

EXCHANGE CLUB
HEARS TALK ON DIES TESTIMONY

Walter Reynolds, chairman of the American Legion subcommittee on communism, addressed members of the Birmingham Exchange Club at their regular meeting Tuesday night at the Community House in "The Inside of the Dies Committee Testimony."

As chairman of the Michigan delegation, Mr. Reynolds reported subversive un-American activities in Michigan to the Congressional committee. Stating that there are a greater number of communists than fascists in Michigan, Mr. Reynolds said that the object of the American Legion committee is to keep America for Americans.

Communism, according to the speaker, is international in scope and recognizes no boundaries, while fascism, he stated, holds to state or national boundaries. Mr. Reynolds said that the communist party acts as a board of directors to coordinate the movements of organizations under different names with communistic leanings. The speaker stated that his committee is familiar with all activities and members of these different organizations.

"We are losing our moral backbone and we do not recognize the church and its influence as we should," said Mr. Reynolds. He urged Americans to return to the fundamentals upon which the government of this continent is founded.

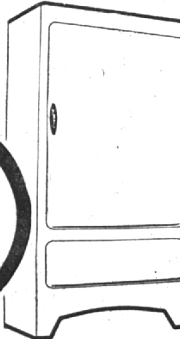

Many Exchange Club members plan to attend the football dinner to be given by the Lions Club tonight at the Community House.

HERE'S NEW STORE FOR BIRMINGHAM

This is the most recent addition to Birmingham's shopping district. It is the new A & P Super Market, opening today.

Opening Of New A & P Super Market
Recalls History Of Economy Chain

With the opening today of the new Super Market of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company on South Woodward avenue, Birmingham shoppers will have an opportunity to visit the new market during their weekend shopping expedition. The new market will combine all the established features of economy and convenient shopping familiar to A & P customers, with the most modern innovations.

It will be operated on the self-serve plan, so that shoppers may have the privilege of making their own selections and placing their own tastes in the purchase of groceries. There will be in addition a well-stocked grocery department, a meat market, modern in every detail, with a wide variety of meats and meat products from which to choose.

George Fisher has been appointed manager of the grocery department, it has been announced, and Theodore Nix will be the manager of the meat department. The store will occupy nearly 30,000 feet of floor space, and its sales personnel will be greater. A & P executives announce, that the combined number of employees in the other local stores operated by the same company.

Founded in 1859

The opening of the new Super Market is the latest in the series of steps taken since 1859 by the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, to reduce living costs, a survey of the history of this chain store system reveals.

The history of A & P stores dates back to 80 years ago, when George Huntington Hartford established the pioneer chain store in New York City. Hartford, in partnership with George Gilman, successfully brought about a reduction in the price of tea, then selling at a dollar a pound, by shortening the line of distribution from producer to consumer, and by selling tea in volume.

Hartford's historic store, where the hand played every Saturday behind a red-fronted facade, ablaze with gas-lights, met with instantaneous success. During the 25-year period, the store had opened 40 similar red-fronted tea and coffee shops as a result of public response to the retail value his new merchandising principle made possible.

Today, the tea company's records show that housewives purchase annually nearly a billion dollars' worth of groceries from its 11,750 stores. There are 85,000 employees on the company's payroll. John A. Hartford, son of the founder of the business, is the present head of the chain, and his brother, George, is chairman of the Board.

FOUR CITY TEAMS
AGREE ON LEAGUE FOR BASKET BALL

Members of four Birmingham basketball ball teams agreed to organize a basketball league under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., at a meeting held in the Community House Monday evening. Teams signifying their intention of entering the league were: DeMolay, Peck's Clothing, Varsity Alumni and a group organized by Kenneth McElroy.

Walter C. Morgan, chairman of the Recreation Committee of the Y. M. C. A., conducted the meeting. As executive manager, he appointed Richard Forester, Kenneth Hand and Rodney Grambeau, was appointed to select a name and place of sale for the league. Robert D. Lynd, Y. M. C. A. secretary, was asked to consult with the Board of Education about the use of a gymnasium for league games. Mr. Lynd was also asked to contact other teams who might be interested in joining the league.

This meeting was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the Birmingham basketball ball league," said Mr. Morgan. "The organization of a basketball league, however, upon the success of the advance ticket sale," Mr. Morgan explained.

