority of the State's communities, will improve the coffers of government to a point where actual necessities can be rendered.
Personal Taxes
Another taxation problem related by Mrs. Whipple is the fact that, while Michigan has a personal property tax on its statutes, it is not enforced except for the collection of taxes on merchandise and equipment owned by business and professional people; no personal tax is levied against automobiles, furnishings, etc. She also stated that any exemptions allowed on homesteads, as has been proposed from time to time, will boost other forms of taxation, since government will need definite revenues to carry on.

"Another serious financial problem confronting every State and municipality is the effort of the federal government to collect taxes on the bonds of such units," declared Mrs. Whipple. "This will involve an additional drain on the taxpayers, if the Supreme Court upholds the contention."

State, Federal Aid

Mrs. Whipple held that officials of every local governmental unit must be alert to the possibilities of securing State and Federal aid for highways, for schools, and for welfare. She pointed out that the defeat of the recent Welfare Amendment, approved by Michigan voters November 8, will cost the taxpayers much unnecessary expense, due to the fact that the present welfare setup is inefficient and costly, due primarily to too much duplication or overlapping of administration.
"The passage of the so-called 'Good Roads Amendment,' November 8, will also prove costly to local units of government, because the millions of dollars collected by the State will not be used for roads, but only for State highway expenditures, instead of a goodly portion of it retarding to areas that pay it," continued the speaker. She reminded her audience that today Birmingham's bonded debt is approximately $1,100,000, its per thousand dollar tax rate close to the legal maximum, and that its citizens cannot be expected to grand much more of a load.
Mrs. Whipple, who is a niece of Elmer C. Hays, of Elmwood, a public avenue, was introduced by Mrs. Charles J. Shain.

FIRE LOSS HIGH IN OCTOBER DUE TO EXPLOSION

Birmingham's first fire fatality for this year, and a total property loss estimated at approximately $300,000, made up local fire losses during the month of October, according to the monthly fire report submitted to City Manager Donald C. Egbert by Fire Chief V. W. Griffith. Chief Griffith calls attention to the fact that while there were 10 alarms during the month, nine alarms show a loss of only $35.
"The tenth alarm," explained Chief Griffith in his report, "is the gas explosion which occurred in South Birmingham with a loss close to $300,000. I feel that this loss is unusual in view of the fact that the building and contents at this particular fire were exposed to an open gas fed flames with which we seldom have to contend."

"During the course of the above described fire a life was lost. This is the first casualty of the year," Chief Griffith stated. "While this fire was fast and the building was well ventilated by the explosion, the Fire Department held the fire to the point it had gained upon arrival." He said.
Actual hours spent by the Fire Department in fire fighting and rescue work amounted to three hours, 45 minutes, according to the monthly report. Miscellaneous activities of the department included 13 hours 45 minutes spent on fire prevention and 20 hours spent in inspecting 250 public buildings, according to Chief Griffith's report.
The October fire report was not completed until Nov. 23rd due to delays involving the fire in South Birmingham, the Fire Department stated.

GET TRANSMITTER
Before the end of this week, it is expected that a transmitter will be installed and in action in the offices of the Bloomfield Hills police department, enabling direct communication from the office to cruising police cars. Eventually, the police automobiles will also be equipped with transmitters, so drivers may talk to the office. Before this step it was necessary for the Bloomfield office to telephone Pontiac and have the call transferred to the seat car.