Richard Forester, who has played basketball in Birmingham and at college, will supervise and referee the games. The teams hope to begin their schedule not later than Thursday, Dec. 15.

Another meeting of all young men interested in forming a basketball league will be held at the Y. M. C. A. office in the Community House Monday evening, Dec. 5, at 7:30. Every young man interested in playing basketball is urged to get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. office, Mr. Forester, or one of the team managers, as it is so essential to the meeting next Monday evening.

TOTAL PROCEEDS
MADE KNOWN

Approximately $500 was realized by the Lions club football party held in the gymnasium of Baldwin High School Tuesday evening, Nov. 22. Richard H. Fleming, chairman of the affair, announced. A total of $1400 was taken in during the evening, and after all expenses are paid, about $500, compared with $600 profit for last year's party, will be available this year for the club's welfare work in Birmingham.

"More than 1200 people attended the party, which was a much larger crowd than the club expected," explained Mr. Fleming. "We appreciate the interest and support shown to the club this year by the large attendance at the party, and we wish to thank Birmingham merchants for their generous co-operation in donating door prizes for the affair," said Mr. Fleming.

A new radio, given by members of the club as the main prize of the evening, was won by Mrs. Jerry Vander, 524 Knowles street, Royal Oak. Four large baskets containing a turkey and all the necessities for a dinner, donated by Edwin and Smith, Birmingham Fruit Market, Sifers' Market and Kroger Baking Co., were won by the following: Robert S. Porritt, 450 South Adams road; Miss Glee Gaultner, 1295 West Fourthteen Mile road; Clawson; Mrs. Roy Sorenson, 651 Davis street; and William McElroy, 802 Florence avenue, Royal Oak.

TEN NEW COACHES
OPERATING ON
BLUE GOOSE LINES

Ten new motorbuses, each seating 35 passengers are now operating between Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Saginaw and Bay City. It was announced today by F. L. Radcliffe, General Manager of the Blue Goose Lines.

The fleet of buses is air conditioned. On cold or stormy days when windows are closed, the air is automatically changed at regular intervals, stale air being removed and fresh clean air substituted. Hot water heaters, connected by a thermostat, assure sufficient warmth for winter days.

Non-glare illumination is a source of light for reading at night without disturbing the rest of a sleeping neighbor. Fumes are barred from the new coaches because of engine placement. In the buses the motors are in the rear. Safety glass is used in all the windows which are of the easily operated type.

This Modern Generation Has Difficulty
Imagining The Horse And Buggy Age

By Barbara Kraus

Flying machines and horseless carriages were unbelievable wonders to our great-grandparents. They were more skeptical about "flying" from Detroit to Grand Rapids than we are about a rocket trip to the moon. They would have looked at you with mild pity had you suggested driving to Detroit from Birmingham in half an hour.

Everyone expects the present generation to be weary of "things to come," that is, the things of the world for many a long year. Today, however, we are living in a unique time. Many changes have occurred in the past fifty years which we of today take completely for granted. We are so used to them, in fact, that it is as hard for us to credit stories of the "old days" as it was for our ancestors to listen to tales of coming workers.

Traveling, for example, has put on a quick change act in the last few decades, say our parents. The method of conveyance is no more remarkable than the speed at which we travel, or so our elders tell us.

All this may be true, but we cannot imagine taking over two hours to drive from Birmingham to Highland Park, or even nothing to Detroit. And of today almost as much as the people of the horse and buggy age.

Today we regard oil lamps and candle sticks as ornaments, and nothing more. Candlelight is fun for stage-plays or for creating a necessary romantic atmosphere when a special guest is coming for dinner, while oil lamps, properly wired, make "interesting" and "primitive" lighting.

Twenty-five years ago a room in a picture advertisement, read "have electric light." We can hardly believe that once-upon-a-time oil and gas were an indispensable means of lighting. It is easier to believe in men from Mars.

Twenty-five years ago The Detroit Free Press, in an advertisement, read "have electric light." We can hardly believe that once-upon-a-time oil and gas were an indispensable means of lighting. It is easier to believe in men from Mars.

members a childhood tale of woods and walks.

Somewhat it is easy to believe in the liars of the middle ages, even the carriages of the 18th century. We believe in the main equipment of long ago in much the same manner as we believe in the fairies and elves of our childhood. But to think that the people we walk with and talk with today know of a time when there were no automobiles, no electric lights, few telephones, no cement walks . . . That seems like the tallest of tall stories.
